New Drugs Kill Blues, Is Report

Help Is Expected For Mentally Ill

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

Atlanta, Dec. 27 (AP) — New drugs work like a kind of mental penicillin for some mental illnesses and "the blues," medical scientists reported today.

There are five of these drugs, all acting as tranquilizing or calm-down medicines. They sometimes bring dramatic results. They may help explain what goes wrong in human minds to cause sicknesses and the blues.

ENCOURAGING results with these drugs were described at a symposium of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, largest science meeting of the year.

With them, "psychiatry seems to have entered a new era, in a way similar to the era in medicine following the discovery of penicillin," said Dr. Nina Toll, Middletown, Conn., psychiatrist.

In office practice, she reported good results from one drug, frenquel, on patients ill for a long time, and not helped by other usual treatments. The drug helped them talk out and understand their troubles, rekindled interest in life, she said. Those who had had hallucinations still heard voices "but began to realize it was part of their illness."

TOLL SAID the drug was effective both in long-standing schizophrenia, or so-called split personality illness, and in some relatively mild neuroses. As one patient said, "my mind does not feel as sick as it was—my mind tortured me."

Two other soothing drugs, reserpine and chlropomazine, brought dramatic results when used together, said Dr. Werner Tuteur, clinical director, and David Lepson, staff psychologist, at Elgin State Hospital, Elgin, Ill.

GIVEN TO 12 highly disturbed women who were destructive, bellicose or untidy, the drugs made them quieter, friendly, and calmer. Six have gone home to relatives who once feared to be with them. The women are continuing to take the drugs. One is working, earning $90 a week; another sings in a church choir.

These two drugs are more useful in acutely ill persons, and least valuable in chronic neu-

One Ulster Death Is Included in 769 for Yule Weekend Mishaps

Ulster county vehicular accidents resulted in one death and injured five persons during the long Christmas weekend and a fire of undetermined origin caused heavy damage to the interior of the Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, according to a roundup by The Freeman this morning.

According to the Associated Press, the final tabulation today in the nation showed 579 traffic deaths. There were 67 deaths in fires and 105 from other accidental causes. The overall total was 769. This included 45 killed in New York state.

Lenora Bell Clark Gould, age not listed, of 162 Clinton avenue, Albany, was instantly killed when a 1952 sedan operated by Adolph Hintze, 54, of the same address, was in collision with a 1953 sedan on Route 9W about a mile north of Milton at 3:20 a. m. today, according to Highland State Police.

TROOPERS SAID the Hintze car was proceeding north and the other vehicle, operated by Clarence Disnuke, 37, of Milton, was traveling south at the time of the mishap.

Mr. Hintze and Mrs. Disnuke, 39, were taken to Vassar Bros. Hospital, Poughkeepsie, where authorities said this morning no reports of condition could be made immediately pending outcome of tests and X-rays. Mr. Hintze was reported to have suffered concussion, an abrasion of the forehead, a laceration of the right leg, a possible rib fracture and internal injuries. Mrs. Disnuke suffered lacerations of the chin and forehead and a fractured right leg. Mr. Disnuke was treated at the scene for abrasions of the chin.

CORONER Francis J. McCardle, who was notified and went to the scene, returned a verdict of accidental death due to a fractured skull and compound fractures of both legs. He said there would be no autopsy.

Troopers C. E. Whiting and Charles Bundschuh, who investigated, said the driver of each car claimed the other vehicle was in the wrong lane at the time of the accident. The case is still under investigation. Both cars were demolished and had to be towed away, state police said.

John Pulvirenti of Port Ewen, proprietor of the Tropical Inn, whose home is a few feet from the nightclub, woke up smelling smoke and discovered the fire about 6:30 a. m. Sunday.

THE PORT EWEN Fire Department was notified and some 45 or 50 volunteer firemen reported to the scene. Four hose lines were run from two hydrants in the vicinity of the nightclub.

Chief Edward F. Mains said the fire was confined to the northerly end of the building in the bar section but that "terrific heat" had caused extensive damage throughout the building. The fire apparently started under the main floor near the bar, he said.

Chief Mains praised the work of the volunteers, saying they "all did a splendid job."

Harry C. Jump, Jr., deputy chief, said the fire had probably been going for some time before it broke through the floor. The blaze ate away the supports under the floor and caused one end of the bar to fall into the cellar.

MR. JUMP SAID the fact that the floor was of concrete tiling over wood, the ceiling of similar tiling and the walls of concrete block construction probably saved the building from worse damage. He estimated damage in the bar area alone at roughly $10,000 with perhaps another $15,000 for damage to the rest of the building and its furnishings.

Tapestries and potted palms were destroyed by the intense heat, Formica tabletops were blistered, foam rubber on bar stools burned, band instruments and a new spinet piano badly damaged, two chrome-plated cash registers destroyed, etc., Mr. Jump told The Freeman.

Mr. Pulvirenti was in the building until about 4 a. m. Sunday getting ready for Christmas day business, it was reported.

UNDERSHERIFF Clayton W. Vredenburgh, County Investigator Arthur Brown and Identification Officer Earl Conro are investigating the case at the direction of District Attorney Howard C. St. John.

Joseph Bernard Stein, 21, of Stone Ridge, was reported in "apparently good" condition this morning at Kingston Hospital after a weird experience early today on Route 209 near Stone Ridge, according to Kingston State Police.

He was suffering from raw high test gasoline body burns, shock and exposure after his car left the highway on the right side, knocked down several guard rails, hit a rock wall and overturned, troopers said. The car was wedged between the rock wall and some trees and was suspended about six feet off the ground, according to Troopers Raymond Kowalsky and William Shurter.

Kingston State Police received a call about 4 a. m., today from Joseph Brown of Marbletown who said a man wearing only underwear and

41 Are Dead In Week of Hard Rain

Feather River Is Still on Rampage

San Francisco, Dec. 27 (AP)—Swollen anew from more heavy rains, the flooding Feather river today washed for the second time over desolated and evacuated Yuba City, peach growing center in north-central California.

Most other rivers in California and Oregon were receding after loss of at least 41 lives in a disastrous week of almost incessant rain and high water.

California's toll: 29 dead and at least 19 more presumed dead.

Oregon: 12 dead and 3 missing. The Oregon dead included a family of five crushed in a mudslide that buried their home at the coastal town of Remote.

AT YUBA CITY, the rampaging Feather surged through a half-mile break in levees south of the town some 7,800. Several areas where the water had dropped were flooded again. However, the water was not expected to rise to its previous heights. Little additional damage was expected in the city—almost empty since its evacuation last week.

The Marysville levee commission estimated the flood crest would reach the Marysville-Yuba City arear by early afternoon and that the water would begin receding again.

OTHER FLOODING was feared in the rich delta area just east of San Francisco Bay where record flood waters from the mighty Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers are racing to the sea.

There were at least 41 dead because of high water, 29 in California and 12 in Oregon. In addition, at least 19 more were presumed dead in California. Three were missing in Oregon.

Damage was estimated conservatively at 150 million dollars.

Ellsworth Bunker, National Red Cross president, predicted between 4,000 and 5,000 families would look to his organization for "long time" aid. He said he had assigned 115 trained disaster staff men to the flood district.

THE DELTA AREA, where the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers join east of San Francisco Bay, and Yuba City were the remaining danger spots.

The intensively-farmed delta, laced with small streams, is the last stretch before flood waters pour into the bay and on to the Pacific Ocean. So strongly have the floods been running that the Golden Gate was brown yesterday.

Three islands were flooded in the delta yesterday. Levees were sandbagged to save others.

Val Peterson, Federal Civil Defense administrator, and high army officials set out on a two-day tour of three northern California areas ravaged by floods.

"I INTEND to go out and get my feet wet," Peterson told Gov. Knight yesterday at a conference called to discuss federal aid.

Congress to Get Message Jan. 5

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower's State of the Union Message will go to Congress Jan. 5, two days after the lawmakers convene.

The White House announced this today as the President conferred in his office with Secretary of State Dulles and Gen. Nathan Twining, air force chief of staff. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined to disclose the purpose of that conference.

Liberal Is Sought as Adlai Mate

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—Supporters confident that Adlai E. Stevenson will win the Democratic presidential nomination were reported quietly canvassing the field today in search of a vice presidential candidate generally regarded as "liberal."

Stevenson himself apparently is taking no part in this move.

BUT SOME of those closely associated with the former Illinois governor when he ran in 1952 and who are working for him now have been discussing possible candidates with the aim of offering what they call a balanced ticket.

Their view, as explained by one of them, is that Stevenson has charted the middle of the road as his course and will carry a "moderate" label into the Chicago convention next August.

THIS IS calculated in part to make Stevenson more appealing to southern delegates than he was in 1952. It also is geared to what Stevenson himself has said in the spirit of the times and, by inference, the best vote-catching appeal in the November election.

But there are signs that some elements of the Democratic

Korea Military Leaders Plan to Recover Seamen

Seoul, Dec. 27 (AP) — South Korea's Army, Air Force and Navy leaders met in a top secret session today to map their next move to recover four coast guardsmen grabbed by Red China Christmas Day.

South Korea has called the Yellow Sea incident "an act of war." Dr. Hong Kee Karl, official government spokesman, said yesterday his country will resort to "the strongest possible action" if the seamen are not returned.

The government said the action occured within the Rhee line, the boundary of waters claimed as South Korean territory. The line runs an average of 60 miles from the Korean coast, but extends up to 200 miles offshore in some places.

The four men were seized early Sunday following a five-hour gun battle between a ROK patrol craft and six Red Chinese patrol boats.

The incident erupted as Christmas dawned on the Yellow Sea between Korea and Red China, a ROK patrol boat reported it spotted "at least" 14 Red China fishing vessels inside the Rhee line.

The South Korean government gave this version:

The cutter seized one of the Red vessels and put four coast guardsmen aboard, while the cutter took the fishing boat in tow. Six armed Chinese ships then appeared and opened fire. The Chinese boats left after the gun duel, with the four coast guardsmen on board.

A Peiping radio broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said the ROK cutter opened fire on the Chinese boats which were attempting to rescue the seized craft. The broadcast also said the South Korean boat captured two Chinese fishermen.

Maritime Office Director Hong Jin Ki flatly denied the Peiping version.

He also denied the radio report that the Chinese fishing vessel, was at its usual grounds, 34 degrees, 14 minutes north latitude, and 123 degrees, 50 minutes east longitude. "The Chinese were definitely inside the peace (Rhee) line," he said.

The Hankook Ilbon, a Seoul newspaper, reported the incident occurred at 34 degrees, 24 minutes north latitude and 124 degrees, 11 minutes east longitude.

The Rhee line is drawn at 114 degrees.

Forecast Mild for Few Days With Rain or Snow on Friday

Mild weather for the next few days with light rain or snow by Friday was today's regional weather forecast.

A low temperature of 12 above was reported here between 7 and 8 a. m., today. It was considerably colder than Christmas which had a low of only 32 degrees and a high of 46. Yesterday's low was 20 and the high 32.

On a national basis weather ranged from a high of 69 at Key West, Fla., to five below zero at Mount Washington, N. H. Denver had 36, San Francisco 47 and Seattle 36.

New England and Michigan were reported the coldest areas today and the nationwide report indicated comparatively mild weather for late December. Rain continued along the Pacific coast, but was reported light in most areas.

For Eastern New York, the forecast is gradually moderating weather with temperatures generally mild by Saturday. Fair weather Wednesday is expected to be followed by light rain or snow by Friday, and some showers or snow flurries for the weekend. Precipitation will average about a quarter to a half inch melted.

Four Surviving Quints Fail to Send Yule Cards

North Bay, Ont., Dec. 27 (AP)—The parents of the Dionne quintuplets said today they didn't get even a Christmas card from the four surviving girls this year.

"All our other children either came home or called us on Christmas Day," said Oliva Dionne, the father. "But not the quints. They didn't even send Christmas greetings to their brothers and sisters.

"A lot of people have asked me why the girls are not home for Christmas. Mrs. Dionne and I have given this thing a lot of thought and we decided it would be better if we didn't try to camouflage things any longer.

"We have seen it growing for a long time now. We suspected that outsiders were trying to influence the quints some years ago, and we were sure of it by the way they acted after they left home, and then more so when they reached their 21st birthday and came into their money."

Dionne declined to identify the "outsiders."

Two of the quintuplets, Yvonne and Cecile, are training as nurses at Montreal. Marie and Annette have been undergoing hospital checkups lately, but the father said he was informed they are fully recovered. Each came into almost $250,000 when she reached 21 last May.

Dionne said his wife was heartbroken over the turn of events but blames "the outsiders" and not the girls.

Soviet Delegates Hear Of Defense Funds Cut

Moscow, Dec. 27 (AP)—Delegates to the Supreme Soviet today sat through six hours of speeches, all in praise of the Kremlin's 1956 budget promising a cut in defense spending. Six more hours of speechmaking were scheduled for tonight.

Although the delegates praised the budget, several voiced complaints against prices, shortages of goods and lagging deliveries.

The two Houses of the Soviet parliament were expected to meet on the budget again tomorrow. This would delay the anticipated report of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev on their trip to India, Burma and Afghanistan until Thursday.

With Bulganin, Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders looking on, Finance Minister Arseny Zverev presented the outline of the 1956 financial statement to the 1,400 delegates early in their opening meeting. Zverev's speech lacked the criticism aimed in previous years at "capitalist and imperialist warmongers."

The budget, slightly higher than that outlined in February for 1955, estimated expenditures at 568,800,000,000 rubles and revenues at 590,192,000,000. The 1955 budget put expenditures at 563,482,000,000 rubles and revenues at 590,192,000,000.

The finance minister added, however, that a comparison of the figures for the two years was misleading because wholesale prices had been cut considerably during 1955.

Zverev said defense appropriations for the coming year would be 102½ billion rubles, just over 18 per cent of the total expenditure and nearly 10 per cent below the 1955 estimate of 112,122,000,000 rubles.

(The Russians value the ruble arbitrarily at 25 cents, but its purchasing power is substantially less. However, the actual Soviet defense appropriation cannot be estimated accurately since many items which would be included under the category in other countries are hidden under other headings.

(The U. S. government is spending for defense at the rate of about 34½ billion dollars annually, or about 55 per cent of its total expenditures.)

Zverev declared the saving in the military budget would be used to help advance the national economy, education and culture. He recalled the cut of 640,000 in Russia's armed forces, announced earlier this year, and Russia's decision to return to Finland the Porkkala naval base. All these moves, he said, showed Russia's concern for reducing world tension.

One of the tems included under increased "social and cultural measures," he said, is a plan to turn out 760,000 specialists with high school or college educations next year—120,000 more than this year.

Communist Party Termed Conspiracy On U.S. Government, Ideals, Freedoms

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee described the Communist party of the United States today as "a Russian-inspired, Moscow-dominated, anti-American, quasi-military conspiracy against our government, our ideals and our freedoms."

The description was provided in a 100-page booklet, "A Handbook for Americans," put out by the subcommittee with the avowed aim of exposing what communism really is.

The subcommittee quoted the Subversive Activities Control Board's (SACB) finding in 1953 that the U. S. Communist party is "substantially directed, dominated and controlled by the Soviet Union."

Chairman Eastland (D.-Miss.) said in a foreword:

"The average American is unaware of the amount of misinformation about the Communist Party USA which appears in the public press, in books and in utterances of public speakers. In part, this misinformation is planted consciously by members of the party, using ways and means calculated to have the greatest effect in poisoning the channels of American public opinion.

"In part, it is due to our ignorance of the problem — the problem of the existence in our midst of a mass conspiratorial organization controlled by a foreign power. The Communist problem is unique in our history.

"We earnestly believe that, given a more accurate knowledge of the Communist conspiracy, fewer Americans will fall victim to its wiles," the foreword added.

THE HANDBOOK quotes from Communist doctrinal writings, testimony in hearings before SACB, its own subversive investigations and those of the House Committee on un-American Activities, "to differentiate the Communist party from bona fide political parties in the United States."

In this country, it said, the Communist party regards itself as "a commando force operating in enemy territory in behalf of the Soviet fatherland."

The document quotes as typical an oath it said the Reds in 1935 exacted from party members:

"I pledge myself to rally the masses to defend the Soviet Union, the land of victorious socialism. I pledge myself to remain at all times a vigilant and firm defender of the Leninist line of the party, the only line that insured the triumph of Soviet Power in the United States."

IT POINTED to SACB's findings after more than a year of hearings that when the Communist Party USA officially "cancelled" its affiliations with the Communist International in 1949 the action "did not alter in any substantive way the relationship" between the two.

The U. S. Communist party, the subcommittee said, still is "hostile to our form of government" and dedicated to its overthrow.

U. S. Communist 4

It said the Communist party has amended its constitution, pledging members to defend this country against enemies from without or within.

"It is as if an organization of gangsters had formally adopted a constitution describing itself as a league of honest, law-abiding Americans," the handbook said, "or an extortion racket operating under the name of Merchants Protective Society."

COMMUNISM, the handbook said, requires "bootlicking servility" from its adherents. It discussed why free born Americans get tangled up with communism. It said communism, seeking to dominate labor unions, "has aroused the deepest hostility of labor" and made relatively few converts.

"It would seem, on the contrary, that a large percentage of the party consists of mission-minded intellectuals who have constituted themselves the exponents of the interest of labor, which wants no part of "them," the handbook said.

Communism, it said, creates "an overpowering fear of far reaching conspiratorial network from which they cannot extricate themselves" to keep its leaders loyal.

Heart Disease Revealed As Kingston's Big Threat

New York, Dec. 27 (Special)—Data just released by the government brings home forcibly the fact that in Kingston heart disease is the greatest single threat to human life.

It is found to be responsible for 58.0 per cent of all deaths locally. This is a larger proportion than is reported for most other sections of the United States, where heart disease accounts for 52.3 per cent of the total mortality.

It is greater, also, than the percentage in the State of New York, where a 56.9 per cent heart rate is found.

The data is contained in the annual report of the United States Public Health Service on vital statistics. It is made public to a nation that is now highly conscious of this great scourge because of the illness of President Eisenhower.

According to the American Heart Association, the United States has the highest death rate from heart attacks and strokes of any country in the world. More than a third of this mortality is in the under-65 age group, the most productive years.

In addition, some 10 million persons in the United States, or one out of every 16, suffer from some form of heart disease.

Among residents of Kingston it took a toll of 247 lives during 1953, the period covered by the new report. The total mortality locally, from whatever cause, was 426.

Apart from other considerations, the economic loss attributed to heart disease is staggering. The American Heart Association places it at 1¼ billion man hours a year. In dollars and cents, this exceeds $2 billion.

While the mechanisms responsible for 90 per cent of heart disease—hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and rheumatic fever—have yet to be discovered and coped with, certain progress has been made in other directions.

Some forms can be prevented, some cured and almost every type helped by proper treatment.

The White House announced this today as the President conferred in his office with Secretary of State Dulles and Gen. Nathan Twining, air force chief of staff. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined to disclose the purpose of that conference.

Liberal Is Sought as Adlai Mate

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—Supporters confident that Adlai E. Stevenson will win the Democratic presidential nomination were reported quietly canvassing the field today in search of a vice presidential candidate generally regarded as "liberal."

Stevenson himself apparently is taking no part in this move.

BUT SOME of those closely associated with the former Illinois governor when he ran in 1952 and who are working for him now have been discussing possible candidates with the aim of offering what they call a balanced ticket.

Their view, as explained by one of them, is that Stevenson has charted the middle of the road as his course and will carry a "moderate" label into the Chicago convention next August.

THIS IS calculated in part to make Stevenson more appealing to southern delegates than he was in 1952. It also is geared to what Stevenson himself has said in the spirit of the times and, by inference, the best vote-catching appeal in the November election.

But there are signs that some elements of the Democratic

Korea Military Leaders Plan to Recover Seamen

Seoul, Dec. 27 (AP) — South Korea's Army, Air Force and Navy leaders met in a top secret session today to map their next move to recover four coast guardsmen grabbed by Red China Christmas Day.

South Korea has called the Yellow Sea incident "an act of war." Dr. Hong Kee Karl, official government spokesman, said yesterday his country will resort to "the strongest possible action" if the seamen are not returned.

The government said the action occured within the Rhee line, the boundary of waters claimed as South Korean territory. The line runs an average of 60 miles from the Korean coast, but extends up to 200 miles offshore in some places.

The four men were seized early Sunday following a five-hour gun battle between a ROK patrol craft and six Red Chinese patrol boats.

The incident erupted as Christmas dawned on the Yellow Sea between Korea and Red China, a ROK patrol boat reported it spotted "at least" 14 Red China fishing vessels inside the Rhee line.

The South Korean government gave this version:

The cutter seized one of the Red vessels and put four coast guardsmen aboard, while the cutter took the fishing boat in tow. Six armed Chinese ships then appeared and opened fire. The Chinese boats left after the gun duel, with the four coast guardsmen on board.

A Peiping radio broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said the ROK cutter opened fire on the Chinese boats which were attempting to rescue the seized craft. The broadcast also said the South Korean boat captured two Chinese fishermen.

Maritime Office Director Hong Jin Ki flatly denied the Peiping version.

He also denied the radio report that the Chinese fishing vessel, was at its usual grounds, 34 degrees, 14 minutes north latitude, and 123 degrees, 50 minutes east longitude. "The Chinese were definitely inside the peace (Rhee) line," he said.

The Hankook Ilbon, a Seoul newspaper, reported the incident occurred at 34 degrees, 24 minutes north latitude and 124 degrees, 11 minutes east longitude.

The Rhee line is drawn at 114 degrees.

Forecast Mild for Few Days With Rain or Snow on Friday

Mild weather for the next few days with light rain or snow by Friday was today's regional weather forecast.

A low temperature of 12 above was reported here between 7 and 8 a. m., today. It was considerably colder than Christmas which had a low of only 32 degrees and a high of 46. Yesterday's low was 20 and the high 32.

On a national basis weather ranged from a high of 69 at Key West, Fla., to five below zero at Mount Washington, N. H. Denver had 36, San Francisco 47 and Seattle 36.

New England and Michigan were reported the coldest areas today and the nationwide report indicated comparatively mild weather for late December. Rain continued along the Pacific coast, but was reported light in most areas.

For Eastern New York, the forecast is gradually moderating weather with temperatures generally mild by Saturday. Fair weather Wednesday is expected to be followed by light rain or snow by Friday, and some showers or snow flurries for the weekend. Precipitation will average about a quarter to a half inch melted.

Soviet Delegates Hear Of Defense Funds Cut

Moscow, Dec. 27 (AP)—Delegates to the Supreme Soviet today sat through six hours of speeches, all in praise of the Kremlin's 1956 budget promising a cut in defense spending. Six more hours of speechmaking were scheduled for tonight.

Although the delegates praised the budget, several voiced complaints against prices, shortages of goods and lagging deliveries.

The two Houses of the Soviet parliament were expected to meet on the budget again tomorrow. This would delay the anticipated report of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev on their trip to India, Burma and Afghanistan until Thursday.

With Bulganin, Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders looking on, Finance Minister Arseny Zverev presented the outline of the 1956 financial statement to the 1,400 delegates early in their opening meeting. Zverev's speech lacked the criticism aimed in previous years at "capitalist and imperialist warmongers."

The budget, slightly higher than that outlined in February for 1955, estimated expenditures at 568,800,000,000 rubles and revenues at 590,192,000,000. The 1955 budget put expenditures at 563,482,000,000 rubles and revenues at 590,192,000,000.

The finance minister added, however, that a comparison of the figures for the two years was misleading because wholesale prices had been cut considerably during 1955.

Zverev said defense appropriations for the coming year would be 102½ billion rubles, just over 18 per cent of the total expenditure and nearly 10 per cent below the 1955 estimate of 112,122,000,000 rubles.

(The Russians value the ruble arbitrarily at 25 cents, but its purchasing power is substantially less. However, the actual Soviet defense appropriation cannot be estimated accurately since many items which would be included under the category in other countries are hidden under other headings.

(The U. S. government is spending for defense at the rate of about 34½ billion dollars annually, or about 55 per cent of its total expenditures.)

Zverev declared the saving in the military budget would be used to help advance the national economy, education and culture. He recalled the cut of 640,000 in Russia's armed forces, announced earlier this year, and Russia's decision to return to Finland the Porkkala naval base. All these moves, he said, showed Russia's concern for reducing world tension.

One of the tems included under increased "social and cultural measures," he said, is a plan to turn out 760,000 specialists with high school or college educations next year—120,000 more than this year.

Four Surviving Quints Fail to Send Yule Cards

North Bay, Ont., Dec. 27 (AP)—The parents of the Dionne quintuplets said today they didn't get even a Christmas card from the four surviving girls this year.

"All our other children either came home or called us on Christmas Day," said Oliva Dionne, the father. "But not the quints. They didn't even send Christmas greetings to their brothers and sisters.

"A lot of people have asked me why the girls are not home for Christmas. Mrs. Dionne and I have given this thing a lot of thought and we decided it would be better if we didn't try to camouflage things any longer.

"We have seen it growing for a long time now. We suspected that outsiders were trying to influence the quints some years ago, and we were sure of it by the way they acted after they left home, and then more so when they reached their 21st birthday and came into their money."

Dionne declined to identify the "outsiders."

Two of the quintuplets, Yvonne and Cecile, are training as nurses at Montreal. Marie and Annette have been undergoing hospital checkups lately, but the father said he was informed they are fully recovered. Each came into almost $250,000 when she reached 21 last May.

Dionne said his wife was heartbroken over the turn of events but blames "the outsiders" and not the girls.

Communist Party Termed Conspiracy On U.S. Government, Ideals, Freedoms

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee described the Communist party of the United States today as "a Russian-inspired, Moscow-dominated, anti-American, quasi-military conspiracy against our government, our ideals and our freedoms."

The description was provided in a 100-page booklet, "A Handbook for Americans," put out by the subcommittee with the avowed aim of exposing what communism really is.

The subcommittee quoted the Subversive Activities Control Board's (SACB) finding in 1953 that the U. S. Communist party is "substantially directed, dominated and controlled by the Soviet Union."

Chairman Eastland (D.-Miss.) said in a foreword:

"The average American is unaware of the amount of misinformation about the Communist Party USA which appears in the public press, in books and in utterances of public speakers. In part, this misinformation is planted consciously by members of the party, using ways and means calculated to have the greatest effect in poisoning the channels of American public opinion.

"In part, it is due to our ignorance of the problem — the problem of the existence in our midst of a mass conspiratorial organization controlled by a foreign power. The Communist problem is unique in our history.

"We earnestly believe that, given a more accurate knowledge of the Communist conspiracy, fewer Americans will fall victim to its wiles," the foreword added.

THE HANDBOOK quotes from Communist doctrinal writings, testimony in hearings before SACB, its own subversive investigations and those of the House Committee on un-American Activities, "to differentiate the Communist party from bona fide political parties in the United States."

In this country, it said, the Communist party regards itself as "a commando force operating in enemy territory in behalf of the Soviet fatherland."

The document quotes as typical an oath it said the Reds in 1935 exacted from party members:

"I pledge myself to rally the masses to defend the Soviet Union, the land of victorious socialism. I pledge myself to remain at all times a vigilant and firm defender of the Leninist line of the party, the only line that insured the triumph of Soviet Power in the United States."

IT POINTED to SACB's findings after more than a year of hearings that when the Communist Party USA officially "cancelled" its affiliations with the Communist International in 1949 the action "did not alter in any substantive way the relationship" between the two.

The U. S. Communist party, the subcommittee said, still is "hostile to our form of government" and dedicated to its overthrow.

U. S. Communist 4

It said the Communist party has amended its constitution, pledging members to defend this country against enemies from without or within.

"It is as if an organization of gangsters had formally adopted a constitution describing itself as a league of honest, law-abiding Americans," the handbook said, "or an extortion racket operating under the name of Merchants Protective Society."

COMMUNISM, the handbook said, requires "bootlicking servility" from its adherents. It discussed why free born Americans get tangled up with communism. It said communism, seeking to dominate labor unions, "has aroused the deepest hostility of labor" and made relatively few converts.

"It would seem, on the contrary, that a large percentage of the party consists of mission-minded intellectuals who have constituted themselves the exponents of the interest of labor, which wants no part of "them," the handbook said.

Communism, it said, creates "an overpowering fear of far reaching conspiratorial network from which they cannot extricate themselves" to keep its leaders loyal.

Heart Disease Revealed As Kingston's Big Threat

New York, Dec. 27 (Special)—Data just released by the government brings home forcibly the fact that in Kingston heart disease is the greatest single threat to human life.

It is found to be responsible for 58.0 per cent of all deaths locally. This is a larger proportion than is reported for most other sections of the United States, where heart disease accounts for 52.3 per cent of the total mortality.

It is greater, also, than the percentage in the State of New York, where a 56.9 per cent heart rate is found.

The data is contained in the annual report of the United States Public Health Service on vital statistics. It is made public to a nation that is now highly conscious of this great scourge because of the illness of President Eisenhower.

According to the American Heart Association, the United States has the highest death rate from heart attacks and strokes of any country in the world. More than a third of this mortality is in the under-65 age group, the most productive years.

In addition, some 10 million persons in the United States, or one out of every 16, suffer from some form of heart disease.

Among residents of Kingston it took a toll of 247 lives during 1953, the period covered by the new report. The total mortality locally, from whatever cause, was 426.

Apart from other considerations, the economic loss attributed to heart disease is staggering. The American Heart Association places it at 1¼ billion man hours a year. In dollars and cents, this exceeds $2 billion.

While the mechanisms responsible for 90 per cent of heart disease—hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and rheumatic fever—have yet to be discovered and coped with, certain progress has been made in other directions.

Some forms can be prevented, some cured and almost every type helped by proper treatment.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his morning mail:

That some 75 million neckties were sold during the Christmas season—and 85 per cent were bought by women.

That neckties run from 47 to 54 inches long, but the average is 50 inches.

THAT A SURVEY estimated U. S. men lose $48,000,000 from their pockets each year—including $6,000,000 in taxis. (But no one knows the staggering amount that wives take out of those same pockets overnight.)

That—here's a holiday warning—78 per cent of all highway accidents occur in clear weather . . . and 20 per cent of the nation's drivers cause 80 per cent of the accidents.

That school children are getting stronger . . . to be sure a new-type school desk would stand up under juvenile squirming it was tested by being hit 30,000 times with a 40-pound sandbag.

That there are about 250,000 vice presidents in U. S. industry (is that all? why they don't even outnumber bird watchers!), and the Bank of America is the corporate leader with 146.

THAT A MAJORITY of pipe smokers honestly believe that most "sensible women" find them more attractive than men who don't smoke a pipe. (But whatever happened to all the the girls who took up the smoking of pipes a year ago?)

That a million cigars are puffed every business hour during the year inthis country.

That much of the bad temper in business offices results from National Association for the Prevention of Blindness has coined to describe the eye strain suffered by commuters who read on jogging trains and buses.

THAT SOME 100,000 children will have suffered eye accidents by the end of 1955—and now is the time to get rid of any sharp-pointed toys your children got for Chritsmas.

That if you made good grades in school but later in life failed to make as much money as you think you should have you are a good candidate for an ulcer complex.

That seniors in engineering schools now receive an average of four to five job offers before they receive their diplomas.

That in New Guinea bachelors still purchase a bride with human heads. (Other people's heads, that is. Only in America does a man lose both his heart and his own head in marriage.)

THAT A RECENT POLL showed nearly 4 out of every 5 men over 20 fear they are getting a receding hairline.

That only 6 per cent of bald men believe baldness is a sign of greater intelligence. (All I can say about the other 94 per cent is they either are more modest than I am or they don't know the facts.)

That Turkey, once known as "the sick man of Europe," now is the world's fourth largest wheat exporter.

That Andy Jackson was the first President to travel by train, Theodore Roosevelt was the first to take an airplane ride, and Dwight Eisenhower is the only President to win a pilot's license.

THAT TODAY there are three women clerical workers in American business offices to every man. (If you want to meet the other sex on company time, girls, get a job in a factory.)

That Raymond Massey is credited with the observation, "most of our suspicions of others are aroused by our knowledge of ourselves."

That now is a good time to put in a postal box those Christmas cards your wife gave you to mail two weeks ago.

Boy, 11, Tells Police He Planned Wreck

Victor, N. Y., Dec. 27 (AP)—An 11-year-old boy has been held for juvenile authorities in connection with what railroad police said was an attempt to wreck the Lehigh Valley Railroad's Black Diamond Express.

Railroad Detective Robert Gersback said the boy threw a switch Saturday that spun the Buffalo-New York express onto a siding. The engineer wrenched the train to a jolting stop just in time to avoid a wreck.

The boy's name and the disposition of his case in children's court were not disclosed.

Police said the 300 passengers were shaken by the stop but otherwise uninjured.

Gersback quoted the boy as saying he "wanted to see a wreck." The detective said he used an ice spud, a tool used for clearing ice, to throw the switch.

He said the engineer saw a red warning signal on the thrown switch and was able to stop in time. The train was delayed a half-hour.

Think It Through

ROBINSON CRUSOE — SCHOOLTEACHER

October 1946, President Truman said: "Wage increases are imperative * * * to sustain adequate purchasing power."

That started a nationwide wave of strikes which stopped the production of goods. It also gave rise to the fallacy that if you printed enough I.O.U.'s — Government Bonds — every one could have a free ticket to the ball game.

Mr. Hutton

He should have stated — and repeated — that increases in the output of goods were absolutely imperative to rebuild America from the waste of war; and that wage increases should go up no faster than output per man-hour.

If, like Robinson Crusoe, you were to land on a barren island, which would you save from your sinking boat: an armful of $ bills; or an ax, saw, tea, sugar, nails and a hunk of dried beef? And, after landing, would you go to work, or on strike? If on strike, whom would you be striking against? Yourself!

Well, America has been through a wreck, ships sunk, and billions of $'s in goods destroyed.

After the war, we hadn't the vision of Robinson Crusoe.

In city after city, production was shut down by strikers — wanting more $ tickets, and preventing about $1,500,000.000 more goods from being produced each week.

Neighbor, who got stuck? You did! How come? More $'s, and less goods, which made all goods cost more, and each dollar worth less!

O.K., but what to do?

Write your Congressman. Tell him to read Robinson Crusoe again.

Airman Is Held On Gun Charge

New York, Dec. 27 (AP) — A man arrested by police investigating the mysterious slaying of two women in a Queens hair removal shop last month was held early today on a weapons law charge.

Police said they arrested Airman Louis A. Polite, 22, in the Bronx after he made a series of annoying telephone calls to operators of hair removing electrolysis parlors. He was taken to Queens and questioned at length about the shooting of electrolysis operator Marie Gazzo, 32, and her customer, pretty Kathleen Egan, 22, last Nov. 15.

Polite, who is married and lives in the Bronx (at 1584 E. 172nd street) with his wife and father, denied knowing anything about the double murder, police said. He told them he was on duty at Mitchel Field at the time of the shooting, they added.

SINCE EARLY October, police said, electrolysis operators have complained about receiving phone calls from a man who asked about disrobed customers and made indecent remarks. Following the Queens slayings, the caller usually identified himself as a policeman investigating the murders.

Electrolysis operators around the city were asked to tell police immediately about any such calls. Yesterday one of these was traced to a booth in a Bronx housing project while a policewoman, posing as an electrolysis operator, kept the caller on the line for over an hour. In the booth police found Polite.

At his home, which was several blocks away, police said they found two guns, a .45 automatic and a Japanese rifle, together with 200 rounds of ammunition. Neither weapon corresponded to the 38 calibre pistol used to kill Miss Gazzo, who lived at Fairlawn, N. J., and Miss Egan (of 94-25 41st avenue, Elmhurst, Queens).

Polite was returned to the Bronx to be booked on a charge of violating the weapons law after being questioned about the Queens murders.

26 Die in Algiers

Algiers, Dec. 27 (AP) — The Christmas weekend death toll in Algeria was raised to at least 26 today with the report of two children killed by a Nationalist hand grenade. Six other Europeans were wounded by the grenade, which was thrown into a crowd Sunday night in the village of Corneille, about 25 miles from Constantine. One of the children was 15 years old, the other seven months.

Dr. Preston Dies

South Orange, N. J., Dec. 27 (AP)—Private funeral services will be held today for Dr. Thomas Jex Preston who married the widow of Grover Cleveland five years after the President's death. Dr. Preston died Sunday at his home at 151 Irving avenue at the age of 93. He had been ill for several months. A former professor of archaeology at Princeton University, Preston married Mrs. Frances Folsom Cleveland in February 1913. She was widowed upon Cleveland's death in 1908 and died herself Oct. 30, 1947. Preston was a native of Hastings - on - Hudson, N. Y.

HEALTH FOR ALL

THE CARROT OR THE STICK?

Since the world began, getting people to do what's good for them has been a major problem. This has always been particularly true, and especially important, in the field of medicine.

Persuading a child to take bad-tasting medicine because "it's good for him" is a problem every parent faces. When we grow up we presume that we are sensible enough to do what's good for us, particularly where our health is concerned. But are we? Take a look at tuberculosis, for example.

TUBERCULOSIS is a disease whose power to kill and cripple has been reduced as a result of recent medical advances. Today its victims have an excellent chance to overcome their distase and lead useful lives if they find the disease early and listen to their doctors after they begin treatment. But often medical science is hindered by the fact that people themselves haven't changed very much!

If all victims of tuberculosis followed medical advice carefully, much greater progress against the disease could be made. But tuberculosis is a disease that often requires much self-discipline during a long period of treatment, a disease that may bring in its wake heavy financial and personal problems. Because tuberculosis patients are people they find it hard to "take their medicine."

SOMETIMES patients walk out of hospitals of sanatoriums before their doctor says they should, or disobey his instructions after they are permitted to return home and continue their treatment "on their own." One might say, "What's the difference?—they're only hurting themselves."

But that's not always the case. Many persons who leave tuberculosis hospitals "against medical advice" endanger their communities because they can spread infectious TB germs. What to do about these people who don't know what's good for them—and their communities—is a problem.

THERE ARE TWO schools of thought on what to do. The "carrot" group is against compulsion, believing that proper education of the patient will convince him that he must obey his doctor. The "stick" wielders feel that anyone who is a danger to the community should be forced by law to remain under treatment. Some states, subscribing to the "stick" theory, have passed laws making hospitalization compulsory for certain tuberculosis patients.

Until all patients learn what's really good for them, the question of "the carrot or the stick" will be an important public health problem.

BETTER HEARING

If you have a hearing loss — even a slight one — you may find yourself getting very tired and nervous, just trying to hear. Nowadays, intelligent people use hearing aids to prevent fatigue that comes from straining to hear. They find hearing aids increase the efficiency of their hearing. The modern hearing aid is so small no one need know you're wearing one. And what a comfort it can be. No more blurred, half hearing sounds, no more trying to laugh at jokes you didn't hear, no more exasperated friends and family. Wearing a hearing aid puts you back in circulation again, increases your business efficiency and makes you better company.

New York, Dec. 27 (AP) — A man arrested by police investigating the mysterious slaying of two women in a Queens hair removal shop last month was held early today on a weapons law charge.

Police said they arrested Airman Louis A. Polite, 22, in the Bronx after he made a series of annoying telephone calls to operators of hair removing electrolysis parlors. He was taken to Queens and questioned at length about the shooting of electrolysis operator Marie Gazzo, 32, and her customer, pretty Kathleen Egan, 22, last Nov. 15.

Polite, who is married and lives in the Bronx (at 1584 E. 172nd street) with his wife and father, denied knowing anything about the double murder, police said. He told them he was on duty at Mitchel Field at the time of the shooting, they added.

SINCE EARLY October, police said, electrolysis operators have complained about receiving phone calls from a man who asked about disrobed customers and made indecent remarks. Following the Queens slayings, the caller usually identified himself as a policeman investigating the murders.

Electrolysis operators around the city were asked to tell police immediately about any such calls. Yesterday one of these was traced to a booth in a Bronx housing project while a policewoman, posing as an electrolysis operator, kept the caller on the line for over an hour. In the booth police found Polite.

At his home, which was several blocks away, police said they found two guns, a .45 automatic and a Japanese rifle, together with 200 rounds of ammunition. Neither weapon corresponded to the 38 calibre pistol used to kill Miss Gazzo, who lived at Fairlawn, N. J., and Miss Egan (of 94-25 41st avenue, Elmhurst, Queens).

Polite was returned to the Bronx to be booked on a charge of violating the weapons law after being questioned about the Queens murders.

26 Die in Algiers

Algiers, Dec. 27 (AP) — The Christmas weekend death toll in Algeria was raised to at least 26 today with the report of two children killed by a Nationalist hand grenade. Six other Europeans were wounded by the grenade, which was thrown into a crowd Sunday night in the village of Corneille, about 25 miles from Constantine. One of the children was 15 years old, the other seven months.

HEALTH FOR ALL

tion of "the carrot or the stick" will be an important public health problem.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston, N. Y.

THE CARROT OR THE STICK?

Since the world began, getting people to do what's good for them has been a major problem. This has always been particularly true, and especially important, in the field of medicine.

Persuading a child to take bad-tasting medicine because "it's good for him" is a problem every parent faces. When we grow up we presume that we are sensible enough to do what's good for us, particularly where our health is concerned. But are we? Take a look at tuberculosis, for example.

TUBERCULOSIS is a disease whose power to kill and cripple has been reduced as a result of recent medical advances. Today its victims have an excellent chance to overcome their distase and lead useful lives if they find the disease early and listen to their doctors after they begin treatment. But often medical science is hindered by the fact that people themselves haven't changed very much!

If all victims of tuberculosis followed medical advice carefully, much greater progress against the disease could be made. But tuberculosis is a disease that often requires much self-discipline during a long period of treatment, a disease that may bring in its wake heavy financial and personal problems. Because tuberculosis patients are people they find it hard to "take their medicine."

SOMETIMES patients walk out of hospitals of sanatoriums before their doctor says they should, or disobey his instructions after they are permitted to return home and continue their treatment "on their own." One might say, "What's the difference?—they're only hurting themselves."

But that's not always the case. Many persons who leave tuberculosis hospitals "against medical advice" endanger their communities because they can spread infectious TB germs. What to do about these people who don't know what's good for them—and their communities—is a problem.

THERE ARE TWO schools of thought on what to do. The "carrot" group is against compulsion, believing that proper education of the patient will convince him that he must obey his doctor. The "stick" wielders feel that anyone who is a danger to the community should be forced by law to remain under treatment. Some states, subscribing to the "stick" theory, have passed laws making hospitalization compulsory for certain tuberculosis patients.

Until all patients learn what's really good for them, the ques-

BETTER HEARING

If you have a hearing loss — even a slight one — you may find yourself getting very tired and nervous, just trying to hear. Nowadays, intelligent people use hearing aids to prevent fatigue that comes from straining to hear. They find hearing aids increase the efficiency of their hearing. The modern hearing aid is so small no one need know you're wearing one. And what a comfort it can be. No more blurred, half hearing sounds, no more trying to laugh at jokes you didn't hear, no more exasperated friends and family. Wearing a hearing aid puts you back in circulation again, increases your business efficiency and makes you better company.

Red Leader Twists Facts, Says West Responsible for WW 2

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—Russian leadership has shifted this way: From intellectual—Lenin and Trotsky, to administrative—Stalin, to non-intellectual—Khrushchev. Khrushchev appears almost anti-intellectual.

His distortion of history on his Asian trip—for example, the charge that the west began World War 2—was either contempt for facts and those who know better or it was a twist of facts for propaganda.

Khrushchev acts like an undisciplined peasant. Primitive is the only description for the big drunk he threw in Yugoslavia and his emotional outburst in Burma.

HIS PERFORMANCE is bound to raise this question in western minds: How did he get where he is as secretary of the Russian Communist party and, in effect, the big boss?

From what can be learned of him he got to the top in the Russian meat-chopper by being tough, capable in his assigned tasks, and shrewd. No one ever raises doubts about his faith in communism and its ultimate victory.

His fellow-Communists may some day give him the bounce if he makes a mess of it for them by his hi-jinks and his outbursts. There is nothing to indicate that day is soon or that it will come at all.

For, if Khrushchev acts like a politician of low learning, he is not therefore to be dismissed or underrated in the field he staked out for himself on his trips abroad: Getting good will for Russia.

HE MADE a double appeal on his trip to Asia: In one way to the leadership, in another to the broad masses of the people.

In his wholesale blasts at the west in India and Burma, and in his distortions of history, he was not appealing to the intellectual leadership but to the uneducated masses.

They could understand his plain language and appreciate that he didn't act like a diplomatic stuffed shirt. There was no need to spend time on them in orations on communism, theoretical or actual.

He wanted to stir up hate for the west and probably did. And when he talked with the Asian leadership Khrushchev didn't spend time theorizing, either. He talked a language not open to arguments: Dollars and cents and Russian aid.

THE RUSSIANS will charge for any aid they give. But if they make some friends in Asia in the process, giving them a foot in the door, they will probably consider Khrushchev's trip a success.

Washington sometimes seems confused now in trying to decide how to cope with the Russian penetrations—if only with words and offers of help — in Asia and the Middle East.

Khrushchev must think Stalin used the wrong tactics and it's time for a change. Stalin from a quarter of a century was a kind of diplomatic shut-in and stay-at-home. His reliance seemed to be on intrigue and power drives.

You can be sure the Russians are still using the intrigue. But Khrushchev is using propaganda, too, by promises of good-neighborliness and by acting like a kind of down-to-earth Joe who won't eat little babies.

Maybe there's some comfort to be drawn from Khrushchev's performance: At least he's not talking war. A few hydrogen bombs might wreck Khrushchev and Russian communism. He knows that.

He sounds like a man who who never has lost sight of his main goal but figures he can get there just the same by going after it round-about, even if it takes a little longer.

12 Billion Rise In Cigarette Usage Forecast for '55

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—A continuing gradual increase in use of cigarettes was forecast last night by the Agriculture Department, which estimated this year's output at 414 billion smokes.

That compares with 402 billion last year, 423 billion in 1953 and a record yearly output of 435½ billion in 1952. The department said consumption of king size and filter cigarettes made substantial gains this year.

One of the factors said to be working toward increasing consumption in 1956 is the prospect that incomes will continue at high levels. On the other hand, prices have increased or will do so shortly in some states which have increased their taxes.

The department said also that production of pipe tobacco declined slightly this year, as did that of chewing tobacco. Snuff output was up slightly, and consumption of cigars advanced 2 per cent over 1954.

Asks Examination To Base Complaint In Novel Motion

A novel motion was made Friday in special term of Supreme Court before Justice Hamm at Albany by N. LeVan Haver, counsel for George Jacobson and his wife of Kingston, who seek to bring an action against Benjamin Rothenberg, president of Greendell Packing Corporation and the Greendell Rendering Corporation of Prattsville. Rothenberg resides at Stamford.

Haver moved for an examination of Rothenberg, Morton or Mike Farber, who also was engaged in the business transaction, in an endeavor to ascertain facts upon which to base a complaint. Judge Hamm reserved decision on the motion.

PLAINTIFF alleges that false statements and representations were made to him and his wife about the business and the proposed examination of the defendants may disclose facts for rescission of an agreement between parties on the grounds of fraud and duress as well as other causes of action which at this time cannot be ascertained.

Jacobson, a brother of Gertrude Rothenberg, wife of defendant Benjamin Rothenberg, alleges that due to the family relationship certain phases of the business operations were never disclosed to him and that papers and instruments were signed by him at the request of the defendant without his reading them or knowing their contents.

In 1944 Jacobson entered business with Rothenberg and Farber with an understanding all three were to share in the proceeds of the venture. The basic business was operation of a packing plant near Prattsville. Jacobson and his wife allege they devoted their entire time to the business and drew a salary for a period of about ten years when they were forced from the business. During the time they were with the business they allege the defendants insisted they surrender a portion of their annual salaries for investment in preferred stock of the packing company. By 1955 plaintiffs had acquired 555 shares which they had bought at a par value of $100 per share.

Up to this time they had no other evidence of ownership or right to share in any of the corporations comprising the business venture.

WHEN WRITTEN proof of his right to share in the proceeds of the business, other than the preferred stock which had been bought out of salary, was demanded Jacobson alleges Rothenberg avoided the issue or gave excuses why the request could not be complied with. Eventually Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson were asked to resign from their positions and cease all connections with it.

Asking for his share in the business Jacobson was advised by Gertrude Rothenberg, wife of Benjamin Rothenberg, that the business was in such dire financial condition his share would be less than half the face value of the preferred stock.

Relying on that statement the stock was transferred to Greendell Packing Corporation for about half its value and Jacobson was to received payments for said stock over a period of several years and took non-negotiable notes. In the agreement was also a provision that Jacobson would not engage in a competing business wtihin a radius of 200 miles from Prattsville for a period of 10 years.

JACOBSON contends later he learned the statements made at the time the agreement was signed were false. A tender for return of the agreement and a request for recovery of the preferred stock by Jacobson was refused by defendant.

Haver told Justice Hamm that there were other factors which make it necessary for plaintiffs to examine the defendants for the purpose of framing their complaints on other causes of action which may appear to be available to them.

It is also alleged a R.F.C. loan in the sum of approximately $250,000 obtained shortly after the close of World War 2, for construction and expansion may have been charged on the books of the corporation as "operating expenses and repairs" in order to avoid or reduce income taxes. Examination of the books is sought to determine this and whether by such action, funds that could have accrued as profits or which should have represented additional capital in the corporation were diverted. Jacobson alleged he has been told when and if the plant was sold they would all receive their share out of the profits from the sale and "not to worry about it."

Jacobson alleged he desires to examine the defendant to ascertain contents of papers and instruments he was requested to sign without knowledge of contents. Facts on formation of other corporations, not named as defendants, which may have been formed as tax saving devices are sought. Plaintiff alleges income from the Greendell Packing corporation may have been diverted or "siphoned" off to some or all of the other corporations.

In view of all of the facts plaintiff alleges he may have an action for an accounting or other actions in law or equity but because the actual internal affairs and conditions of the defendant corporations are unknown, he asks for an examination of defendants in order to prepare a complaint.

IN JUNE 1954 after they had resigned their positions with Greendell Packing Corporation, Jacobson and his wife signed the agreement transferring the preferred stock back to the corporation and agreed not to enter competing business in 200-mile radius or become associated with the meat packing, slaughtering or rending or retailing business which in any way would compete with any of the businesses of Greendell Packing Corporation, Greendell Rendering Corporation, Greendell Meat Markets, Inc., Rothenberg Holding Corporation and or Rothenberg Packing Co., Inc. He asks this be voided.

DeGraff, Foy, Conway and Holt-Haaris, appeared for defendants in opposition to the motion.

City Man Faces Assault Charges

Harold Jones, 29, of 47 Meadow street, faced City Judge Raymond J. Mino today on two third degree assault charges because he allegedly got rough in front of two patrolmen who went after him on the first charge.

A police report at 10:06 p. m., Sunday noted a call for police to 47 Meadow street where Harriet Jones, the defendant's wife, of that address, arrested Jones. Officers Ernest Bartroff and Gurnsey Burger, Jr., who were dispatched to the house, charged that Jones assaulted Harriet in their presence.

Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman appeared for Jones in court today. The case was put over until Friday morning.

Also put over until Friday was hearing on a second degree assault charge against Mrs. Helen Lane, 30, of 121 North Front street, who is charged with shooting Henry Bunce, 33, of the same address, in the left foot Friday night. She is represented by Attorney Frank Martocci.

The condition of Bunce was reported as "fairly good" at Kingston Hospital today. Police said the wound came from the discharge of a shotgun.

Herbert N. Culbert, of Esopus, who was arrested at 2:15 p. m., Sunday on a charge of speeding, forfeited $15 bail through failure to appear today in city court. The arrest was by officers Bartroff and Burger on Wurts street.

Attorney Louis DiDonna appeared for the district attorney's office in court today.

3 out of every 4 people

in the New York area, who are protected on hospital bills,

have the protection that pays most hospital bills in full!

Here's why over 6 million people in Greater New York have chosen Blue Cross!

It's easy to understand why over half of the families in Greater New York have chosen Blue Cross.

The rise in the cost of hospital and medical treatment . . . as in everything else . . . has given people a greater need than ever before for adequate protection against hospital bills.

And the risk is one in three that you or someone in your family will face a hospital bill within the next 12 months!

With Blue Cross protection, nine out of every ten Blue Cross members who enter a member hospital, leave with their bills paid in full for all semiprivate, nonmaternity care.

In a nutshell, this is what Blue Cross does for you:

It covers you in full for semiprivate room and board, at member hospitals. And, in semiprivate or private room, it gives you full coverage for costly hospital extras . . . expenses for operating room, drugs, medicines and so forth, which can run to hundreds of dollars.

This Blue Cross paid-in-full protection extends for 21 days. But should you have to stay longer, Blue Cross extends 50% of benefits for another 180 days.

To keep Blue Cross rates low

To keep rates low, this is what Blue Cross does not do. Blue Cross does not contract to pay in full for private rooms. If you go into a private room, Blue Cross does provide a cash allowance for part of your room and board. In addition, it provides the standard paid-in-full coverage on costly hospital extras, like laboratory and drugs.

New York's basic Blue Cross does not contract to pay in full for normal maternity care. For normal maternity care, Blue Cross pays $80 . . . substantial help for most people. But, if complications require Caesarean section or surgery for ectopic pregnancy, Blue Cross steps in with its regular paid-in-full kind of coverage.

Through the joint efforts of you, the subscriber, of Blue Cross and the member hospitals, Blue Cross pays hospital bills in full for more than 90% of Blue Cross members hospitalized in semiprivate accommodations at member hospitals.

To get Blue Cross protection

There are two kinds of Blue Cross enrollment. One is through a group where you work. The second is nongroup enrollment.

GROUP. If there is a Blue Cross group at your place of work, ask your employer to deduct subscription charges from your pay.

NONGROUP. You as an individual can apply for nongroup enrollment for yourself and family if you are under age 65, and are self-employed (no other employees), work for a company employing fewer than four people, or are not employed.

For more information, write New York's Blue Cross (Associated Hospital Service), 80 Lexington Avenue, New York 16, N.Y., Dept. A-46, or call MUrray Hill 9-2800.

WHAT OVER 6 MILLION BLUE CROSS MEMBERS MEANS:

To your protection—This vast membership—more than half of the people in the Greater New York area—makes it possible for Blue Cross to offer the kind of liberal protection which covers 9 out of every 10 semiprivate hospital bills in full.

To your health—Because Blue Cross covers 9 out of every 10 semiprivate hospital bills in full for its members, there's never a question about being able to afford the treatment your doctor prescribes. You find little reason to put off needed hospital care. Blue Cross makes it possible for you to have a condition attended to in earlier stages when it's easier to treat or control.

To your doctor, the hospitals and your community—Over 6 million people in Greater New York—more than half of all the people—depend on Blue Cross to provide for their cost of hospitalization. Blue Cross promptly pays the hospitals directly for service to its members. In this way the hospitals incur no bad debts on Blue Cross patients. This agreement between Blue Cross and its member hospitals has helped the hospitals and doctors to carry on their humanitarian service to your community. Your doctor and the hospitals know that nowhere in the world has the care of the sick been raised to higher levels than in the New York hospitals.

Only Blue Cross covers so many hospital bills in full!

ASSOCIATED HOSPITAL SERVICE OF N. Y. • 80 LEXINGTON AVENUE

IN JUNE 1954 after they had resigned their positions with Greendell Packing Corporation, Jacobson and his wife signed the agreement transferring the preferred stock back to the corporation and agreed not to enter competing business in 200-mile radius or become associated with the meat packing, slaughtering or rending or retailing business which in any way would compete with any of the businesses of Greendell Packing Corporation, Greendell Rendering Corporation, Greendell Meat Markets, Inc., Rothenberg Holding Corporation and or Rothenberg Packing Co., Inc. He asks this be voided.

DeGraff, Foy, Conway and Holt-Haaris, appeared for defendants in opposition to the motion.

City Man Faces Assault Charges

Harold Jones, 29, of 47 Meadow street, faced City Judge Raymond J. Mino today on two third degree assault charges because he allegedly got rough in front of two patrolmen who went after him on the first charge.

A police report at 10:06 p. m., Sunday noted a call for police to 47 Meadow street where Harriet Jones, the defendant's wife, of that address, arrested Jones. Officers Ernest Bartroff and Gurnsey Burger, Jr., who were dispatched to the house, charged that Jones assaulted Harriet in their presence.

Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman appeared for Jones in court today. The case was put over until Friday morning.

Also put over until Friday was hearing on a second degree assault charge against Mrs. Helen Lane, 30, of 121 North Front street, who is charged with shooting Henry Bunce, 33, of the same address, in the left foot Friday night. She is represented by Attorney Frank Martocci.

The condition of Bunce was reported as "fairly good" at Kingston Hospital today. Police said the wound came from the discharge of a shotgun.

Herbert N. Culbert, of Esopus, who was arrested at 2:15 p. m., Sunday on a charge of speeding, forfeited $15 bail through failure to appear today in city court. The arrest was by officers Bartroff and Burger on Wurts street.

Attorney Louis DiDonna appeared for the district attorney's office in court today.

3 out of every 4 people
in the New York area, who are protected on hospital bills, have the protection that pays most hospital bills in full!

Here's why over 6 million people in Greater New York have chosen Blue Cross!

It's easy to understand why over half of the families in Greater New York have chosen Blue Cross.

The rise in the cost of hospital and medical treatment . . . as in everything else . . . has given people a greater need than ever before for adequate protection against hospital bills.

And the risk is one in three that you or someone in your family will face a hospital bill within the next 12 months!

With Blue Cross protection, nine out of every ten Blue Cross members who enter a member hospital, leave with their bills paid in full for all semiprivate, nonmaternity care.

In a nutshell, this is what Blue Cross does for you:

It covers you in full for semiprivate room and board, at member hospitals. And, in semiprivate or private room, it gives you full coverage for costly hospital extras . . . expenses for operating room, drugs, medicines and so forth, which can run to hundreds of dollars.

This Blue Cross paid-in-full protection extends for 21 days. But should you have to stay longer, Blue Cross extends 50% of benefits for another 180 days.

To keep Blue Cross rates low

To keep rates low, this is what Blue Cross does not do. Blue Cross does not contract to pay in full for private rooms. If you go into a private room, Blue Cross does provide a cash allowance for part of your room and board. In addition, it provides the standard paid-in-full coverage on costly hospital extras, like laboratory and drugs.

New York's basic Blue Cross does not contract to pay in full for normal maternity care. For normal maternity care, Blue Cross pays $80 . . . substantial help for most people. But, if complications require Caesarean section or surgery for ectopic pregnancy, Blue Cross steps in with its regular paid-in-full kind of coverage.

Through the joint efforts of you, the subscriber, of Blue Cross and the member hospitals, Blue Cross pays hospital bills in full for more than 90% of Blue Cross members hospitalized in semiprivate accommodations at member hospitals.

To get Blue Cross protection

There are two kinds of Blue Cross enrollment. One is through a group where you work. The second is nongroup enrollment.

GROUP. If there is a Blue Cross group at your place of work, ask your employer to deduct subscription charges from your pay.

NONGROUP. You as an individual can apply for nongroup enrollment for yourself and family if you are under age 65, and are self-employed (no other employees), work for a company employing fewer than four people, or are not employed.

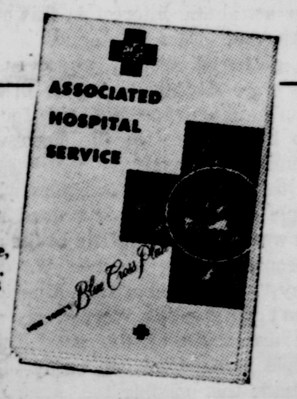
For more information, write New York's Blue Cross (Associated Hospital Service), 80 Lexington Avenue, New York 16, N.Y., Dept. A-46, or call MUrray Hill 9-2800.

WHAT OVER 6 MILLION BLUE CROSS MEMBERS MEANS:

To your protection—This vast membership—more than half of the people in the Greater New York area—makes it possible for Blue Cross to offer the kind of liberal protection which covers 9 out of every 10 semiprivate hospital bills in full.

To your health—Because Blue Cross covers 9 out of every 10 semiprivate hospital bills in full for its members, there's never a question about being able to afford the treatment your doctor prescribes. You find little reason to put off needed hospital care. Blue Cross makes it possible for you to have a condition attended to in earlier stages when it's easier to treat or control.

To your doctor, the hospitals and your community—Over 6 million people in Greater New York—more than half of all the people—depend on Blue Cross to provide for their cost of hospitalization. Blue Cross promptly pays the hospitals directly for service to its members. In this way the hospitals incur no bad debts on Blue Cross patients. This agreement between Blue Cross and its member hospitals has helped the hospitals and doctors to carry on their humanitarian service to your community. Your doctor and the hospitals know that nowhere in the world has the care of the sick been raised to higher levels than in the New York hospitals.



Only Blue Cross covers so many hospital bills in full!

DRAMATICS IN THE U.N.

Seldom in its short life has the United Nations experienced so dramatic a change as occurred when, by a single stroke, the General Assembly admitted 16 new members to raise its family total to 76.

Not since 1950 had the U.N. opened its doors to any new member. Admission of many countries was long overdue. Only the characteristic stubborness of the Soviet Union had barred their way.

Indeed, a little more than 24 hours before the 16 newcomers were accepted, Russia had slammed the door 13 times against proposed initiates. The net effect was to block the entry of four others already tentatively approved.

Russia's action was in retaliation for Nationalist China's veto of membership for Outer Mongolia, a Soviet puppet state carved out of the northern fringe of mainland China.

In the sense that the U.N. is now a more complete world organization, the addition of 16 members represents an advance. It does not, however, modify U.N. weaknesses inherent in its charter, nor alter the fact of big power control in the agency.

Some feel the Russians switched on the admissions issue because they feared their mass veto of 13 countries might not square well with the image of themselves as reasonable and peace-promoting—which they push in many areas. Others think the Kremlin engineered the whole affair as a device for claiming credit as the decisive factor in letting the bars down.

In any event, they executed an overnight reversal that allowed entry of four Soviet satellites—Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania—and 12 other countries—Jordan, Eire, Portugal, Italy, Austria, Finland, Ceylon, Nepal, Libya, Cambodia, Laos and Spain.

Excluded were two countries contained in the original "package" deal — Japan and Outer Mongolia. In the end, the Russians made it an eye for an eye, instead of 13 eyes for one.

It it most regrettable that Japan, a nation of paramount importance in Asia and the world, with 88 million people crowding its Pacific isles, should have been the principal victim of East-West strategic maneuvering within the U.N.

Japan's friends in the West can only hope that it will be properly admitted in the not distant future, under altered circumstances.

The foreign affairs experts may argue for a good while over how much blame will finally attach to Chiang Kai-shek for the veto that dumped the original 18-nation package. There is some opinion that this move will hurt Nationalist China's chances of holding its U.N. seat much longer.

There is also more than a little feeling that for all its high-handedness the Soviet Union in the end came off better than the United States. Some observers say we never took a clear initiative, that we shifted our ground frequently, that our very great influence was never wisely brought to bear.

Whatever the proper verdict on these matters, it is beyond dispute that a U.N. 16 nations stronger is markedly closer to one of its goals—that of being a truly universal organization representative of all peoples.

MAIL ORDER DIPLOMACY

A group of businessmen back from trade missions abroad report that wherever they went they found one of the most effective devices for attracting interest in this country was the mail order catalogue.

Crowds gathered around wherever the catalogues were displayed. People in Berlin lined up four and five feet deep for the chance to look. Many in the lines were from Communist Germany.

Getting these catalogues to places where other people can see them is a good idea. We do not want to seem boastful in the eyes of such people, and we needn't. We don't have to say "Look at what rich Americans have—aren't we great?" We can say simply "here are some of the good things which people in America can enjoy—freedom has made this possible."

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHO HAS BRAINS?

William Randolph Hearst, Jr., poses a question which requires analysis. He said:

"There seems to be developing a belief that everything Russia does on the diplomatic front is the product of brilliantly calculated statesmanship while Uncle Sam's corresponding moves are muddled and uninspired."

Neither the Russians nor the Americans have a monopoly of intelligence. Man for man, John Foster Dulles is probably as keen an operator as Molotov or Gromyko. Nevertheless, we have witnessed an expansion of the Soviet Universal State since 1938 which could not have occurred unless Russia had certain advantages over the United States and the Western world.

As a basis for this discussion, let us accept Mr. Hearst's conclusion that Russians are not geniuses and Americans are not dopes. Despite this conclusion, the Russians have made empirical advances which we cannot ignore. What, then, are their advantages?

1. IMPUDENCE. Not bound by moral considerations, unhampered by traditions of natural law and international law, doing as they please without regard to the restraints and inhibitions which civilization has imposed upon mankind, the Russians do as they please, at any cost to others. If that gives them an advantage, it is the advantage of the oppressor;

2. NO ALLIES. The Russians have no allies, only satellites. They do not need to call a conference of Foreign Ministers of their allies to determine a policy.

Our policies are always based on a compromise among all the Powers that compose NATO and SEATO and the Bagdad Powers and the Balkan Alliance or what remains of it. In a word, having joined in various alliances, we cannot ignore what our allies desire. Therefore, the United States is not altogether a free agent.

But Soviet Russia is a free agent. It, however, is not as free at the end of 1955 as it was in, say, 1948. In the first place, it now has to consider Red China, which rejects the role of a satellite; and it has to consider India which plays an increasing role in the Soviet Universal State as a friendly neutral. It is possible that sooner or later, Soviet Russia may lose the advantage of having no allies but only satellites, but up to now, this has been an enormous advantage;

3. THE PROPAGANDA MACHINE. Soviet Russia maintains a propaganda machine in every country of the world, namely, the Communist Party. It is impossible for the United States or any Western country to maintain a similar agency of propaganda, infiltration and destruction. It would be regarded as an interference in the internal affairs of another country if the United States were to employ such means to strengthen its position. Many Americans would resent it and it is doubtful if Congress would permit expenditures for such a purpose. But there is not a country on earth in which the Communist Party, directly controlled by Russia, does not flourish openly or underground.

This is a tremendous advantage, principally because Russia can, through natives, undermine or weaken or take over a country without war or invasion. This has been done in so many countries that more than 15 have been absorbed in the Soviet Universal State and such countries as Italy, France and Brazil are now being undermined;

4. NO OPPOSITION PARTY. In Western countries, opposition parties, an opposition press, are regarded as essential to freedom. Every step that such a government makes has to take into consideration the view of the opposition. It has to study public opinion. In the United States, policy is not only formed in the State Department but also in the White House where departments under Harold Stassen and Nelson Rockefeller dealt with foreign policy. Also the President must consider the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. Also he needs to think of the press and radio.

In Russia, it is different. The policy is laid down by the Party and government and there can be no opposition. Actually there is none. The government owns the press and radio. To oppose the Party and the government is to invite exile or death.

To state these Russian advantages is not to favor them. They are diabolical and have destroyed the liberties of men. Furthermore,, the Russian way cannot be followed by those who believe in God, because the Communists deny God's law and therefore no oath, no promise, no signature, no bond is valid.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PREMATURE INFANTS

In general, the definition of a premature baby is one who weighs just 5½ pounds or less at birth. There has been some dissatisfaction with this grouping but it is still a very practical one. Improved treatment has done much to save the lives of premature infants but deaths in the first four weeks of life still occur at a high rate. The greatest hope at present lies in preventing births from occurring prematurely.

"Every added week that the mother can carry the infant beyond the twenty-eighth week means a gain of eight ounces for the unborn child and every gain of eight ounces cuts the expected death rate in half. The obstetrician can, therefore, do much to prevent prematurity by delaying delivery in patients who have not reached full term and by vigorous treatment of conditions that threaten to terminate pregnancy prematurely."

I am quoting from an editorial in the Journal of American Medical Association which goes on to say that it has been found that the causes of death in the newborn are the same for premature and full-term infants except that the death rate from all these causes is higher in the premature than in the full-term infant. These include after birth suffocation and imperfect expansion of the lungs at birth, injuries at birth, hereditary defects, infection and abnormal composition of the blood.

In a study of 284 cases of stillbirths, it was found that all but two involved mothers whose pregnancy diet had been poor, especially in proteins (meat, eggs, fish, poultry). One research physician gave 750 expectant mothers a high protein, high vitamin and high mineral diet with a limited intake of fluids and juicy fruits. None of the infants in this group were born prematurely but in a similar group, not on such a diet, there were 37 premature infants. It has been found also that there is a direct relationship between the deficiency of the diet and the degree of prematurity. Although an inadequate diet is not the only cause of prematurity, it appears to be one of the most important and one that is frequently preventable.

In general, a normal diet for a pregnant woman should include, daily, one quart of milk; one large serving (four to five ounces) meat, fish, or fowl; two eggs or one egg and a substitute of meat, cheese, or fish; one ounce butter or fortified margarine; three servings whole grain or enriched cereals and bread; four servings vegetables (one can be potato, one to be uncooked or tomato, one to be green or yellow, one to be as desired); other foods to make up the adequate calories as desired. The diet for normal pregnancy during the first three months need not be different from the average normal diet for adult women but increases must be made in all the dietary essentials beginning with the fourth month.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — The ladies in politics—bless 'em!—are always adding a new touch to make this sordid profession respectable. The politics are sordid—that is—not women.

The men politicians like to gather in smoke-filled rooms or at $100-a-plpate dinners to show what big shots they are. But the women political volunteers carry their crusades right to the purer levels of Mother, Home, Fireside and Pin Money.

The National Federation of Republican Women for instance, is now promoting a "Quiet Evening at Home" campaign to raise funds for the GOP. It was started by Ruth Parks of Pueblo, a sister of Colorado's Sen. Gordon Allott.

Mrs. Parks is a member-at-large of the NFRW Executive Committee. But the movement she started is now said to be spreading.

Under the Parks plan, women party workers go around selling tickets for this "Quiet Evening at Home."

IF BUYING A TICKET to stay home doesn't at first make sense to you, it's just that you don't catch on quickly.

The spiel is that whenever people stay home, they save money. By not going out, they don't spend it. So the pitch is made to the family to stay home some evening.

Only instead of saving the money, the folks are urged to give it to the GOP.

People who save as much as $10 by not going out and then give it all to the Republican treasury get special tickets showing that they're "Relaxed Patrons." Isn't that cute?

The Republican ladies also have a "Back to School" movement, and an "Operation Coffee Cup." They're trick names for 4000 Republican neighborhood round tables Mrs. Ab Hermann of Washington is trying to organize throughout the country. The object is: "To train women to be top-flight saleslades for the GOP."

Not to be outsmarted by the Republicans, the Democratic women have also thought up a couple of nifties.

One is the "Read and Sew for '56 Club." A letter from Katie Louchheim, director of women's activities for the Democratic National Committee, says she'll be glad to send anyone full instructions on how to start such a club.

A SAMPLE PRESS RELEASE to feed to the local papers is thrown in for free. And for good measure there's also a pattern for cutting out and sewing up toy donkeys.

The idea, says Mrs. Louchheim, is to bring together people who like to sew and make crafts. While they are sewing a leader will read soothing articles to them from the "Democratic Digest." Then they discuss 'em.

The donkeys are supposed to be sold. The money, of course, goes to the Democratic treasury. Neat, ain't it?

The Democratic Ladies are also sponsoring "Teas for TV." (The difference between a Republican woman and a Democratic woman is that Republicans favor "Operation Coffee Cup," the Democrats, "Tea for TV.")

Anyway, there's a theme song for singing at the TVT. Words and music on request to Dem. Hq., 1001 Conn. Ave., N. W., Washington, D C Title: There's Nothing Like a Democratic Dame" Purpose of the Teas is to raise money for political broadcasts.

Most intriguing of all the Democratic women's activities, however, are the scripts for one-act plays to be put on before "Read and Sew" or "TVT" clubs.

THERE'S ONE CALLED "How to Ring the Doorbell." It shows Democratic women workers how to canvass a block for votes. It has a companion act, "How to Answer a Doorbell." That one teaches Democratic housewives how to heckle a Republican woman canvasser who comes a-calling.

The Pulitzer prizewinner for all this political folk drama, however, is on called "Fashions for Fifty-six." It takes a cast of six, with a Narrator to explain the action.

The climax comes when the Narrator, over at one side of the platform, says: "Our latest Model Democrat Is THE Model Democrat—as she sees herself—A CRUSADER."

And out come—guess who Eleanor Roosevelt? Margaret Truman? Nancy Kefauver? Mrs. Averell Harriman? Governor Stevenson's ex-wife? Mrs. Woodrow Wilson? Nope! None of these.

It's this will slay you! It's Joan of Arc who strides forward has a "Sword raised, eyes lifted to Heaven."

Amnesty Plea for U. S. Reds Called an Attack on Courts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 26—With all the thousands of persons serving sentences in jail for various crimes and misdemeanors, forty-six prominent Americans, led by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, recently selected sixteen Communists and petitioned President Eisenhower to grant them "amnesty."

The sixteen persons, in prison, admittedly active in the Communist party, were convicted under a law passed by a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress in 1950 which makes it a crime to conspire to teach and advocate the forcible overthrow of the government of the United States.

BUT THE SIGNERS of the petition insist that the convictions occurred during the "cold war" period, implying that the courts are swayed by such emotions and not necessarily by the letter of the law.

The forty-six signers assert that they are "in fundamental disagreement with the philosophy of the Communist party," that they are motivated "by their attachment to the democratic way of life," and that they want to make a "contribution to peace." But the net effect of the statement is to confirm the charges made so often by the Communists that the trials in America of persons charged with conspiracy are merely tools of "political" combat.

THIS FALSE impression is further strengthened for the Russians when it is noted that the same petition calls for the postponementor virtual suspension of the prosecutions of the other 180 Communist cases awaiting trial under the same law. The theory that a whole system of justice dealing with violations of domestic law is tied into international diplomacy and that it is a sort of barter proposition where prosecution is withheld in return for some other bargaining consideration is one that is practiced by the Red Chinese, who still hold several Americans in jail on "spy" charges. This is the first time, however, the doctrine has been sponsored by an American group and related now to our "democratic way of life."

THE SIGNERS ARE for the most part pacifists—some twenty-five are from religious groups—but is is surprising to see Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the presidency in six campaigns, and Elmer Rice, the playwright, and Henry Steele Commager, the Columbia University professor of history, and Dean John C. Bennett of the Union Theological Seminary of New York, lending their names to the document. What Americans generally will probably think of the petition by Mrs. Roosevelt and her group is well summed up in "The Tampa (Fla.) Tribune," an independent democratic newspaper, in an editorial entitled "Christmas amnesty? Humbug!"

IT SAYS:

"Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is a well meaning woman, although she seldom sits still long enough to consider the sense of some of the things she says and does.

"So is historian Henry Steele Commager of Columbia University well-meaning, we suppose. And Dean John C. Bennett of Union Theological Seminary. And Stephen Cary of the American Friends Service Committee. And most or all of the other thirty-eight who petitioned President Eisenhower to grant a "Christmas amnesty" to sixteen Communist party leaders serving jail terms.

"Well meaning, yes. But in this instance quite muddle-headed.

"WHY SHOULD persons convicted of advocating the forcible overthrow of our government be more entitled to 'Christmas amnesty' than the other thousands of felons behind Federal bars?

"If anything, they are less deserving. For if they had their way, there would be no true Christmas in America or anywhere in the whole wide world.

"Communism, godless, denies the very reason for the celebration of Christmas. Communism, materialistic, mocks the idea that it is better to give than receive. Communism, despotic, looks unfeelingly upon its own wretched millions in slave labor camps.

"The forty-two petitioners say that to turn out the sixteen imprisoned Communists and suspend the prosecutions of 100 others under the Smith act would make a wonderful impression abroad and 'contribute toward peace in the world.'

"Is it possible that they can be so naive?

"EVER SINCE the end of World War 2, this country has leaned over backward to demonstrate to Communist Russia and its allies that all we want is peace and friendship. Their response, when we leaned, was to push us in the dirt with the help of home-grown Communists like those in jail.

"Communism is the scrooge of today's world. But surely it takes a childlike faith to think that another act of forgiveness on our part may summon Stalin's ghost, clanking in the chains of retribution, to reform the hearts of the Politburo.

"It requires far more faith than we have.

"Christmas amnesty for Communists? Humbug!"

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Any American who has recently visited Germany is asked whether Nazi-ism has actually been exterminated. Might it not rise again, especially in West Germany where there is a great industrial boom? And have the individual Nazis of Hitler's regime been exterminated in the political sense? Have the rank and file been "de-Nazified?"

Of course National Socialism will rise again. In fact, our own carpetbaggers immediately set about to restore it in the guise of democracy. At that very time it was bursting into evil flower in Britain under the Socialist administration of the misnamed Labor party which brought "austerity," socialized medicine, state ownership and operation of railroads and trucking, inefficiency and misery. It also aggravated the British inflation caused by the war.

We have had important elements of National Socialism ourselves in our so-called social security, "public housing" and the unseen, creeping intrusion of secret influences into public "education" through the Federal Office of Education. This would give the national "regime" control over the minds, the thinking, the ideals and morals of the nation in 25 years.

National Socialism is present in the Reuther scheme which purports to establish a guaranteed annual wage for factory workers. It is the very spirit of the combined AFL-CIO with their notorious dictatorial concepts of authority over the workers and thus over industry and thus over the nation.

Our people who think they abhor National Socialism in Germany are thinking narrowly of Hitler and the swastika. "Nazi" came to mean Hitler and the Brown Shirts, so like the goons of the Seattle waterfront who marched inshore to establish their "living wall" around the newspaper plant of the Post-Intelligencer when Heywood Broun, of the Newspaper Guild, appealed to Dave Beck, of the AFL Teamsters, to win his strike for him. Beck, a practical professional grudgingly helped out "that damned amateur" for solidarity's sake although he had cautioned Broun not to strike just for the experience and pleasure that the strike would give him. Beck was the commander of the original goons who got their name from a comic strip.

In what way were Hitler's Brown Shirts different from the goons of the United Auto Workers in Detroit and Flint when Frank Murphy, the governor, quailed before John L. Lewis and withheld the orders which the patriotic young soldiers of the National Guard awaited to restore the authority of their lawful government? The loyal troops were ready and the citizens hoped Murphy would give the word. But he betrayed them.

Most of our people were too young to understand that in that moment of treason to the state of Michigan, Murphy acted just as many regional authorities in Germany acted when Hitler challenged them to fight in the streets.

Hitler's men wore neat brown shirts, well-tailored riding breeches, fine high boots and square bill caps. Some of them carried dog-whips. The goons of the UAW of the CIO in Michigan wore the fore-and-aft cap which the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars had carried over from their days in France. They also wore brassards. They had their group-leaders and shock-squads in cars with radio communications. There was not a complete uniform but there have been wars in which a flower or a feather of one color or another was sufficient insignia. They did not carry dog-whips, but many carried bolts, pipe and tire-chains. These UAW goons were not striking employes of Pontiac or Chevrolet. Few of them ever had been so employed. Most of them were adventurers, including Communists, drawn in from other states, to drive the employes off their jobs. They were political adherents of Franklin D. Roosevelt, John L. Lewis and the late Philip Murray, a weak, paltry man who fluttered whenever, in his phase as underling to Lewis, the grand tyrant insulted and reviled him.

Certainly, national socialism will rise again in Germany.

Certainly there will be national socialists and you may call them Nazis if you will. The Germans have been berated because, after the war, few would admit that they ever had been Nazis or ever had known any Nazis. What was so contemptible about that? In the United States today how many employes, merchants, teachers will declare boldly their attitudes on issues fomented by organized pressure-groups? How many will declare that they oppose "integration" and dare to state their honest, political and social reasons?? How many editors?

So why would a German who

DRAMATICS IN THE U.N.

Seldom in its short life has the United Nations experienced so dramatic a change as occurred when, by a single stroke, the General Assembly admitted 16 new members to raise its family total to 76.

Not since 1950 had the U.N. opened its doors to any new member. Admission of many countries was long overdue. Only the characteristic stubborness of the Soviet Union had barred their way.

Indeed, a little more than 24 hours before the 16 newcomers were accepted, Russia had slammed the door 13 times against proposed initiates. The net effect was to block the entry of four others already tentatively approved.

Russia's action was in retaliation for Nationalist China's veto of membership for Outer Mongolia, a Soviet puppet state carved out of the northern fringe of mainland China.

In the sense that the U.N. is now a more complete world organization, the addition of 16 members represents an advance. It does not, however, modify U.N. weaknesses inherent in its charter, nor alter the fact of big power control in the agency.

Some feel the Russians switched on the admissions issue because they feared their mass veto of 13 countries might not square well with the image of themselves as reasonable and peace-promoting—which they push in many areas. Others think the Kremlin engineered the whole affair as a device for claiming credit as the decisive factor in letting the bars down.

In any event, they executed an overnight reversal that allowed entry of four Soviet satellites—Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania—and 12 other countries—Jordan, Eire, Portugal, Italy, Austria, Firland, Ceylon, Nepal, Libya, Cambodia, Laos and Spain.

Excluded were two countries contained in the original "package" deal — Japan and Outer Mongolia. In the end, the Russians made it an eye for an eye, instead of 13 eyes for one.

It it most regrettable that Japan, a nation of paramount importance in Asia and the world, with 88 million people crowding its Pacific isles, should have been the principal victim of East-West strategic maneuvering within the U.N.

Japan's friends in the West can only hope that it will be properly admitted in the not distant future, under altered circumstances.

The foreign affairs experts may argue for a good while over how much blame will finally attach to Chiang Kai-shek for the veto that dumped the original 18-nation package. There is some opinion that this move will hurt Nationalist China's chances of holding its U.N. seat much longer.

There is also more than a little feeling that for all its high-handedness the Soviet Union in the end came off better than the United States. Some observers say we never took a clear initiative, that we shifted our ground frequently, that our very great influence was never wisely brought to bear.

Whatever the proper verdict on these matters, it is beyond dispute that a U.N. 16 nations stronger is markedly closer to one of its goals—that of being a truly universal organization representative of all peoples.

MAIL ORDER DIPLOMACY

A group of businessmen back from trade missions abroad report that wherever they went they found one of the most effective devices for attracting interest in this country was the mail order catalogue.

Crowds gathered around wherever the catalogues were displayed. People in Berlin lined up four and five feet deep for the chance to look. Many in the lines were from Communist Germany.

Getting these catalogues to places where other people can see them is a good idea. We do not want to seem boastful in the eyes of such people, and we needn't. We don't have to say "Look at what rich Americans have—aren't we great?" We can say simply "here are some of the good things which people in America can enjoy—freedom has made this possible."

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHO HAS BRAINS?

William Randolph Hearst, Jr., poses a question which requires analysis. He said:

"There seems to be developing a belief that everything Russia does on the diplomatic front is the product of brilliantly calculated statesmanship while Uncle Sam's corresponding moves are muddled and uninspired."

Neither the Russians nor the Americans have a monopoly of intelligence. Man for man, John Foster Dulles is probably as keen an operator as Molotov or Gromyko. Nevertheless, we have witnessed an expansion of the Soviet Universal State since 1938 which could not have occurred unless Russia had certain advantages over the United States and the Western world.

As a basis for this discussion, let us accept Mr. Hearst's conclusion that Russians are not geniuses and Americans are not dopes. Despite this conclusion, the Russians have made empirical advances which we cannot ignore. What, then, are their advantages?

1. IMPUDENCE. Not bound by moral considerations, unhampered by traditions of natural law and international law, doing as they please without regard to the restraints and inhibitions which civilization has imposed upon mankind, the Russians do as they please, at any cost to others. If that gives them an advantage, it is the advantage of the oppressor;

2. NO ALLIES. The Russians have no allies, only satellites. They do not need to call a conference of Foreign Ministers of their allies to determine a policy.

Our policies are always based on a compromise among all the Powers that compose NATO and SEATO and the Bagdad Powers and the Balkan Alliance or what remains of it. In a word, having joined in various alliances, we cannot ignore what our allies desire. Therefore, the United States is not altogether a free agent.

But Soviet Russia is a free agent. It, however, is not as free at the end of 1955 as it was in, say, 1948. In the first place, it now has to consider Red China, which rejects the role of a satellite; and it has to consider India which plays an increasing role in the Soviet Universal State as a friendly neutral. It is possible that sooner or later, Soviet Russia may lose the advantage of having no allies but only satellites, but up to now, this has been an enormous advantage;

3. THE PROPAGANDA MACHINE. Soviet Russia maintains a propaganda machine in every country of the world, namely, the Communist Party. It is impossible for the United States or any Western country to maintain a similar agency of propaganda, infiltration and destruction. It would be regarded as an interference in the internal affairs of another country if the United States were to employ such means to strengthen its position. Many Americans would resent it and it is doubtful if Congress would permit expenditures for such a purpose. But there is not a country on earth in which the Communist Party, directly controlled by Russia, does not flourish openly or underground.

This is a tremendous advantage, principally because Russia can, through natives, undermine or weaken or take over a country without war or invasion. This has been done in so many countries that more than 15 have been absorbed in the Soviet Universal State and such countries as Italy, France and Brazil are now being undermined;

4. NO OPPOSITION PARTY. In Western countries, opposition parties, an opposition press, are regarded as essential to freedom. Every step that such a government makes has to take into consideration the view of the opposition. It has to study public opinion. In the United States, policy is not only formed in the State Department but also in the White House where departments under Harold Stassen and Nelson Rockefeller dealt with foreign policy. Also the President must consider the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. Also he needs to think of the press and radio.

In Russia, it is different. The policy is laid down by the Party and government and there can be no opposition. Actually there is none. The government owns the press and radio. To oppose the Party and the government is to invite exile or death.

To state these Russian advantages is not to favor them. They are diabolical and have destroyed the liberties of men. Furthermore,, the Russian way cannot be followed by those who believe in God, because the Communists deny God's law and therefore no oath, no promise, no signature, no bond is valid.

That Body of Yours

PREMATURE INFANTS

In general, the definition of a premature baby is one who weighs just 5½ pounds or less at birth. There has been some dissatisfaction with this grouping but it is still a very practical one. Improved treatment has done much to save the lives of premature infants but deaths in the first four weeks of life still occur at a high rate. The greatest hope at present lies in preventing births from occurring prematurely.

"Every added week that the mother can carry the infant beyond the twenty-eighth week means a gain of eight ounces for the unborn child and every gain of eight ounces cuts the expected death rate in half. The obstetrician can, therefore, do much to prevent prematurity by delaying delivery in patients who have not reached full term and by vigorous treatment of conditions that threaten to terminate pregnancy prematurely."

I am quoting from an editorial in the Journal of American Medical Association which goes on to say that it has been found that the causes of death in the newborn are the same for premature and full-term infants except that the death rate from all these causes is higher in the premature than in the full-term infant. These include after birth suffocation and imperfect expansion of the lungs at birth, injuries at birth, hereditary defects, infection and abnormal composition of the blood.

In a study of 284 cases of stillbirths, it was found that all but two involved mothers whose pregnancy diet had been poor, especially in proteins (meat, eggs, fish, poultry). One research physician gave 750 expectant mothers a high protein, high vitamin and high mineral diet with a limited intake of fluids and juicy fruits. None of the infants in this group were born prematurely but in a similar group, not on such a diet, there were 37 premature infants. It has been found also that there is a direct relationship between the deficiency of the diet and the degree of prematurity. Although an inadequate diet is not the only cause of prematurity, it appears to be one of the most important and one that is frequently preventable.

In general, a normal diet for a pregnant woman should include, daily, one quart of milk; one large serving (four to five ounces) meat, fish, or fowl; two eggs or one egg and a substitute of meat, cheese, or fish; one ounce butter or fortified margarine; three servings whole grain or enriched cereals and bread; four servings vegetables (one can be potato, one to be uncooked or tomato, one to be green or yellow, one to be as desired); other foods to make up the adequate calories as desired. The diet for normal pregnancy during the first three months need not be different from the average normal diet for adult women but increases must be made in all the dietary essentials beginning with the fourth month.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — The ladies in politics—bless 'em!—are always adding a new touch to make this sordid profession respectable. The politics are sordid—that is—not women.

The men politicians like to gather in smoke-filled rooms or at $100-a-plpate dinners to show what big shots they are. But the women political volunteers carry their crusades right to the purer levels of Mother, Home, Fireside and Pin Money.

The National Federation of Republican Women for instance, is now promoting a "Quiet Evening at Home" campaign to raise funds for the GOP. It was started by Ruth Parks of Pueblo, a sister of Colorado's Sen. Gordon Allott.

Mrs. Parks is a member-at-large of the NFRW Executive Committee. But the movement she started is now said to be spreading.

Under the Parks plan, women party workers go around selling tickets for this "Quiet Evening at Home."

IF BUYING A TICKET to stay home doesn't at first make sense to you, it's just that you don't catch on quickly.

The spiel is that whenever people stay home, they save money. By not going out, they don't spend it. So the pitch is made to the family to stay home some evening.

Only instead of saving the money, the folks are urged to give it to the GOP.

People who save as much as $10 by not going out and then give it all to the Republican treasury get special tickets showing that they're "Relaxed Patrons." Isn't that cute?

The Republican ladies also have a "Back to School" movement, and an "Operation Coffee Cup." They're trick names for 4000 Republican neighborhood round tables Mrs. Ab Hermann of Washington is trying to organize throughout the country. The object is: "To train women to be top-flight salesladies for the GOP."

Not to be outsmarted by the Republicans, the Democratic women have also thought up a couple of nifties.

One is the "Read and Sew for '56 Club." A letter from Katie Louchheim, director of women's activities for the Democratic National Committee, says she'll be glad to send anyone full instructions on how to start such a club.

A SAMPLE PRESS RELEASE to feed to the local papers is thrown in for free. And for good measure there's also a pattern for cutting out and sewing up toy donkeys.

The idea, says Mrs. Louchheim, is to bring together people who like to sew and make crafts. While they are sewing a leader will read soothing articles to them from the "Democratic Digest." Then they discuss 'em.

The donkeys are supposed to be sold. The money, of course, goes to the Democratic treasury. Neat, ain't it?

The Democratic Ladies are also sponsoring "Teas for TV." (The difference between a Republican woman and a Democratic woman is that Republicans favor "Operation Coffee Cup," the Democrats, "Tea for TV.")

Anyway, there's a theme song for singing at the TVT. Words and music on request to Dem. Hq., 1001 Conn. Ave., N. W., Washington, D C Title: There's Nothing Like a Democratic Dame" Purpose of the Teas is to raise money for political broadcasts.

Most intriguing of all the Democratic women's activities, however, are the scripts for one-act plays to be put on before "Read and Sew" or "TVT" clubs.

THERE'S ONE CALLED "How to Ring the Doorbell." It shows Democratic women workers how to canvass a block for votes. It has a companion act, "How to Answer a Doorbell." That one teaches Democratic housewives how to heckle a Republican woman canvasser who comes a-calling.

The Pulitzer prizewinner for all this political folk drama, however, is on called "Fashions for Fifty-six." It takes a cast of six, with a Narrator to explain the action.

The climax comes when the Narrator, over at one side of the platform, says: "Our latest Model Democrat Is THE Model Democrat—as she sees herself—A CRUSADER."

And out come—guess who Eleanor Roosevelt? Margaret Truman? Nancy Kefauver? Mrs. Averell Harriman? Governor Stevenson's ex-wife? Mrs. Woodrow Wilson? Nope! None of these.

It's this will slay you! It's Joan of Arc who strides forward has a "Sword raised, eyes lifted to Heaven."

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 26—With all the thousands of persons serving sentences in jail for various crimes and misdemeanors, forty-six prominent Americans, led by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, recently selected sixteen Communists and petitioned President Eisenhower to grant them "amnesty."

The sixteen persons, in prison, admittedly active in the Communist party, were convicted under a law passed by a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress in 1950 which makes it a crime to conspire to teach and advocate the forcible overthrow of the government of the United States.

BUT THE SIGNERS of the petition insist that the convictions occurred during the "cold war" period, implying that the courts are swayed by such emotions and not necessarily by the letter of the law.

The forty-six signers assert that they are "in fundamental disagreement with the philosophy of the Communist party," that they are motivated "by their attachment to the democratic way of life," and that they want to make a "contribution to peace." But the net effect of the statement is to confirm the charges made so often by the Communists that the trials in America of persons charged with conspiracy are merely tools of "political" combat.

THIS FALSE impression is further strengthened for the Russians when it is noted that the same petition calls for the postponementor virtual suspension of the prosecutions of the other 180 Communist cases awaiting trial under the same law. The theory that a whole system of justice dealing with violations of domestic law is tied into international diplomacy and that it is a sort of barter proposition where prosecution is withheld in return for some other bargaining consideration is one that is practiced by the Red Chinese, who still hold several Americans in jail on "spy" charges. This is the first time, however, the doctrine has been sponsored by an American group and related now to our "democratic way of life."

THE SIGNERS ARE for the most part pacifists—some twenty-five are from religious groups—but is surprising to see Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the presidency in six campaigns, and Elmer Rice, the playwright, and Henry Steele Commager, the Columbia University professor of history, and Dean John C. Bennett of the Union Theological Seminary of New York, lending their names to the document. What Americans generally will probably think of the petition by Mrs. Roosevelt and her group is well summed up in "The Tampa (Fla.) Tribune," an independent democratic newspaper, in an editorial entitled "Christmas amnesty? Humbug!"

IT SAYS:

"Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is a well meaning woman, although she seldom sits still long enough to consider the sense of some of the things she says and does.

"So is historian Henry Steele Commager of Columbia University well-meaning, we suppose. And Dean John C. Bennett of Union Theological Seminary. And Stephen Cary of the American Friends Service Committee. And most or all of the other thirty-eight who petitioned President Eisenhower to grant a "Christmas amnesty" to sixteen Communist party leaders serving jail terms.

"Well meaning, yes. But in this instance quite muddle-headed.

"WHY SHOULD persons convicted of advocating the forcible overthrow of our government be more entitled to 'Christmas amnesty' than the other thousands of felons behind Federal bars?

"If anything, they are less deserving. For if they had their way, there would be no true Christmas in America or anywhere in the whole wide world.

"Communism, godless, denies the very reason for the celebration of Christmas. Communism, materialistic, mocks the idea that it is better to give than receive. Communism, despotic, looks unfeelingly upon its own wretched millions in slave labor camps.

"The forty-two petitioners say that to turn out the sixteen imprisoned Communists and suspend the prosecutions of 100 others under the Smith act would make a wonderful impression abroad and 'contribute toward peace in the world.'

"Is it possible that they can be so naive?

"EVER SINCE the end of World War 2, this country has leaned over backward to demonstrate to Communist Russia and its allies that all we want is peace and friendship. Their response, when we leaned, was to push us in the dirt with the help of home-grown Communists like those in jail.

"Communism is the scrooge of today's world. But surely it takes a childlike faith to think that another act of forgiveness on our part may summon Stalin's ghost, clanking in the chains of retribution, to reform the hearts of the Politburo.

"It requires far more faith than we have.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Any American who has recently visited Germany is asked whether Nazi-ism has actually been exterminated. Might it not rise again, especially in West Germany where there is a great industrial boom? And have the individual Nazis of Hitler's regime been exterminated in the political sense? Have the rank and file been "de-Nazified?"

Of course National Socialism will rise again. In fact, our own carpetbaggers immediately set about to restore it in the guise of democracy. At that very time it was bursting into evil flower in Britain under the Socialist administration of the misnamed Labor party which brought "austerity," socialized medicine, state ownership and operation of railroads and trucking, inefficiency and misery. It also aggravated the British inflation caused by the war.

We have had important elements of National Socialism ourselves in our so-called social security, "public housing" and the unseen, creeping intrusion of secret influences into public "education" through the Federal Office of Education. This would give the national "regime" control over the minds, the thinking, the ideals and morals of the nation in 25 years.

National Socialism is present in the Reuther scheme which purports to establish a guaranteed annual wage for factory workers. It is the very spirit of the combined AFL-CIO with their notorious dictatorial concepts of authority over the workers and thus over industry and thus over the nation.

Our people who think they abhor National Socialism in Germany are thinking narrowly of Hitler and the swastika. "Nazi" came to mean Hitler and the Brown Shirts, so like the goons of the Seattle waterfront who marched inshore to establish their "living wall" around the newspaper plant of the Post-Intelligencer when Heywood Broun, of the Newspaper Guild, appealed to Dave Beck, of the AFL Teamsters, to win his strike for him. Beck, a practical professional grudgingly helped out "that damned amateur" for solidarity's sake although he had cautioned Broun not to strike just for the experience and pleasure that the strike would give him. Beck was the commander of the original goons who got their name from a comic strip.

In what way were Hitler's Brown Shirts different from the goons of the United Auto Workers in Detroit and Flint when Frank Murphy, the governor, quailed before John L. Lewis and withheld the orders which the patriotic young soldiers of the National Guard awaited to restore the authority of their lawful government? The loyal troops were ready and the citizens hoped Murphy would give the word .But he betrayed them.

Most of our people were too young to understand that in that moment of treason to the state of Michigan, Murphy acted just as many regional authorities in Germany acted when Hitler challenged them to fight in the streets.

Hitler's men wore neat brown shirts, well-tailored riding breeches, fine high boots and square bill caps. Some of them carried dog-whips. The goons of the UAW of the CIO in Michigan wore the fore-and-aft cap which the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars had carried over from their days in France. They also wore brassards. They had their group-leaders and shock-squads in cars with radio communications. There was not a complete uniform but there have been wars in which a flower or a feather of one color or another was sufficient insignia. They did not carry dog-whips, but many carried bolts, pipe and tire-chains. These UAW goons were not striking employes of Pontiac or Chevrolet. Few of them ever had been so employed. Most of them were adventurers, including Communists, drawn in from other states, to drive the employes off their jobs. They were political adherents of Franklin D. Roosevelt, John L. Dog Loses Tail In Car Door, Bites Two Owners

Henry Morton, 50 and his sister, Clara, 42, both of Pine Hill were attacked and savagely bitten by their large Irish setter early this afternoon when the animal's tail was accidentally cut off in the car door according to Troopers H. S. Rhodes and James Gorman of Kingston state police.

The Mortons had stopped near the Avalon Restaurant on Route 28 to let the dog out for a moment. When it returned to the car the door shut on its tail cutting off the end of it. The animal enraged with pain attacked the Mortons viciously.

Mr. Morton suffered severe lacerations on his forehead and cheek and his sister "very bad lacerations" of both arms, hands and forehead according to troopers.

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, was notified and took possession of the dog.

Consumer Spending, Savings Study Set

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board will begin next month a two-month survey of consumer spending and savings plans in New York city and five other New York state areas.

They are among 12 metropolitan areas and 54 smaller communities across the nation to be studied in the annual survey through confidential interviews. Other than New York city, these New York state counties were chosen, the board announced last night:

Cortland, Nassau, Onondaga, Rensselaer and Westchester.

The board said the information gained in such studies has proved helpful in appraising plans for purchase of homes, cars and household appliances, and in gauging the general economic outlook.

Airliner Makes Emergency Landing

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 27 (AP)—An airliner with 46 persons aboard made an emergency landing at Bryce Canyon airport early today after a fire warning light flashed as the plane flew over the mountains of southern Utah.

The American Airlines DC7 was en route from Los Angeles to New York. Airline officials said the signal indicated fire in the No. 4 engine but none was discovered. However, after landing, flames shot from No. 1 engine in a torching effect and carbon dioxide extinguishers were used as a precautionary measure.

Cardinal McIntyre Is 'Much Improved'

Los Angeles, Dec. 27 (AP)—James Francis Cardinal McIntyre today was reported "much improved" from a respiratory infection from which he has suffered more than a week.

Although still confined to bed, he was said to be responding well to treatment and expected up in another week.

The Cardinal's illness forced him to forego plans to celebrate a solemn pontifical Mass at St. Vibiana's Cathedral on Christmas Day. He was also unable to attend his traditional Christmas party for children of the Catholic archdiocese earlier in the week.

Auto Mixup

Ottawa, Ont. (AP) — Donald Finlayson was quickly released after his arrest on charges of stealing a car. He went to pick up a friend's auto and found two machines of the same make and color at the parking place. His keys fitted both cars and he took the wrong one.

41 Are Dead

for an on-the-spot survey of Marysville, which escaped damage, and its neighbor, Yuba City, which was flooded. Continuing to Eureka, the group plans a helicopter tour of the Humboldt-Del Norte area. It will return to Hamilton Air Force Base near San Francisco.

The federal officials will tour the Santa Cruz region tomorrow.

Stricken Yuba City, almost abandoned since its Feather river levee broke Saturday, faces another crest today. Joe W. Sanderson, civilian defense coordinator, said water probably would return to earlier high marks, six feet up some walls.

Because of lack of water and sanitation, residents have been barred from returning to Yuba City. Dr. F. P. Wisner, health service director, declared, "we have to keep these people out of town lest a runaway health hazard be invited." He plans typhoid inoculations.

Some have revisited their homes, trying to salvage property while the city was two-thirds out of the flood. Those who attempted an early cleanup probably will have to take out the mud again after the latest crest.

The weather bureau predicts mostly clear skies today.

Playwright Dies

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—Robert Garland, 60-year-old playwright, scenario writer and former drama critic on newspapers here and in Baltimore, died early today following a stroke. He was drama critic for the New York Journal-American from 1943 to 1951. Previously he had been drama critic for the old New York World-Telegram and motion picture critic on the old New York American.

Pawling Mishap Fatal to Woman

Mrs. Theo Kurrus, 47, of Pawling was killed early Monday morning in a two-car collision on Route 22 just south of the village of Pawling it was reported by Brewster state police.

Mr. Kurrus, 47, his daughter, Jo Anne, 14 and Ernesto Barral of Danbury, Conn., were taken to area hospitals in serious condition troopers said.

Mr. Kurrus was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie, the daughter to Sharon Hospital, Sharon, Conn., and Mr. Barral to Danbury Hospital, Danbury.

State police said there were no details immediately available. The accident is still under investigation.

Waterloo Station, London, handles 664 trains daily.

50 Peronists Are Arrested

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Dec. 27 (AP)—Argentine officials say they arrested more than 50 military and civilian supporters of ex-dictator Juan Peron in raids over the Christmas weekend. One soldier was killed and a noncommissioned officer and a civilian were wounded during one of the roundups.

Informed sources said the plotters were linked with a conspiracy reported last week to embarrass the government of Provisional President Pedro Aramburu with strikes, sabotage, arson and other troublesome tactics.

Government statements said the arrests were made quickly and "traditional Christmas festivities have been celebrated with all normalcy."

Lost in Soviet Area

Berlin, Dec. 27 (AP)—An American Air Force sergeant from Paris who visited Berlin over Christmas has disappeared in the Soviet sector of Berlin after an automobile accident, U. S. officials disclosed today. The army said M. Sgt. Mike Kliman, Brooklyn, N. Y., was involved in a crash last night and was last seen being taken from a hospital by Communist police. Preliminary inquiry failed to locate Kliman's whereabouts. A request is being sent to the Russians to look into the case.

Self Service Law

South Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—Law and order, drive-in-style: The state policemen didn't even look up when a car moved slowly into the driveway of Company B headquarters and came to a stop at the curb. Out popped a 16-year-old youth, who strode over to the first trooper he saw and announced: "I stole that car two days ago and I want to turn myself in."

Dog Loses Tail In Car Door, Bites Two Owners

Henry Morton, 50 and his sister, Clara, 42, both of Pine Hill were attacked and savagely bitten by their large Irish setter early this afternoon when the animal's tail was accidentally cut off in the car door according to Troopers H. S. Rhodes and James Gorman of Kingston state police.

The Mortons had stopped near the Avalon Restaurant on Route 28 to let the dog out for a moment. When it returned to the car the door shut on its tail cutting off the end of it. The animal enraged with pain attacked the Mortons viciously.

Mr. Morton suffered severe lacerations on his forehead and cheek and his sister "very bad lacerations" of both arms, hands and forehead according to troopers.

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, was notified and took possession of the dog.

Consumer Spending, Savings Study Set

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board will begin next month a two-month survey of consumer spending and savings plans in New York city and five other New York state areas.

They are among 12 metropolitan areas and 54 smaller communities across the nation to be studied in the annual survey through confidential interviews. Other than New York city, these New York state counties were chosen, the board announced last night:

Cortland, Nassau, Onondaga, Rensselaer and Westchester.

The board said the information gained in such studies has proved helpful in appraising plans for purchase of homes, cars and household appliances, and in gauging the general economic outlook.

Airliner Makes Emergency Landing

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 27 (AP)—An airliner with 46 persons aboard made an emergency landing at Bryce Canyon airport early today after a fire warning light flashed as the plane flew over the mountains of southern Utah.

The American Airlines DC7 was en route from Los Angeles to New York. Airline officials said the signal indicated fire in the No. 4 engine but none was discovered. However, after landing, flames shot from No. 1 engine in a torching effect and carbon dioxide extinguishers were used as a precautionary measure.

Cardinal McIntyre Is 'Much Improved'

Los Angeles, Dec. 27 (AP)—James Francis Cardinal McIntyre today was reported "much improved" from a respiratory infection from which he has suffered more than a week.

Although still confined to bed, he was said to be responding well to treatment and expected up in another week.

The Cardinal's illness forced him to forego plans to celebrate a solemn pontifical Mass at St. Vibiana's Cathedral on Christmas Day. He was also unable to attend his traditional Christmas party for children of the Catholic archdiocese earlier in the week.

Auto Mixup

Ottawa, Ont. (AP) — Donald Finlayson was quickly released after his arrest on charges of stealing a car. He went to pick up a friend's auto and found two machines of the same make and color at the parking place. His keys fitted both cars and he took the wrong one.

41 Are Dead

for an on-the-spot survey of Marysville, which escaped damage, and its neighbor, Yuba City, which was flooded. Continuing to Eureka, the group plans a helicopter tour of the Humboldt-Del Norte area. It will return to Hamilton Air Force Base near San Francisco.

The federal officials will tour the Santa Cruz region tomorrow.

Stricken Yuba City, almost abandoned since its Feather river levee broke Saturday, faces another crest today. Joe W. Sanderson, civilian defense coordinator, said water probably would return to earlier high marks, six feet up some walls.

Because of lack of water and sanitation, residents have been barred from returning to Yuba City. Dr. F. P. Wisner, health service director, declared, "we have to keep these people out of town lest a runaway health hazard be invited." He plans typhoid inoculations.

Some have revisited their homes, trying to salvage property while the city was two-thirds out of the flood. Those who attempted an early cleanup probably will have to take out the mud again after the latest crest.

The weather bureau predicts mostly clear skies today.

Playwright Dies

50 Peronists Are Arrested

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Dec. 27 (AP)—Argentine officials say they arrested more than 50 military and civilian supporters of ex-dictator Juan Peron in raids over the Christmas weekend. One soldier was killed and a noncommissioned officer and a civilian were wounded during one of the roundups.

Informed sources said the plotters were linked with a conspiracy reported last week to embarrass the government of Provisional President Pedro Aramburu with strikes, sabotage, arson and other troublesome tactics.

Government statements said the arrests were made quickly and "traditional Christmas festivities have been celebrated with all normalcy."

Lost in Soviet Area

Berlin, Dec. 27 (AP)—An American Air Force sergeant from Paris who visited Berlin over Christmas has disappeared in the Soviet sector of Berlin after an automobile accident, U. S. officials disclosed today. The army said M. Sgt. Mike Kliman, Brooklyn, N. Y., was involved in a crash last night and was last seen being taken from a hospital by Communist police. Preliminary inquiry failed to locate Kliman's whereabouts. A request is being sent to the Russians to look into the case.

Self Service Law

South Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—Law and order, drive-in-style: The state policemen didn't even look up when a car moved slowly into the driveway of Company B headquarters and came to a stop at the curb. Out popped a 16-year-old youth, who strode over to the first trooper he saw and announced: "I stole that car two days ago and I want to turn myself in."

Plating and coinage are two of the oldest uses of the metal nickel.

Pawling Mishap Fatal to Woman

Mrs. Theo Kurrus, 47, of Pawling was killed early Monday morning in a two-car collision on Route 22 just south of the village of Pawling it was reported by Brewster state police.

Mr. Kurrus, 47, his daughter, Jo Anne, 14 and Ernesto Barral of Danbury, Conn., were taken to area hospitals in serious condition troopers said.

Mr. Kurrus was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie, the daughter to Sharon Hospital, Sharon, Conn., and Mr. Barral to Danbury Hospital, Danbury.

State police said there were no details immediately available. The accident is still under investigation.

Peace and Good Will

By FRANK TRIPP

My mother had an old aunt who stopped making Christmas plum pudding; she said, because she had never been able to equal one of many years ago. I know how she felt, for of a grist of annual efforts, I haven't bettered "Peace and Good Will." So here it is again, with Christmas greetings to all:

Just what is peace on earth, good will to men? Is it something to get or something to give? The Christmas cards don't say. Where do you get peace and good will if you haven't any?

A child asked me these questions. He was confused. Not half as confused as I, who couldn't answer him — not so he could understand. That convinced me that I didn't understand either. Therefore I thought hard about it.

If peace and good will could be bought in stores more people would have them. Anyway everybody would know that they were something anybody could have —for a price.

And once in a while there'd be a clearance sale and peace and good will would be marked down. A bit shopworn maybe— or perhaps out of style.

WHEN I GOT that far I thought I had the answer. Out of style, that's it! Why, it was simple enough, all of the time. Plain, wholesome, ordinary folks, who don't worry much about fashion, seem to have the most peace.

Then, when you need something that money won't buy—sympathy, affection, pity or downright drudgery for the good they can do—they're the ones who seem to have the most good will.

Sure, I see it now. You get peace and good will but you don't keep them. You give them away. And the more you give the more you have. That doesn't make sense, but it must be true, for I checked it against people I know.

THERE'LL BE all kinds of Christmases again this year. There'll be houses where the day will pass almost unnoticed. There'll be those where cranky children quarrel over vulgar stacks of gifts—enough for a whole orphanage.

There'll be others where a mother's kiss, a father's smile and crude homemade toys will keep a kiddie happy all day long.

If you're out looking for peace and good will, search out that home. Or any time you need whet your faith in humankind, go there.

OH, YES, there's many a place where the counterfeit can be had —glamour and conviviality. But the genuine article dwells in humble hearts and lowly places.

I have written of a man and place where peace abounds for me. I called him the richest man I know. His little shop is my haven and retreat. I go there to drink content with life, to view his reward for love of fellow man; to seek the formulae.

COVETOUSNESS and greed have never crossed the threshold of this spot. Its master radiates happiness and understanding as he hums his days into four score years of the only wealth that can endure — the wealth of warmth which kindness wrought.

He proves to me that peace cannot be bought. It must be earned.

So I'm going back and try to make a story that my little friend can grasp.

I'll tell him that good will is the kind things we think about people, the nice things we do for them; and that peace is what we get for doing it.

Drive-In Cleanup

Tallahassee, Fla. (AP)—Drive-in trash cans are Florida's latest method of coaxing motorists not to scatter rubbish along the highways. Signs along the right-of-way advise drivers they are approaching the cans which are set back from the road and reached by semi-circular approaches. All the motorist has to to is pause briefly, lean out the car window, drop in his trash and be on his way.

Preacher, Clerk Make Marriage Possible

Los Angeles, Dec. 27 (AP)—A Ft. Ord soldier and a girl from North Stockholm, N. Y., were married Christmas eve on a few days notice with the help of a preacher from Oregon and a sympathetic marriage license clerk.

Pfc. Donald Campbell, 19, and Janice C. Clary, 18, made the arrangements after a telephone conversation.

Campbell took his health examination on the base. Janice took hers at North Stockholm.

The Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, a Baptist minister from Portland, Ore., took Campbell to the license bureau where they induced a clerk to take the license home with her. Janice's plane was not due until after the license bureau had closed. Dr. Brougher was spending the holidays here.

The minister and bridegroom met the girl and whisked her to the clerk's home, where both parties signed the license. They returned downtown for the wedding at the Biltmore Hotel.

The Campbells are honeymooning here until Thursday, when they will move into an apartment in Monterey, near Ft. Ord.

Prosperity Keys

Disposable income is one of the most important keys to America's prosperity. An abundance of dollars, backed by confidence and courage, can make the economic wheels of our country spin. And that is the situation today as 1956 is about to be ushered in.

For over a month in New York city and in prominent cities in the east, I have been asking four different types of citizens about their own disposable income. For the most part, everything has been favorable.

I talked with (1) workers in durable goods' industries, (2) in non-durable lines, (3) service employees; elevator men, bus drivers, milkmen, and (4) a great variety of stockholders. It has been an exhilarating experience.

SOMETIMES STATISTICS do not accurately reflect the actual condition within an industry. But on this occasion, both the durable and non-durable goods' workers were cheered by their growing disposable income that increased wages brought them. Their buoyancy stemmed from a solid economic foundation.

To illustrate: during October, 1954, the average hourly wage of the durable goods' worker was $1.93. This year in October it was $2.04. For the non-durable goods' worker the comparable figures for 1954 and 1955 were $1.66 and $1.72 an hour.

The service men with whom I talked were even more buoyant. Two Broadway, New York city bus drivers told me they have never had it so good. One of them waxed eloquent when he told me that when fares go to 15 cents from 13 cents, he is to get eight cents more an hour. "It all adds up!" he said confidently.

And the situation with stockholders is rosy. 1955 has been a year of split-ups, extra cash dividends and stock declarations. Disposable income in these forms runs into the millions of dollars. (An ebullient stockholder, now retired, recently took $5,000 of his capital gains and extra dividends and started on a coast-to-coast trip. He will help to promote prosperity wherever he goes.)

I have an idea that this winter season (if the weather is good) will be a great one from the economic standpoint because of the tremendous outpouring of disposable income going to stockholders.

Another important item on the Congressional agenda in 1956 is the prospective cut in income taxes. Reduction of such imposts can have a tremendous psychological effect on millions of people. Our leaders in Washington who are trying to reduce taxes and thus give the people more of their own money to spend are doing something salutary for economic America.

It is for reasons briefly mentioned here that I can't get bearish on the stock market. Equity prices are high and selling squalls are inevitable. But with capital gains' taxes such as they are, the Dow-Jones averages would have to sell off a hundred points to enable stockholders of five years' standing to reinstate their positions after paying taxes.

1956 will be a year when all investors and speculators must have strong convictions about their dollars and other assets. Every person is a law unto himself. And that should mean that before 1956 arrives, each person should take stock of himself and arrange and rearrange his possessions in the light of his greatest need.

I shall write of this next week.

Report Is Made On Business Firms

Washington, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Commerce Department said today there were about 4,200,000 business firms in operation at the end of 1954 and that their average age was seven years.

The report said more than 60 per cent of all businesses operating at the end of 1954 had been acquired by their owners since the end of World War 2.

There has been little change in the number of business firms operating in the United States in the past several years, but change in ownership has been considerable.

About 30 per cent of the firms in operation at the end of 1954 were 10 years or more old, and some 12 per cent were as young as 6 months.

Higher Living Costs Pose Big Question for Next Year

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—The new year poses one big question: Will the cost of living go higher?

On the face of it the pressures all add up to the answer: Yes. But offsetting the manufacturers raising prices and those pawing the ground in eagerness to do so are an array of others cutting prices for competitive reasons, plus the prospects of food price stability.

METALS ARE CAST in a double role in the inflation drama. Rising prices of unprocessed metals push higher the price of consumer goods, or at least the cost of making these goods out of metals. But, equally important, metal shortages threaten to put a more effective governor on the business boom than credit restraint has been able to do.

Metal shortages are world wide. Slowly rising production capacity hasn't been able, so far, to help much. The new year promises better.

Even the current slowing down of the car makers' breakneck pace hasn't done much more than take a little pressure off the steel mills' vice presidents in charge of deliveries. Backlogs of orders from other metal using industries keep the mills going at 98 per cent of capacity even in this holiday-riddled week.

SHORTAGES HAVE pushed metal prices up slowly for months. American producers who have tried to hold the line—if for no other reason than that they fear higher prices will encourage substitutes — have run into one of the facts of life: When Europeans, prospering as never before, are willing to pay more for metals, they get the lion's share, and Americans have to scrounge and pay premium prices.

Manufacturers, with their material costs up and their labor costs rising, say they should hike prices on the goods they sell the public. Some already have.

That others have hesitated can be traced to these factors: The business boom has boosted sales volume so high that the increased costs can be absorbed along the way from factory to store, and reduced markups still yield good total earnings; and competition among companies has reached a stage where raising prices to fit increased costs could mean a loss of sales that might prove disastrous.

AN EXAMPLE is the home appliance field. Rising cost of materials has led to some price hikes of finished products for the home. But in recent days, some of the major producers have cut prices, as much as 30 per cent. Management cost control has been given much of the credit. The trade, however, suspects, that increasing competition is just as important.

On the general scene, some observers are now questioning whether a rise in the cost of living is inevitable even if metal prices continue to rise for a time.

As long as there are metal shortages on one hand, and booming consumer demand for metallic products on the other, the pressure for price inflation will be a threat—probably for several months more. But many now question whether the expected increase in the price of metals early in the new year necessarily will suck other commodities into a price-rising spiral.

FOR ONE THING, many industrialists feel that the feared overproduction in the first half of 1956 won't materialize because the metal shortage won't let it. This might push some prices higher but it wouldn't mean the boom-and-bust that so often is associated with inflation.

More important, the price of food shows little sign of rising. And things made of metal, as often as not, are things that people can buy or forego as they choose.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Do you ever stop to think? Of course you do; no rudeness intended, dear reader. The Ruminator asks the question merely to emphasize a primary point concerning the Theory of Contrary Opinion.

A FRIEND and I were discussing some of the principles of "contrary thinking" recently, when he summed it up this way:

"If I understand your Theory, the reason it usually pays to consider the contrary viewpoint on major public questions, is because the public ("the crowd") doesn't think—that is, people do not know how to think clearly and accurately.

"And because the majority of people do not stop to think 'thoughtfully', the crowd is frequently wrong in their guesses. Conversely, the minority opinion is, surprisingly often, the right opinion."

This is a rather well thought-out explanation of the Contrary Theory, but I should like to add this further observation: If you acquire the habit of contrary reflection and ruminating you gain, I believe, a new dimension in thinking. You solve problems and make decisions because you have rounded out the whole picture. You deal with the missing parts that complete it.

In order that we shall not get to too serious during the holiday season of good cheer, let me write a few paragraphs on what I'll call "The value of being confused."

It is common to bemoan the confused state of affairs, when we're trying to arrive at decisions. Quite often, however, we use the confusion as an excuse for not thinking.

I contrarily believe there is value in bewilderment, in being confused.

CONSIDER an opposite to uncertainty and confusion; namely dogmatism. I dare to say more important errors in decisions arise from dogmatic opinions than from what we might term "confused considerations."

If when you're confused and uncertain, you put the matter in the back of your mind and let it sort of kaleidoscope around until the various pieces of the problem take on definite shape and meaning, you find the uncertainty fading away.

The result is that from initial bewilderment over a given problem you come up with a thrously thought-out solution.

Whereas, one's dogmatic opinions and conclusions, hastily arrived at and carelessly dealth with, are quite likely to prove wrong.

I do not for a moment suggest that rapid decisions made on a basis of full knowledge of a problem are ill-advised. Quite the contrary. I'm referring to quick decisions made from an unstable basis of confusion and lack of knowledge of a given problem.

THE CONTRARY approach is helpful when one is confused. Turn the problem upside down, as it were, and go at it from an angle which seems wrong. It is surprising how often an apparently wrong approach becomes the right method to hit upon a right solution.

If you're committed too something and are confused, for example, consider what your decision would be if you were "out instead of in." Successful speculators have found this good practice in the stock market, by the way. Often a person who has brought stocks will wonder if he made a mistake. He becomes more confused, as he thinks he may have done wrong. In such cases it helps to stop and think the other way around: If I had not gone into the market would I now go in? This brings new reasoning into play. If the answer is "yes," the confusion fades away. If the answer is "no," there's only one move to make: get out, and start over again when the reasons are better fortified.

Considering the muddled condition of world affairs, and the domestic political situation, you will have full opportunity to try out this contrary approach to confusion in the months ahead.

In the meantime, the Ruminator offers you his heartiest good wish for a Happy Christmas and Contented New Year. There is no confusion here and no contrary opinions involved!

In olden times, the crow was termed a bird of evil omen because of its black plumage.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

This is as good a time as any to tell about the "Ice King." Remember the way she used to ride up on the sheets of ice in the creek and river and by her sheer weight and strength break through it. For a detailed story on her history I refer my readers to the articles in the "Steamship Bill of Facts" a journal of the steamboat Historical Society of America. In the June and September 1955 issues are pictures from Donald C. Ringwald's collection and story. Most folks remember the old Norwich as she was officially known, also printed right on her side, "Oldest steamboat in the world, built in 1836." Mr. Ringwald writes, that her renown as an icebreaker was acquired because of her construction. "The shape of her hull was in part break it through with sheer the secret of her success...for it was such that she was able to run her bow up onto the ice and weight, a natural proclivity which was aided by the use of ballast properly placed aft. Her bottom, of course, was copper-sheeted and during the winter months her bow was fitted with iron sheathing to protect her planking as much as possible. "Of course when the "Ice King" was up to her tricks on the ice everyone who could would run down to the waterfront and watch, Mr. Ringwald writes: "This method of breaking ice by literally climb-ing out on it, at times, caused her to assume extreme lists, but it was effective. She usually got where she was going. If she didn't, the waterfront sages generally agreed that no steamboat could."

Her history cannot be retold in one sitting. The Norwich was another of those sidewheelers with personality and was as well known to the young ones of past generations as a Davy Crockett hat is today. She was built in 1836 by Lawrence and Sneden at New York city for the New London and Norwich Steamboat Co. for service as a passenger and freight boat on Long Island Sound. She bowed to river society on June 27, 1836 when she was first enrolled at New London. Mr. Ringwald writes: "Originally Norwich apparently carried two boilers on the guards, since she is shown with two stack wide abreast in the background of the Bards' water color of the steamboat Providence of 1832. At the time of the first reboilering a few years after she was built, they were evidently replaced by the one boiler in the hold."

For a time she was used as a passenger steamer on various other waters, but on March 12, 1842 she was enrolled at New York with James Cunningham of the firm who built her engine, as sole owner. At the time 192,000 tons of coal were being unloaded from canal boats at our Rondout, for further shipment by barges or sailing vessels, during the old D and H Canal days. During those early days there were only two round trips a week by steamboat, besides carrying passengers and freight, the steamboats towed both the passenger and market freight barges, and barges for freight exclusively. So in 1843 the Norwich united with the Emerald to form the New York and Kingston Steam Freight and Passage Line which had the field to itself.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Do you ever stop to think? Of course you do; no rudeness intended, dear reader. The Ruminator asks the question merely to emphasize a primary point concerning the Theory of Contrary Opinion.

A FRIEND and I were discussing some of the principles of "contrary thinking" recently, when he summed it up this way:

"If I understand your Theory, the reason it usually pays to consider the contrary viewpoint on major public questions, is because the public ("the crowd") doesn't think—that is, people do not know how to think clearly and accurately.

"And because the majority of people do not stop to think 'though fully', the crowd is frequently wrong in their guesses. Conversely, the minority opinion is, surprisingly often, the right opinion."

This is a rather well thought-out explanation of the Contrary Theory, but I should like to add this further observation: If you acquire the habit of contrary reflection and ruminating you gain, I believe, a new dimension in thinking. You solve problems and make decisions because you have rounded out the whole picture. You deal with the missing parts that complete it.

In order that we shall not get to too serious during the holiday season of good cheer, let me write a few paragraphs on what I'll call "The value of being confused."

It is common to bemoan the confused state of affairs, when we're trying to arrive at decisions. Quite often, however, we use the confusion as an excuse for not thinking.

I contrarily believe there is value in bewilderment, in being confused.

CONSIDER an opposite to uncertainty and confusion; namely dogmatism. I dare to say more important errors in decisions arise from dogmatic opinions than from what we might term "confused considerations."

If when you're confused and uncertain, you put the matter in the back of your mind and let it sort of kaleidoscope around until the various pieces of the problem take on definite shape and meaning, you find the uncertainty fading away.

The result is that from initial bewilderment over a given problem you come up with a throughly thought-out solution.

Whereas, one's dogmatic opinions and conclusions, hastily arrived at and carelessly dealth with, are quite likely to prove wrong.

I do not for a moment suggest that rapid decisions made on a basis of full knowledge of a problem are ill-advised. Quite the contrary. I am referring to quick decisions made from an unstable basis of confusion and lack of knowledge of a given problem.

THE CONTRARY approach is helpful when one is confused. Turn the problem upside down, as it were, and go at it from an angle which seems wrong. It is surprising how often an apparently wrong approach becomes the right method to hit upon a right solution.

If you're committed too something and are confused, for example, consider what your decision would be if you were "out instead of in." Successful speculators have found this good practice in the stock market, by the way. Often a person who has brought stocks will wonder if he made a mistake. He becomes more confused, as he thinks he may have done wrong. In such cases it helps to stop and think the other way around: If I had not gone into the market would I now go in? This brings new reasoning into play. If the answer is "yes," the confusion fades away. If the answer is "no," there's only one move to make: get out, and start over again when the reasons are better fortified.

Considering the muddled condition of world affairs, and the domestic political situation, you will have full opportunity to try out this contrary approach to confusion in the months ahead.

In the meantime, the Ruminator offers you his heartiest good wish for a Happy Christmas and Contented New Year. There is no confusion here and no contrary opinions involved!

In olden times, the crow was termed a bird of evil omen because of its black plumage.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dwyer

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dwyer of 70 West Chestnut street announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Mary, to Robert J. Ryan, son of Mrs. Clarence L. Gannon of this city, and the late William D. Ryan. The prospective bride is a graduate of the College of Mt. St. Vincent and received her Master's Degree in Education from the University of the State of New York at New Paltz. She is a member of the Junior League of Kingston, and is on the faculty of School No. 7 of the Kingston school system.

Mr. Ryan is a graduate of Kingston High School and has served in the United States Navy. He is presently attending Siena College, Loudonville, and is associated with the Albany office of The Grolier Society, Inc.

A summer wedding is planned.

Frank Campochiaro Helen Rickards Are Married at Albany

Mrs. Helen Rickards of Albany and Frank Campochiaro of Glasco were united in marriage before a nuptial Mass in St. Patrick's Church, Albany by the Rev. Joseph Trembley, assistant pastor, at 10 o'clock on Monday, December 26.

Red poinsettias and white chrysanthemums banked in gold vases formed a beautiful Yuletide setting for the ceremony.

The couple were attended by Mary Campochiaro of Glasco and Peter Campochiaro of Troy, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore blue lace over mauve taffeta, cocktail length, with white hat and white shoes to match. She carried a white prayerbook wth white orchids. The maid of honor was attired in rose taffeta, with white hat and white shoes to match. She carried lavender orchids.

Joseph J. Rickards, son of the bride, assisted in the ceremony as altar boy.

The organist was Lester La Foytaine and the soloist Joseph Carroll of Albany, a friend of the bride and bridegroom.

The ushers were Nicholas Riccio of Glasco and Anthony Riccio of Troy, cousins of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate family was held at the Flamingo, Glasco.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob J. Schwalbe of Albany, is employed in the New York State Senate.

Mr. Campochiaro, son of Mrs. Cecilia Campochiaro of Glasco, is an attorney with law offices in Kingston. He also has been associated with Senator Arthur H. Wicks as journal clerk of the Senate of New York state for a number of years.

Here's a tandem of good wishes for you: May you have the best New Year ever, and may all the years ahead roll merrily along for you.

Kimbark-Vernooy Nuptials Are Held

Miss Elaine M. Kimbark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvel G. Kimbark of 361 Washington avenue, became the bride of Ronald W. Vernooy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vernooy of 5 Vincent street, Wednesday, Dec. 21 at 8 p. m. before a candlelight ceremony at St. James Methodist Church. The Rev. Kenneth N. Alexander performed the double ring ceremony.

Raymond Corey was at the organ and Mrs. Doris Walker sang, "O, Promise Me and Because."

The church was decorated with white pointsettias and the pews were marked with satin bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of rose pointe lace posed over bridal satin, fashioned with a sequin embroidered bodice, long sleeves tapering to a point at the wrist, and a Vee neckline. Her bouffant floor length skirt of double nylon tulle featured a deep pointed peplum of lace.

Her long French illusion veil was secured to a bridal cap of matching lace embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade of white pointsettias.

Miss Sandra Kotrady of 27 Emerson street was the maid of honor and she wore a gown of peacock blue iridescent taffeta, styled with a fitted bodice and a very full floor length skirt. She wore a matching jacket with bracelet length sleeves and carried a cascade of white and red pointsettias.

Bridesmaids included Miss Betty Mautone of Linderman avenue and Miss Elma Vernooy of Woodbourne. Their gowns were identical in style and color to that of the maid of honor.

Miss Maria Carro was the flower girl and she wore a gown of pastel blue nylon tulle, styled with a basque bodice, tiny puffed sleeves, and a lace banded floor length skirt. She wore a tiny heart shaped plateau hat. The flower girl carried red and white carnations in an old fashioned bouquet.

Best man for his brother was Gary Vernooy of 5 Vincent street. Ushers included Michael Altomari of Albany avenue, Clayton Bouton, Glen street, Gene Massa, Merilina avenue and Amos MacCreery of West O'Reilly street.

Child ringbearer was Charles Wesley.

A reception was held at Ray's Riverside Restaurant for approximately 150 guests.

Miss Kimbark is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by the State of New York National Bank.

The bridegroom graduated from Kingston High School and attended Albany State Teachers College. He is a member of Sigma Lambda Sigma and is also in the naval reserve. He is employed by the Wiltwyck Golf Club.

For her trip south, the bride chose a dress of pink faille with black accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses.

The couple will reside on Vincent street.

Zigzag Eating

A letter tells me: "I am a European and was taught when eating with a knife and fork to hold the fork in the left hand and to eat with the left hand while cutting the meat with the right. My friend insists that this is wrong. She holds the fork in the right hand and every time she has to use the knife, she switches the fork to the left hand, picks up the knife in her right hand, cuts a piece of meat, puts down the knife and switches the fork to her right hand, eats the piece of meat and then starts all over again. This seems to me not only time taking but very elementary. I have been all over Europe and everywhere people eat the way I do except here—at least I have not seen anyone eat the way I do. Please tell me if the method of eating is different here, or if the people seen don't know how to eat."

Zigzag eating or constantly changing the fork from one hand to the other is an American provincialism and while certainly not wrong, is not the best table manners.

Bride Has No Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning a small church wedding and reception. Since neither of my parents are living, I was wondering if it would be proper to have my brother's name (he is my closest relative but only twenty-three years of age) appear on my wedding invitations? Also, may he give me away. Some people claim he is too young and that I should have an uncle do this. I would appreciate hearing from you.

Answer: If your brother is very much younger than you, it would be best for you and your fiance to send out your own invitations, But if there is little difference in your ages, the invitations could go out in his name. In any case, he can certainly give you away.

After Dinner Coffee Spoons

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been given some after dinner coffee spoons for a present. As I never serve demi tasse, could I properly use these spoons with regular sized coffee cups. If so, are they placed on the saucer or beside the plate with the other silver?

Answer: It will be impossible to use such very small spoons with any cups larger than demi tasse.

Where do the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Questions on the receiving line and other details on wedding procedure are included in leaflet E-2, "Wedding Procedure." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Elizabeth Dwyer Is Engaged to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dwyer of 70 West Chestnut street announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Mary, to Robert J. Ryan, son of Mrs. Clarence L. Gannon of this city, and the late William D. Ryan. The prospective bride is a graduate of the College of Mt. St. Vincent and received her Master's Degree in Education from the University of the State of New York at New Paltz. She is a member of the Junior League of Kingston, and is on the faculty of School No. 7 of the Kingston school system.

Mr. Ryan is a graduate of Kingston High School and has served in the United States Navy. He is presently attending Siena College, Loudonville, and is associated with the Albany office of The Grolier Society, Inc.

A summer wedding is planned.

Frank Campochiaro Helen Rickards Are Married at Albany

Mrs. Helen Rickards of Albany and Frank Campochiaro of Glasco were united in marriage before a nuptial Mass in St. Patrick's Church, Albany by the Rev. Joseph Trembley, assistant pastor, at 10 o'clock on Monday, December 26.

Red poinsettias and white chrysanthemums banked in gold vases formed a beautiful Yuletide setting for the ceremony.

The couple were attended by Mary Campochiaro of Glasco and Peter Campochiaro of Troy, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore blue lace over mauve taffeta, cocktail length, with white hat and white shoes to match. She carried a white prayerbook wth white orchids. The maid of honor was attired in rose taffeta, with white hat and white shoes to match. She carried lavender orchids.

Joseph J. Rickards, son of the bride, assisted in the ceremony as altar boy.

The organist was Lester La Foytaine and the soloist Joseph Carroll of Albany, a friend of the bride and bridegroom.

The ushers were Nicholas Riccio of Glasco and Anthony Riccio of Troy, cousins of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate family was held at the Flamingo, Glasco.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob J. Schwalbe of Albany, is employed in the New York State Senate.

Mr. Campochiaro, son of Mrs. Cecilia Campochiaro of Glasco, is an attorney with law offices in Kingston. He also has been associated with Senator Arthur H. Wicks as journal clerk of the Senate of New York state for a number of years.

Kimbark-Vernooy Nuptials Are Held

Miss Elaine M. Kimbark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvel G. Kimbark of 361 Washington avenue, became the bride of Ronald W. Vernooy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vernooy of 5 Vincent street, Wednesday, Dec. 21 at 8 p. m. before a candlelight ceremony at St. James Methodist Church. The Rev. Kenneth N. Alexander performed the double ring ceremony.

Raymond Corey was at the organ and Mrs. Doris Walker sang, "O, Promise Me and Because."

The church was decorated with white pointsettias and the pews were marked with satin bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of rose pointe lace posed over bridal satin, fashioned with a sequin embroidered bodice, long sleeves tapering to a point at the wrist, and a Vee neckline. Her bouffant floor length skirt of double nylon tulle featured a deep pointed peplum of lace.

Her long French illusion veil was secured to a bridal cap of matching lace embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade of white pointsettias.

Miss Sandra Kotrady of 27 Emerson street was the maid of honor and she wore a gown of peacock blue iridescent taffeta, styled with a fitted bodice and a very full floor length skirt. She wore a matching jacket with bracelet length sleeves and carried a cascade of white and red pointsettias.

Bridesmaids included Miss Betty Mautone of Linderman avenue and Miss Elma Vernooy of Woodbourne. Their gowns were identical in style and color to that of the maid of honor.

Miss Maria Carro was the flower girl and she wore a gown of pastel blue nylon tulle, styled with a basque bodice, tiny puffed sleeves, and a lace banded floor length skirt. She wore a tiny heart shaped plateau hat. The flower girl carried red and white carnations in an old fashioned bouquet.

Best man for his brother was Gary Vernooy of 5 Vincent street. Ushers included Michael Altomari of Albany avenue, Clayton Bouton, Glen street, Gene Massa, Merilina avenue and Amos MacCreery of West O'Reilly street.

Child ringbearer was Charles Wesley.

A reception was held at Ray's Riverside Restaurant for approximately 150 guests.

Miss Kimbark is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by the State of New York National Bank.

The bridegroom graduated from Kingston High School and attended Albany State Teachers College. He is a member of Sigma Lambda Sigma and is also in the naval reserve. He is employed by the Wiltwyck Golf Club.

For her trip south, the bride chose a dress of pink faille with black accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses.

The couple will reside on Vincent street.

Zigzag Eating

A letter tells me: "I am a European and was taught when eating with a knife and fork to hold the fork in the left hand and to eat with the left hand while cutting the meat with the right. My friend insists that this is wrong. She holds the fork in the right hand and every time she has to use the knife, she switches the fork to the left hand, picks up the knife in her right hand, cuts a piece of meat, puts down the knife and switches the fork to her right hand, eats the piece of meat and then starts all over again. This seems to me not only time taking but very elementary. I have been all over Europe and everywhere people eat the way I do except here—at least I have not seen anyone eat the way I do. Please tell me if the method of eating is different here, or if the people seen don't know how to eat."

Zigzag eating or constantly changing the fork from one hand to the other is an American provincialism and while certainly not wrong, is not the best table manners.

Bride Has No Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning a small church wedding and reception. Since neither of my parents are living, I was wondering if it would be proper to have my brother's name (he is my closest relative but only twenty-three years of age) appear on my wedding invitations? Also, may he give me away. Some people claim he is too young and that I should have an uncle do this. I would appreciate hearing from you.

Answer: If your brother is very much younger than you, it would be best for you and your fiance to send out your own invitations, But if there is little difference in your ages, the invitations could go out in his name. In any case, he can certainly give you away.

After Dinner Coffee Spoons

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been given some after dinner coffee spoons for a present. As I never serve demi tasse, could I properly use these spoons with regular sized coffee cups. If so, are they placed on the saucer or beside the plate with the other silver?

Answer: It will be impossible to use such very small spoons with any cups larger than demi tasse.

Where do the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Questions on the receiving line and other details on wedding procedure are included in leaflet E-2, "Wedding Procedure." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Girl Scout News

Brownie Troop 63 and Intermediate Troop 71 of St. Mary's parish held their annual Christmas party Friday, Dec. 16 in the school hall. The Brownies presented a skit entitled, "The Runaway Toys." This was followed by a dramatization of "The Christmas Story." Paulette Ahrens of Troop 71 played carols on the violin, Helen McDermott and Mary Ann Stenson also sang. The entertainment concluded with Troop 71 presenting a play written by Mrs. Frank Graney, leader.

The mothers received gifts which were made by the girls and then refreshments were served by the committee.

The entire program was tape recorded and will be sent to the Rev. John J. Drew, MM, former assistant in St. Mary's now stationed on Formosa. Father Drew had sent a recording of his Christmas program which included carols in Chinese.

U. S. Flyer Killed

Wiesbaden, Germany, Dec. 27 (AP)—Capt. Henry Kane, 35, a staff officer of the U. S. Air Force's European headquarters, was killed Dec. 23 when a jet reconnaissance bomber he was ferrying from Laon, France, crashed at Sembach Air Base in West Germany, it was announced today. Kane of Long Island City, N. Y., was flying to Fuerstenfeldbruck in Bavaria when his gyro-compass failed. Kane is survived by his widow and one child, who had resided with him in Wiesbaden.

New Drugs

rotic and psychiotics with little or no obvious disturbance, said Dr. Frank J. Ayd, Jr., of Baltimore. They are not a cure for schizophrenia, he emphasized. But properly used, they can lessen hospital stays for some patients and speed normal recovery. They also look promising for treating psychosomatic illnesses, he said.

Drs. Herman Denber and Etta G. Bird of Manhattan State Hospital, New York, said chlorpromazine improved more than 80 per cent of 1,300 men and women mental patients, of whom nearly 200 were sent home.

ANOTHER DRUG, meratran, helps combat the depression or blues that send some people off on alcoholic binges, said Dr. Richard C. Proctor of Winston-Salem, N. C. Twenty of 26 patients stayed free of alcoholic bouts during four to six months time when they took the drug whenever they felt the blues coming on.

Another tension-relieving drug, miltown, brought improvement in varying degree to most of 300 patients hospitalized with different types of mental illnesses, said Dr. Veronica Pennington of Mississippi State Hospital at Whitfield, Miss. Three per cent recovered completely, and 33 were able to go home with severe symptoms much relieved.

KHS Group Hosts To International Fraternity Here

A meeting of the National executive board of the Upsilon Lambda Phi Fraternity, Inc., international high school fraternity, was being held in Kingston today as guests of Beta Eta chapter of Kingston. Among the matters to be determined by the board was the place for holding the next National meeting.

PRESIDENT OF the host chapter is Irving Zwilling of the Kingston High School chapter. Other chapters in the Hudson Valley are at Hudson, Albany, Poughkeepsie and Yonkers. The fraternity is a member of the Inter-Fraternity Congress.

Beta Eta chapter of Kingston is one of the newest of the fraternity having received its charter this year.

ATTENDING THE board meeting here was Jesse Choper of Wilkes Barre, Pa., master Ulp; Gordon Milman of Washington, D. C., deputy master Ulp; Nordon Migdol of Rochester, secretarial Ulp and Larry Schanyz of Newark, N. J., and Robert Ruderman of Brooklyn, members at large. All meetings of the board were being held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The fraternity was organized at Newark, N. J., in 1917 and now has over 60 chapters chartered throughout the east from Montreal, Canada, to Richmond, Va. The organization has as its charitable objective, assistance to the muscular distrophy program and contributes several thousands of dollars annually to that national charity.

Picket Line Melees

Pittsburgh, Dec. 27 (AP)—Two picket line melees broke out today at widely scattered plans of the struck Westinghouse Electric Corp. A fist-swinging, rock-throwing free-for-all erupted at the Sharon, Pa., transformer plant, sending three men to the hospital. Four men were arrested in a scuffle at the Bridgeport, Conn., plant. Meanwhile, negotiating teams for Westinghouse and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers renewed peace efforts in Pittsburgh. No progress was reported.

Here's New Year's Eve Fare That Will Pack a Wallop

STUFFED BOLOGNA ROLLS are just one of the fine "finger foods" you can serve with soft drinks on a Happy New Year Eve.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Celebrate the birth of 1956 with bubbly soft drinks and tangy, stuffed bologna rolls. Add salted nuts for nibbling, ice cream and cake for dessert, and the crowd will be happy, well-fed and will be able to drive home safely.

Stuffed Bologna Rolls
(Makes 2 dozen)

Two dozen thin slices bologna (5-inch size), 2 dozen frankfurter rolls.

Vegetable filling: Mix together in large bowl: 2 cups chopped, shredded cabbage; 1 cup shredded carrot, 1 cup minced celery, 1/3 cup minced green pepper, ¼ cup minced chives or onion.

Aspic dressing: Six hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, ¼ cup chili sauce, 2 cups bottled, carbonated beverage (cola, ginger ale or lemon-lime type); 2 bouillon cubes, 2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin.

Shell eggs, separate and mash yolks, blend with mayonnaise. Chop whites and add together with seasonings. Blend well.

Put carbonated beverage in top of double boiler. Crumble in bouillon cubes. Sprinkle with gelatin and let stand until gelatin is completely moistened, then heat over boiling water until dissolved.

Blend ¼ cup of gelatin liquid into mayonnaise mixture. Pour over vegetables and mix well. Keep remaining gelatin in pan over hot water.

Spread out bologna slices on table. Put a heaping tablespoon of filling in the center of each; spread to make a 1-inch strip down center of slice. Lap over free edges to make a roll, secure with food picks.

When all rolls are made, pour a very thin coating of gelatin liquid in bottom of one or more shallow baking pans (a 10½x15½-inch tin will hold 24 rolls exactly).

Place bologna rolls side by side on gelatin base. Spoon remaining gelatin over top of each roll.

Store in refrigerator until ready to serve. When ready, remove food picks and cut apart with table knife. Cut a wedge-shaped slice of bread from center of each frankfurter roll. Toast rolls lightly in oven. Place bologna rolls in center of each.

Note: For a smaller crowd, recipe may be cut in half.

..TOMORROW'S DINNER: Creamed turkey cubes with corn bread, plum jam, buttered green beans, fruit compote (canned pears and cherries), frosted cupcakes, coffee, tea, milk.

Girl Scout News

Brownie Troop 63 and Intermediate Troop 71 of St. Mary's parish held their annual Christmas party Friday, Dec. 16 in the school hall. The Brownies presented a skit entitled, "The Runaway Toys." This was followed by a dramatization of "The Christmas Story." Paulette Ahrens of Troop 71 played carols on the violin, Helen McDermott and Mary Ann Stenson also sang. The entertainment concluded with Troop 71 presenting a play written by Mrs. Frank Graney, leader.

The mothers received gifts which were made by the girls and then refreshments were served by the committee.

The entire program was tape recorded and will be sent to the Rev. John J. Drew, MM, former assistant in St. Mary's now stationed on Formosa. Father Drew had sent a recording of his Christmas program which included carols in Chinese.

rotic and psychiotics with little or no obvious disturbance, said Dr. Frank J. Ayd, Jr., of Baltimore. They are not a cure for schizophrenia, he emphasized. But properly used, they can lessen hospital stays for some patients and speed normal recovery. They also look promising for treating psychosomatic illnesses, he said.

Drs. Herman Denber and Etta G. Bird of Manhattan State Hospital, New York, said chlorpromazine improved more than 80 per cent of 1,300 men and women mental patients, of whom nearly 200 were sent home.

ANOTHER DRUG, meratran, helps combat the depression or blues that send some people off on alcoholic binges, said Dr. Richard C. Proctor of Winston-Salem, N. C. Twenty of 26 patients stayed free of alcoholic bouts during four to six months time when they took the drug whenever they felt the blues coming on.

Another tension-relieving drug, miltown, brought improvement in varying degree to most of 300 patients hospitalized with different types of mental illnesses, said Dr. Veronica Pennington of Mississippi State Hospital at Whitfield, Miss. Three per cent recovered completely, and 33 were able to go home with severe symptoms much relieved.

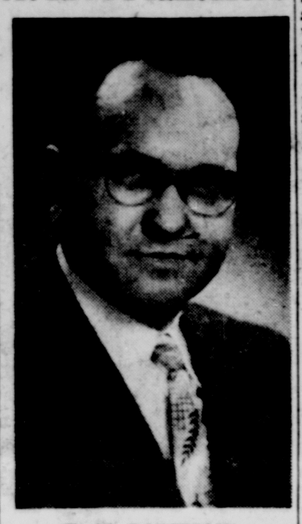
New Personnel Manager Named At IBM Plant Here



E. M. BAKEMAN

The appointment of Elmer M. Bakeman of Wappingers Falls as manager of the personnel division of the IBM Kingston Electric Typewriter Division was announced here today by International Business Machines Corporation.

In his new position, Mr. Bakeman will direct all activities of personnel, cafeteria, general education, management development, first aid, suggestions, wage and salary administration, Electric Typewriter Division news and housing.

Mr. Bakeman joined IBM as a student at the Endicott plant in 1928. After several assignments of increased responsibility, he was transferred to the IBM Poughkeepsie plant as a technical engineer.

Two years later, Mr. Bakeman was named manager of final inspection of electric accounting machines. In 1951, he became assistant quality control manager of electric typewriter and electric accounting machine quality departments. In July of this year, after serving as project manager of machining and processing quality control, he was assigned as project manager in Poughkeepsie of the machining departments.

Mr. Bakeman, a native of Binghamton, completed his schooling in that city. He is a member of the IBM Country Club, IBM Study Club and IBM Quarter Century Club.

KHS Group Hosts To International Fraternity Here

A meeting of the National executive board of the Upsilon Lambda Phi Fraternity, Inc., international high school fraternity, was being held in Kingston today as guests of Beta Eta chapter of Kingston. Among the matters to be determined by the board was the place for holding the next National meeting.

PRESIDENT OF the host chapter is Irving Zwilling of the Kingston High School chapter. Other chapters in the Hudson Valley are at Hudson, Albany, Poughkeepsie and Yonkers. The fraternity is a member of the Inter-Fraternity Congress.

Beta Eta chapter of Kingston is one of the newest of the fraternity having received its charter this year.

ATTENDING THE board meeting here was Jesse Choper of Wilkes Barre, Pa., master Ulp; Gordon Milman of Washington, D. C., deputy master Ulp; Nordon Migdol of Rochester, secretarial Ulp and Larry Schanyz of Newark, N. J., and Robert Ruderman of Brooklyn, members at large. All meetings of the board were being held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The fraternity was organized at Newark, N. J., in 1917 and now has over 60 chapters chartered throughout the east from Montreal, Canada, to Richmond, Va. The organization has as its charitable objective, assistance to the muscular distrophy program and contributes several thousands of dollars annually to that national charity.

Picket Line Melees

Pittsburgh, Dec. 27 (AP)—Two picket line melees broke out today at widely scattered plans of the struck Westinghouse Electric Corp. A fist-swinging, rock-throwing free-for-all erupted at the Sharon, Pa., transformer plant, sending three men to the hospital. Four men were arrested in a scuffle at the Bridgeport, Conn., plant. Meanwhile, negotiating teams for Westinghouse and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers renewed peace efforts in Pittsburgh. No progress was reported.

Here's New Year's Eve Fare That Will Pack a Wallop

STUFFED BOLOGNA ROLLS are just one of the fine "finger foods" you can serve with soft drinks on a Happy New Year Eve.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Celebrate the birth of 1956 with bubbly soft drinks and tangy, stuffed bologna rolls. Add salted nuts for nibbling, ice cream and cake for dessert, and the crowd will be happy, well-fed and will be able to drive home safely.

Stuffed Bologna Rolls
(Makes 2 dozen)

Two dozen thin slices bologna (5-inch size), 2 dozen frankfurter rolls.

Vegetable filling: Mix together in large bowl: 2 cups chopped, shredded cabbage; 1 cup shredded carrot, 1 cup minced celery, 1/3 cup minced green pepper, ¼ cup minced chives or onion.

Aspic dressing: Six hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, ¼ cup chili sauce, 2 cups bottled, carbonated beverage (cola, ginger ale or lemon-lime type); 2 bouillon cubes, 2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin.

Shell eggs, separate and mash yolks, blend with mayonnaise. Chop whites and add together with seasonings. Blend well.

Put carbonated beverage in top of double boiler. Crumble in bouillon cubes. Sprinkle with gelatin and let stand until gelatin is completely moistened, then heat over boiling water until dissolved.

Blend ¼ cup of gelatin liquid into mayonnaise mixture. Pour over vegetables and mix well. Keep remaining gelatin in pan over hot water.

Spread out bologna slices on table. Put a heaping tablespoon of filling in the center of each; spread to make a 1-inch strip down center of slice. Lap over free edges to make a roll, secure with food picks.

Browns Trounce Rams 38-14 For NFL Title

Los Angeles, Dec. 27 (AP)—The reign of the Cleveland Browns in professional football remains unbroken as the National Football League closed its books for the 1955 season today.

The Browns and their tremendous defensive platoon crushed the Los Angeles Rams yesterday, 38-14, marking the second straight year Cleveland won the title and the third time they hit the jackpot in six straight appearances in the blue ribbon game of pro football.

Despite the topheavy score, the Rams were hardly disgraced; mainly because few of their supporters even thought they'd get in the title game in the first place. There was profit for the Browns and solace for the Rams. A whopping record crowd of 87,695—85,693 paid—witnessed the struggle in Memorial Coliseum.

And out of the gross receipts, including radio and television, of $504,257, and a net of $431,538.98, the players received $3,508.21 for each winning Brown—$2,316.26 for each losing Ram.

The figures exceeded the previous high paid of 58,346 for the 1946 Chicago Bear-New York Giant playoff, and the high $2,478.57 each Brown got for whipping Detroit a year ago.

CLEVELAND LED off with a field goal and planked five touchdowns on the board en route to its smashing triumph.

Seven times Cleveland intercepted passes, turning one into a quick touchdown that, as matters ended, might well have been the crusher.

Defensive halfback Don Paul snagged the Norm Van Brocklin pass and raced 65 yards for a touchdown that sent the Browns into a 10-0 lead.

Paul's run broke the playoff runback record of 45 yards set by his teammate, Len Ford, last year. It also started Van Brocklin off to the unenviable distinction of tying Frank Filchock of the Washington Redskins and Bobby Layne of Detroit for the passes intercepted record—six each.

And the seven interceptions (the other off Billy Wade) approached the record eight made off Washington in the 1940 game with the Bears.

So much for records.

QUARTERBACK Otto Graham closed out his magnificent football career with a dazzling performance.

He scored two touchdowns personally, and passed for two others—to Dante Lavelli on a 50-yard play, and to Ray Renfro for 35 for another.

"He's the greatest." So said the master of the Browns, Paul Brown, wishing that Herr Otto would be back again but knowing well he won't.

Of the seven interceptions, Cleveland cashed in for points on four.

Halfback Ken Konz intercepted one and soon after Lou Groza kicked a 26 yard field goal.

Tom James bagged one and Graham and Lavelli hit for their 50-yard touchdown play.

Center Sam Palumbo burglarized another and Graham led the club 36 yards and scored from the one.

KONZ' 24 YARD punt return set the stage for another tally, with Otto sweeping right end 15 yards for a touchdown. And all the while the big Cleveland defensive men were pressuring Van Brocklin, and later Wade, into hurried or ill-fated throws.

The Rams' big moment came when Van Brocklin and Skeet Quinlan got together in a 67-yard pass play in the second quarter for a touchdown. That made it 7-10 for Cleveland, a margin that didn't stand for long.

The other Ram touchdown came in the final minutes. It capped a 57-yard thrust, aided rather ingloriously by a pass interference penalty that cost Cleveland 40 yards.

Ron Waller, the Maryland rookie, scored from four yards out, and it took the Rams three downs to make it from an original three yards and first down.

As Coach Sid Gillman phrased it, the Browns were the best team the Rams faced all year.

Mantles Get Another Yankee

Joplin, Mo., Dec. 27 (AP)—It's another boy for the Mickey Mantles.

Mrs. Mantle gave birth to the child last night at Freeman Hospital here. Both were reported in good condition. The New York Yankee baseball star and his wife arrived here from their home in Commerce, Okla., about two hours before the birth.

Their first son was born in the same hospital about two years ago.

Fox Insists He Is Official U. S. Delegate

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—Donna Fox, a hard man to convince, still considers himself the official United States delegate to the International Bobsled Federation despite the fact that he has been replaced.

As high an authority as Dan Ferris, secretary treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, today confirmed that Fox was out and William J. Linney of Port Henry, N. Y., had been appointed U. S. representative to the Federation which meets in Italy on Feb. 2.

"When the congress of the federation meets, our new delegate will be seated," snapped Ferris. "It's routine procedure."

LINNEY SAID his business commitments may not permit him to make the trip to Italy.

"If he can't make the trip," said Ferris, "someone else will be named. It won't be Fox."

For his part, Fox, a long-time delegate to the IBF, said he was "amazed" at being replaced, adding:

"x x x the new U. S. delegate's credentials cannot be acted upon until the meeting, and to the best of my knowledge, I am still the official U. S. delegate at that time. I'm sailing for Europe on the Queen Mary on Jan. 4."

Fort Wayne New Western Leader; Knicks Score

By the Associated Press

The Fort Wayne Pistons are the new leaders of the western division of the National Basketball Assn., thanks to a shooting hand of the St. Louis Hawks that was as cold as an iceberg.

The Hawks missed 43 of 48 shots in the first half and went on to lose 83-67 to the Pistons in the first game of a doubleheader at Rochester last night. Fort Wayne moved into first place by two percentage points as a result.

BOB PETTIT, the Hawks' high-scoring sophomore, was held to two field goals in 14 attempts and a four-point game total. George Yardley of the Pistons paced both teams with 15 points.

Four modest streaks came to an end as a result of other action last night. New York snapped an eight-game Philadelphia home winning streak and their own three-game losing string by downing the eastern leaders 108-97. Rochester snapped a five-game losing streak while ending Syracuse's four game winning skein with a 93-91 victory over the Nats in the second game at Rochester.

Syracuse announced in the fourth quarter that it was playing under protest but Coach Al Cervi later said he would consult the rule book before making the protest official. The action came as a result of conflicting calls with Syracuse ahead 76-75. One referee called for a jump ball and another levied a two-shot foul against Syracuse.

MAURICE STOKES sank both free tosses for Rochester putting them ahead. Although Syracuse briefly regained the lead they went on to lose. Cervi said it was his understanding the jump ball should have superseded the foul call.

Rookie Ken Sears with 26 points and Harry Gallatin with 21 were the big guns for New York as the Knicks pulled into a third place tie with Syracuse in the eastern division. The Warriors dropped 11 points behind in the second quarter and New York coasted in from there. Paul Arizin was high man for Philadelphia with 22 points.

The standings:

EASTERN DIVISION
Philadelphia	15	7
Boston	12	9
Syracuse	13	12
WESTERN DIVISION
Fort Wayne	11	12
St. Louis	10	11
Rochester	11	14
Minneapolis	8	18

Bahama Wins Easily, To Fight With Vejar

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—Yama Bahama, who has won 17 fights in a row against weak to middlin' opposition, will get his big test in a month or so against Chico Vejar.

After watching Bahama (real name William Mohalis Butler, Jr.) coast to a 10-round victory over Paolo Melis, 147, at St. Nicholas Arena last night, promoter Tex Sullivan immediately announced he would match Bahama with Vejar.

Ironically, Bahama, 150¾, was a substitute for Vejar in last night's bout. Chico was injured, but should be up and ready to fight again in a few weeks.

Bahama had an easy time of it, getting all 10 rounds on the card of each of the three officials a rarity these days.

Angels Meet Highland In Tournament Debut

Bridgeport Five Trounces Affrons

The Jewelers jarred Affron's Oilers of Newburgh, 97-86, in a first round game last night.

In the other half of the twin bill, Florida Orange Car of Poughkeepsie won an overtime victory from Harlem Valley State Hospital of Dover Plains, 65-60.

HARRY'S ANGELS of Kingston, another contender for honors, goes against the Alpine Tavern of Highland tonight. Game time is 7:30 o'clock. The Pine Plains Bombardiers and Monticello Vets clash in the nightcap.

The Angels, although their roster consists of Kingston's top players, will have their hands full with the Alpines, the top team in Poughkeepsie's City League.

Playing with the Angels will be Ronnie Scheffel, Skip Brodhead, Bill Haber, John Godwin, George Carpouzis, Andy Juhl, Bill Knott, Ward Dunham and Bill DuBois.

Dick Bezemer, originally listed on the roster, will not play. Bezemer is a regular on the Rollins College team, and since his school is an NCAA member, any player is forbidden to compete in tournaments not sanctioned by the association.

THE SAVIN-AFFRON duel never quite became a runaway, but it was apparent at the start that the Bridgeport team was superior. The Jewelers led by 51-40 at halftime and were never threatened.

Cecil Gabriel, a set shooting ace, swished 33 points for the winners. George Handler had 28 and Dave Latimer 17 for Affron's.

Garry Mendez, former Poughkeepsie High school ace who now plays with Hobart College, led the Orange Car.

Mendez threw in 13 points during the last period, when the O-C overcame a 16-point deficit. And Garry racked up six more in the overtime.

Harlem Valley led 31-16 at halftime and was in front 46-30 after three periods. Then Mendez and his mates got going.

THE ORANGE CAR went aheatd 56-55 with a minute and 20 seconds left and added a foul shot seconds later. Ed Anderson's layup for Harlem Valley with 20 seconds remaining sent the game into overtime.

Mendez got the first basket in the extra session to send his team ahead for keeps.

The Orange Car played the last minutes of the fourth period and the final moments of the overtime with only four men.

Mendez had 23 points to lead both teams. John Straub, Cortland State Teachers College player, scored 15. Richie Moran was held to seven.

Butch Colligan had 18, Roger Callahan 17 and Leon DuPlessis 13 for the losers.

The six members are Dudi Maki of Ishpeming, Mich.; Dick Rahoi of Iron Mountain, Mich.; Art Devlin of Lake Placid; Willis Olsen of Denver; Roy Sherwood of East Canaan, Conn.; and Roger Ulland of Seattle, Wash.

Appeals Court Backs Dismissal Of Commissioner

Albany, Dec. 27 (AP)—An appeals court has upheld the dismissal of Albin E. Erikson of Brooklyn as a deputy commissioner of the State Athletic Commission.

The Appellate Division, Third Department, of State Supreme Court held Saturday that the administration of Gov. Harriman had the right to fire a deputy commissioner who maintained he was protected by veterans' job-retention rights.

In a 3-2 decision, it reversed a Supreme Court order directing the Commission to reinstate Erikson, who had been appointed to the $7,200-a-year post on March 3, 1953, under the Republican administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Erikson, a World War 1 veteran, was fired last April by commission chairman Julius Helfand, a member of Harriman's Democratic administration.

Mizell Breaks Cuban Record

Havana, Dec. 26 (AP)—Wilmer 'Vinegar Bend' Mizell, who pitches for the St. Louis Cardinals, set a season strikeout record for the Cuban League last night.

Mizell struck out 10 batters in pitching Havana to a 2-1 eleven-inning victory over Almendares. This gave the southpaw a total of 136 for the season, bettering the mark of 134 set by Dick Littlefield in 1952-53.

$786,942 Purses Set New Record At Saratoga

Saratoga Springs—The year 1955 saw purses at Saratoga Raceway reach a record total of $786,942 for the summer and fall meetings.

The distribution, including new highs for both meets, came in a year when attendance and wagering at the Spa trotting track were down in total and up only slightly in average as compared with 1954.

The 14th season at the half-mile course also was marked by the first regular appearance of none-race cards, the track's first two-minute mile, fine campaigns by a sizeable number of horses and a wide distribution of driving honors.

Purses for the two meets aggregated $49,670 more than the former track peak established last year. Of the new total $557,260 was at stake in the summer meet and $229,682 in the fall.

Total summer and fall attendance was $11,910,438 ony $31,084 shy of 1954 and therefore showed a gain in average, $128,069 to $120,621.

Attendance of 317,717 for the two meets was $20,075 below 1954, but still resulted in an increase in average, 3,416 to 3,412.

Beliveau Paces Hockey Scorers

Montreal, Dec. 27 (AP)—Jean Beliveau, lanky center of the Montreal Canadiens, continued to set the pace in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race today, but four other players were making it a tight competition.

Beliveau, with 21 goals and 19 assists, heads the pack with 40 points. Right on his heels are teammate Bert Olmstead with 37, Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers with 35, Maurice Richard of Montreal with 35 and Gordie Howe of Detroit 33.

Beliveau's 21 tallies also is high for the circuit while Olmstead with 30 assists is the top playmaker.

Adios Harry Tops in Marks

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 27 (AP)—Adios Harry, who finished second to Scott Frost in balloting for harness horse of the year, equaled or lowered 10 world records during 1955's harness racing season, the U. S. Trotting Assn. announced yesterday.

The sleek pacer from Greenwood, Del., owned by J. Howard Lyons, also joined 22 other trotters and pacers in equaling or erasing 39 other world marks, an all-time high for one season.

Adios Harry equaled the 1:55 set by Billy Direct in a time trial and shattered the old race record of 1:57 4/5 set by Good Time and Sampson Hanover.

Dons Defeat La Salle, UCLA, Duquesne Win; Russell Hits 29 Points

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—New York basketball fans finally got their first look at the marvelous San Francisco Dons with their All-America center Bill Russell, at Madison Square Garden last night.

Based on what they observed, it will take a great team on a hot night to keep the unbeaten Dons from walking off with the E.C.A.C. holiday festival championship.

The Dons, together with Holy Cross, UCLA, and Duquesne won their way into the semi-final round with a convincing 79-62 triumph over LaSalle, the team they defeated in the N.C.A.A. finals last year. In the other games, Holy Cross whipped Syracuse 87-74 to earn the right to meet San Francisco in the first game of Wednesday night's semi-final round. UCLA, conqueror of St. John's, 93-86, and Duquesne, 73-70 overtime winner over Fordham, will clash in the second half of the twin bill. The losers will meet in a consolation round in the afternoon, with Syracuse opposing LaSalle and St. John's playing Fordham.

SAN FRANCISCO was hard-pressed to win despite its final 17-point bulge. As late as the fourth minute of the second half, they were trailing 45-42 and it took an uninterrupted nine-point spree, seven of them contributed by second stringer Mike Preaseu, to assure the Dons of their hard-earned victory. It was San Francisco's eighth straight victory of the year and 34th in a row over a two-year span. The record is 39 set by Long Island University and equalled by Seton Hall.

Russell, the 6-10 stringbean, put on a spectacular show. He scored 26 points on 11 baskets and four free throws and snared 22 rebounds to lead all the others in both departments.

It was on defense, however, that he gave the afternoon crowd of 12,143, its biggest thrills. Time after time, he drew "oohs" from the crowd with his spectacular "saves" of seemingly sure two-pointers by simply reaching up and tapping aside balls headed for La Salle hoop.

The fans should get a better insight on the ability of Russell when he clashes with Tommy Heinsohn, Holy Cross' 6-7 center, Wednesday. Heinsohn scored 36 points in his team's victory over Syracuse.

HIGHSCORING honors for the day, however, went to Sihugo Green, brilliant 6-2 center of Duquesne. Green registered 39 points, including his team's last nine, to snatch the Dukes from almost certain defeat. It was his jump shot in the final two seconds that tied the score at 62-62 and forced the game into overtime. The Dukes' ace then threw all seven points for his team to almost single-handedly defeat Fordham. The 39 points tied the tournament record set by Dick Ricketts, also of Duquesne, last year.

The rest of last night's action around the country was slim. Marquette, looking ahead to the weekend Sugar Bowl tournament crushed North Dakota, 72- 37, in the top game. Terry Rand was high scorer with 16 points although he played only about half the game.

Wichita handed Santa Clara its sixth straight loss, 69-60, and Mississippi Southern edged Washington State, 60-56, in other contests.

Dons First In AP Poll; Dayton 2nd

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

The San Francisco Dons, aiming for the all-time major college record for consecutive victories, tightened their grip today on the No. 1 ranking in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll.

For the third straight week sports writers and sportscasters named Phil Woolpert's west coasters as the nation's top team. A total of 143 votes were cast with 96 picking the Dons for first place. On the basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc., San Francisco received 1,366 points in the balloting based on games through last Saturday.

LONG ISLAND University (1935-37) and Seton Hall of South Orange, N. J., (1939-41) share the record for the longest major winning streak—39. The University of Texas captured 37 straight from 1913 to 1917 and Arkansas won 35 in a row during 1927-29. San Francisco can match Arkansas' mark if it defeats Holy Cross in the festival semifinal Wednesday night.

While the Dons maintained the top spot, the remainder of the first 10 was undergoing a shuffle in positions for the second straight week. Dayton, fourth a week ago, jumped to second on the strength of victories over Utah and Kentucky in the University of Kentucky Invitational tournament.

Three Dixie teams — North Carolina State, North Carolina and Vanderbilt—ranked 3-4-5 in this week's voting. Iowa, Utah, Duke, Illinois and Oklahoma City completed the top 10 with the latter trio moving up from the second 10.

Navy's Welsh Paces South To 20-7 Victory Over North

Miami, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP) — "That Welsh beat us with his passes," said Pat Bisceglia, the Notre Dame guard, after the South whipped the North 20-7 in the Mahi Shrine's All-Star football game last night.

Coaches and players on both squads agreed with the unhappy Irish star.

George Welsh, Navy's passing quarterback, was the standout performer in the eighth annual clash between the Rebels and the Yankees. The 5-feet-10, 165-pound aerial expert gave the 42,179 fans a sample of the accuracy which made him the nation's leading passer of the 1955 regular season.

He completed 12 of 20 throws for 164 yards while directing the Rebels to their sixth victory in the series. The North has won once and one game ended in a 21-21 tie.

ON THE FIRST play of the game halfback Bobby Moss of West Virginia fumbled and South Carolina's Joe Silas recovered on the North 31.

On the next play Welsh hit his Navy teammate, Ron Beagle, All America end, with a touchdown pass.

In addition to his scoring toss to Beagle, Welsh collected the second South TD on a three-yard sneak and set up the third by passing for 62 of the 80 yards in that drive. Bobby Garrard, Georgia fullback, the game's top rusher with 66 yards, scored the final touchdown on a one-yard slam. He also made good on two of his three conversions tries.

The North touchdown resulted from a 91-yard march climaxed by a 38-yard pass play from Freddy Wyant to Don Holleder, Army end.

Welsh was voted the South's most valuable player in a press box poll and Holleder won the honor for the North.

Browns Trounce Rams 38-14 For NFL Title

Los Angeles, Dec. 27 (AP)—The reign of the Cleveland Browns in professional football remains unbroken as the National Football League closed its books for the 1955 season today.

The Browns and their tremendous defensive platoon crushed the Los Angeles Rams yesterday, 38-14, marking the second straight year Cleveland won the title and the third time they hit the jackpot in six straight appearances in the blue ribbon game of pro football.

Despite the topheavy score, the Rams were hardly disgraced; mainly because few of their supporters even thought they'd get in the title game in the first place. There was profit for the Browns and solace for the Rams. A whopping record crowd of 87,695—85,693 paid—witnessed the struggle in Memorial Coliseum.

And out of the gross receipts, including radio and television, of $504,257, and a net of $431,538.98, the players received $3,508.21 for each winning Brown—$2,316.26 for each losing Ram.

The figures exceeded the previous high paid of 58,346 for the 1946 Chicago Bear-New York Giant playoff, and the high $2,478.57 each Brown got for whipping Detroit a year ago.

CLEVELAND LED off with a field goal and planked five touchdowns on the board en route to its smashing triumph.

Seven times Cleveland intercepted passes, turning one into a quick touchdown that, as matters ended, might well have been the crusher.

Defensive halfback Don Paul snagged the Norm Van Brocklin pass and raced 65 yards for a touchdown that sent the Browns into a 10-0 lead.

Paul's run broke the playoff runback record of 45 yards set by his teammate, Len Ford, last year. It also started Van Brocklin off to the unenviable distinction of tying Frank Filchock of the Washington Redskins and Bobby Layne of Detroit for the passes intercepted record—six each.

And the seven interceptions (the other off Billy Wade) approached the record eight made off Washington in the 1940 game with the Bears.

So much for records.

QUARTERBACK Otto Graham closed out his magnificent football career with a dazzling performance.

He scored two touchdowns personally, and passed for two others—to Dante Lavelli on a 50-yard play, and to Ray Renfro for 35 for another.

"He's the greatest." So said the master of the Browns, Paul Brown, wishing that Herr Otto would be back again but knowing well he won't.

Of the seven interceptions, Cleveland cashed in for points on four.

Halfback Ken Konz intercepted one and soon after Lou Groza kicked a 26 yard field goal.

Tom James bagged one and Graham and Lavelli hit for their 50-yard touchdown play.

Center Sam Palumbo burglarized another and Graham led the club 36 yards and scored from the one.

KONZ' 24 YARD punt return set the stage for another tally, with Otto sweeping right end 15 yards for a touchdown. And all the while the big Cleveland defensive men were pressuring Van Brocklin, and later Wade, into hurried or ill-fated throws.

The Rams' big moment came when Van Brocklin and Skeet Quinlan got together in a 67-yard pass play in the second quarter for a touchdown. That made it 7-10 for Cleveland, a margin that didn't stand for long.

The other Ram touchdown came in the final minutes. It capped a 57-yard thrust, aided rather ingloriously by a pass interference penalty that cost Cleveland 40 yards.

Ron Waller, the Maryland rookie, scored from four yards out, and it took the Rams three downs to make it from an original three yards and first down.

As Coach Sid Gillman phrased it, the Browns were the best team the Rams faced all year.

Mantles Get Another Yankee

Joplin, Mo., Dec. 27 (AP)—It's another boy for the Mickey Mantles.

Mrs. Mantle gave birth to the child last night at Freeman Hospital here. Both were reported in good condition. The New York Yankee baseball star and his wife arrived here from their home in Commerce, Okla., about two hours before the birth.

Their first son was born in the same hospital about two years ago.

Fox Insists He Is Official U. S. Delegate

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—Donna Fox, a hard man to convince, still considers himself the official United States delegate to the International Bobsled Federation despite the fact that he has been replaced.

As high an authority as Dan Ferris, secretary treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, today confirmed that Fox was out and William J. Linney of Port Henry, N. Y., had been appointed U. S. representative to the Federation which meets in Italy on Feb. 2.

"When the congress of the federation meets, our new delegate will be seated," snapped Ferris. "It's routine procedure."

LINNEY SAID his business commitments may not permit him to make the trip to Italy.

"If he can't make the trip," said Ferris, "someone else will be named. It won't be Fox."

For his part, Fox, a long-time delegate to the IBF, said he was "amazed" at being replaced, adding:

"x x x the new U. S. delegate's credentials cannot be acted upon until the meeting, and to the best of my knowledge, I am still the official U. S. delegate at that time. I'm sailing for Europe on the Queen Mary on Jan. 4."

Fort Wayne New Western Leader; Knicks Score

By the Associated Press

The Fort Wayne Pistons are the new leaders of the western division of the National Basketball Assn., thanks to a shooting hand of the St. Louis Hawks that was as cold as an iceberg.

The Hawks missed 43 of 48 shots in the first half and went on to lose 83-67 to the Pistons in the first game of a doubleheader at Rochester last night. Fort Wayne moved into first place by two percentage points as a result.

BOB PETTIT, the Hawks' high-scoring sophomore, was held to two field goals in 14 attempts and a four-point game total. George Yardley of the Pistons paced both teams with 15 points.

Four modest streaks came to an end as a result of other action last night. New York snapped an eight-game Philadelphia home winning streak and their own three-game losing string by downing the eastern leaders 108-97. Rochester snapped a five-game losing streak while ending Syracuse's four game winning skein with a 93-91 victory over the Nats in the second game at Rochester.

Syracuse announced in the fourth quarter that it was playing under protest but Coach Al Cervi later said he would consult the rule book before making the protest official. The action came as a result of conflicting calls with Syracuse ahead 76-75. One referee called for a jump ball and another levied a two-shot foul against Syracuse.

MAURICE STOKES sank both free tosses for Rochester putting them ahead. Although Syracuse briefly regained the lead they went on to lose. Cervi said it was his understanding the jump ball should have superseded the foul call.

Rookie Ken Sears with 26 points and Harry Gallatin with 21 were the big guns for New York as the Knicks pulled into a third place tie with Syracuse in the eastern division. The Warriors dropped 11 points behind in the second quarter and New York coasted in from there. Paul Arizin was high man for Philadelphia with 22 points.

The standings:

EASTERN DIVISION
Philadelphia	15	7
Boston	12	9
Syracuse	13	12
WESTERN DIVISION
Fort Wayne	11	12
St. Louis	10	11
Rochester	11	14
Minneapolis	8	18

Bahama Wins Easily, To Fight With Vejar

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—Yama Bahama, who has won 17 fights in a row against weak to middlin' opposition, will get his big test in a month or so against Chico Vejar.

After watching Bahama (real name William Mohalis Butler, Jr.) coast to a 10-round victory over Paolo Melis, 147, at St. Nicholas Arena last night, promoter Tex Sullivan immediately announced he would match Bahama with Vejar.

Ironically, Bahama, 150¾, was a substitute for Vejar in last night's bout. Chico was injured, but should be up and ready to fight again in a few weeks.

Bahama had an easy time of it, getting all 10 rounds on the card of each of the three officials a rarity these days.

Angels Meet Highland In Tournament Debut

Bridgeport Five Trounces Affrons

Savin's Jewelers of Bridgeport, Conn., have established themselves as a favorite to win the Lincoln Center holiday basketball tournament in Poughkeepsie.

The Jewelers jarred Affron's Oilers of Newburgh, 97-86, in a first round game last night.

In the other half of the twin bill, Florida Orange Car of Poughkeepsie won an overtime victory from Harlem Valley State Hospital of Dover Plains, 65-60.

HARRY'S ANGELS of Kingston, another contender for honors, goes against the Alpine Tavern of Highland tonight. Game time is 7:30 o'clock. The Pine Plains Bombardiers and Monticello Vets clash in the nightcap.

The Angels, although their roster consists of Kingston's top players, will have their hands full with the Alpines, the top team in Poughkeepsie's City League.

Playing with the Angels will be Ronnie Scheffel, Skip Brodhead, Bill Haber, John Godwin, George Carpouzis, Andy Juhl, Bill Knott, Ward Dunham and Bill DuBois.

Dick Bezemer, originally listed on the roster, will not play. Bezemer is a regular on the Rollins College team, and since his school is an NCAA member, any player is forbidden to compete in tournaments not sanctioned by the association.

THE SAVIN-AFFRON duel never quite became a runaway, but it was apparent at the start that the Bridgeport team was superior. The Jewelers led by 51-40 at halftime and were never threatened.

Cecil Gabriel, a set shooting ace, swished 33 points for the winners. George Handler had 28 and Dave Latimer 17 for Affron's.

Garry Mendez, former Poughkeepsie High school ace who now plays with Hobart College, led the Orange Car.

Mendez threw in 13 points during the last period, when the O-C overcame a 16-point deficit. And Garry racked up six more in the overtime.

Harlem Valley led 31-16 at halftime and was in front 46-30 after three periods. Then Mendez and his mates got going.

THE ORANGE CAR went aheatd 56-55 with a minute and 20 seconds left and added a foul shot seconds later. Ed Anderson's layup for Harlem Valley with 20 seconds remaining sent the game into overtime.

Mendez got the first basket in the extra session to send his team ahead for keeps.

The Orange Car played the last minutes of the fourth period and the final moments of the overtime with only four men.

Mendez had 23 points to lead both teams. John Straub, Cortland State Teachers College player, scored 15. Richie Moran was held to seven.

Butch Colligan had 18, Roger Callahan 17 and Leon DuPlessis 13 for the losers.

Appeals Court Backs Dismissal Of Commissioner

Albany, Dec. 27 (AP)—An appeals court has upheld the dismissal of Albin E. Erikson of Brooklyn as a deputy commissioner of the State Athletic Commission.

The Appellate Division, Third Department, of State Supreme Court held Saturday that the administration of Gov. Harriman had the right to fire a deputy commissioner who maintained he was protected by veterans' job-retention rights.

In a 3-2 decision, it reversed a Supreme Court order directing the Commission to reinstate Erikson, who had been appointed to the $7,200-a-year post on March 3, 1953, under the Republican administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Erikson, a World War 1 veteran, was fired last April by commission chairman Julius Helfand, a member of Harriman's Democratic administration.

Mizell Breaks Cuban Record

Havana, Dec. 26 (AP)—Wilmer 'Vinegar Bend' Mizell, who pitches for the St. Louis Cardinals, set a season strikeout record for the Cuban League last night.

Mizell struck out 10 batters in pitching Havana to a 2-1 eleven-inning victory over Almendares. This gave the southpaw a total of 136 for the season, bettering the mark of 134 set by Dick Littlefield in 1952-53.

Dons Defeat La Salle, UCLA, Duquesne Win; Russell Hits 29 Points

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—New York basketball fans finally got their first look at the marvelous San Francisco Dons with their All-America center Bill Russell, at Madison Square Garden last night.

Based on what they observed, it will take a great team on a hot night to keep the unbeaten Dons from walking off with the E.C.A.C. holiday festival championship.

The Dons, together with Holy Cross, UCLA, and Duquesne won their way into the semi-final round with a convincing 79-62 triumph over LaSalle, the team they defeated in the N.C.A.A. finals last year. In the other games, Holy Cross whipped Syracuse 87-74 to earn the right to meet San Francisco in the first game of Wednesday night's semi-final round. UCLA, conqueror of St. John's, 93-86, and Duquesne, 73-70 overtime winner over Fordham, will clash in the second half of the twin bill. The losers will meet in a consolation round in the afternoon, with Syracuse opposing LaSalle and St. John's playing Fordham.

SAN FRANCISCO was hard-pressed to win despite its final 17-point bulge. As late as the fourth minute of the second half, they were trailing 45-42 and it took an uninterrupted nine-point spree, seven of them contributed by second stringer Mike Preaseu, to assure the Dons of their hard-earned victory. It was San Francisco's eighth straight victory of the year and 34th in a row over a two-year span. The record is 39 set by Long Island University and equalled by Seton Hall.

Russell, the 6-10 stringbean, put on a spectacular show. He scored 26 points on 11 baskets and four free throws and snared 22 rebounds to lead all the others in both departments.

It was on defense, however, that he gave the afternoon crowd of 12,143, its biggest thrills. Time after time, he drew "oohs" from the crowd with his spectacular "saves" of seemingly sure two-pointers by simply reaching up and tapping aside balls headed for La Salle hoop.

The fans should get a better insight on the ability of Russell when he clashes with Tommy Heinsohn, Holy Cross' 6-7 center, Wednesday. Heinsohn scored 36 points in his team's victory over Syracuse.

HIGHSCORING honors for the day, however, went to Sihugo Green, brilliant 6-2 center of Duquesne. Green registered 39 points, including his team's last nine, to snatch the Dukes from almost certain defeat. It was his jump shot in the final two seconds that tied the score at 62-62 and forced the game into overtime. The Dukes' ace then threw all seven points for his team to almost single-handedly defeat Fordham. The 39 points tied the tournament record set by Dick Ricketts, also of Duquesne, last year.

The rest of last night's action around the country was slim. Marquette, looking ahead to the weekend Sugar Bowl tournament crushed North Dakota, 72- 37, in the top game. Terry Rand was high scorer with 16 points although he played only about half the game.

Wichita handed Santa Clara its sixth straight loss, 69-60, and Mississippi Southern edged Washington State, 60-56, in other contests.

Dons First In AP Poll; Dayton 2nd

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

The San Francisco Dons, aiming for the all-time major college record for consecutive victories, tightened their grip today on the No. 1 ranking in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll.

For the third straight week sports writers and sportscasters named Phil Woolpert's west coasters as the nation's top team. A total of 143 votes were cast with 96 picking the Dons for first place. On the basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc., San Francisco received 1,366 points in the balloting based on games through last Saturday.

LONG ISLAND University (1935-37) and Seton Hall of South Orange, N. J., (1939-41) share the record for the longest major winning streak—39. The University of Texas captured 37 straight from 1913 to 1917 and Arkansas won 35 in a row during 1927-29. San Francisco can match Arkansas' mark if it defeats Holy Cross in the festival semifinal Wednesday night.

While the Dons maintained the top spot, the remainder of the first 10 was undergoing a shuffle in positions for the second straight week. Dayton, fourth a week ago, jumped to second on the strength of victories over Utah and Kentucky in the University of Kentucky Invitational tournament.

Three Dixie teams — North Carolina State, North Carolina and Vanderbilt—ranked 3-4-5 in this week's voting. Iowa, Utah, Duke, Illinois and Oklahoma City completed the top 10 with the latter trio moving up from the second 10.

Minor Bid Is Bold Play

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A few weeks ago this column presented some examples of the "unusual" no-trump overcall. Such a bid is usually made at the level of two, especially when it is clear from the earlier bidding that no-trump cannot possibly be an attractive contract.

For example, suppose that an opponent opens the bidding with one spade and that his partner raises to two spades. This is passed around to your partner, who thereupon bids two no-trump. It is very unlikely that your partner really wants to play this hand at no-trump since he merely passed over the opening bid of one spade. Hence his sudden decision to bid two no-trump should show a different kind of hand.

Among expert players, the "unusual" no-trump overcall asks partner to choose one of the minor suits. This is a kind of takeout double, except that the emphasis is very strongly on the minor suits. A double would call chiefly for a response in the unbid major.

In today's hand, the "unusual" no-trump bid was made at the level of three. South speculated on the possibility that North might have a long and solid diamond suit together with a single stopper in spades. It seemed reasonably safe, however, for South to bid four clubs. If North had support for both minors, the take out to four clubs was vital. If North had a long solid diamond suit, he would rescue himself at four diamonds.

When no rescue occurred, South felt confident that he had made the correct interpretation of his partner's no-trump bid. Hence he pushed boldly on to five clubs as a sacrifice against East's bid of four spades.

The sacrifice was a fine idea. East would have made game and rubber with his bid of four spades, scoring 700 points for the rubber and 120 points for his tricks. At five clubs doubled, South managed to win ten tricks, losing only 100 points. This excellent sacrifice would not have been possible but for North's use of the unusual no-trump overcall to invite a bid in a minor suit.

Albert Reported Set for 49er Job

San Francisco, Dec. 26 (AP)—The San Francisco Call Bulletin's sport editor Jack McDonald, in an article today about the San Francisco 49ers' coaching situation, indicated that Frankie Albert is a cinch to be named as new head coach.

Announcement of Albert as head coach may not come until after the first of the year, McDonald said.

Raft Renews Journey

Balboa, C. Z., Dec. 27 (AP)—La Cantuta, the 30-13-foot raft on which four men and a woman are trying to drift to Polynesia, was reported on its way again today after a Christmas rest in the Galapagos Islands. The party set out Dec. 4 from the Peruvian coast to duplicate the feat of Thor Heyerdahl and his Kon-Tiki expedition.

65 Accident Victims

Bob Hope Takes Spill Not in His Script

London, Dec. 27 (AP)—Bob Hope, nursing a sore head and two hurt fingers from his Christmas performance for GIs in Iceland, plans to resume work tomorrow on a movie he is making here.

London doctors X-rayed Hope's skull to find out why he still had a headache from the tumble he took when he and British strongwoman Joan Rhodes were entertaining the troops last week. So far, the American comedian said, the X-rays haven't disclosed much, and the doctors want to take some more.

Hope told newsmen how it all happened:

"I was singing 'Embraceable You' with Miss Rhodes, who I had never met. But there was no doubt about her being strong, and at the climactic moment she was supposed to flip me over her shoulders, and I was supposed to land on the other side.

"I went up all right, and then to my surprise I made a one-point landing on my noggin. Then the world seemed to collapse, and that was Miss Rhodes coming down on me. That's when two fingers were hurt, and I hope they aren't broken.

"Miss Rhodes was very upset, but she couldn't help it. She slipped. It's the sort of thing that can happen to anyone."

Largest Cave

Atlanta, Dec. 27 (AP)—Spelunkers—the explorers of caves—have discovered the world's largest known cave in Kentucky, with more than 32 miles of passages, the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science was told today. It is the Floyd Collins' Crystal Cave, which actually turns out to be a nucleus of a cave system of record-breaking extent, said Roger W. Brucker and David B. Jones of Yellow Springs, Ohio, William T. Austin of Cave City, Ky., and Brother G. Nicholas, FSC, of Cumberland, Md. "Passages already surveyed or explored in the system now total 32 miles, making it the largest known," they said, and there are probably yet undiscovered passages. The second largest cave is Holloch, in Switzerland.

About eight tons of coal are required to produce one ton of magnesium.

Navy Secretary Arrives

Taipei, Formosa, Dec. 27 (AP)—U. S. Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas arrived today from Hong Kong for a survey of the Formosa area. He will be briefed Wednesday by ranking Nationalist and American officers, visit naval bases in southern Formosa then return to confer with President Chiang Kai-shek. He leaves for Manila Thursday.

Resolution time is here again, and we have one to suggest. If you haven't guessed, it's "save something here every payday." It's simple . . . and profitable.

STATE OF NEW YORK COUNTY COURT, COUNTY OF ULSTER—WILLIAM ANDERSON, Plaintiff, against ROCCO PEDEVILLANO, ETHEL PEDEVILLANO, wife of Rocco Pedevillano, ISLAND DOCK LUMBER, INC., MONTGOMERY WARD & COMPANY, INC., STATE OF NEW YORK NATIONAL BANK and WILLIAM A. KELLY As Trustee, Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgement of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 7th day of December, 1955, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the County Courthouse, in the City of Kingston, New York, on the 8th day of February, 1956, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster and State of New York, BEGINNING in the center of the public highway known as the Kripplebush Road, at a point 348 feet east of the point where the Davenport and Brown boundary meets on said road; thence running easterly down said road for sixty feet; then northerly for a distance of one hundred and twenty-five feet; thence westerly sixty feet; thence southerly one hundred and twenty-five feet to the place of beginning. This parcel of ground is a rectangular plot sixty feet by one hundred and twenty-five feet.

Being the same premises conveyed by James H. Brown and wife to Ethel Brown Pedevillano, by deed dated July 17, 1947 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office in Liber of Deeds 685, at page 153.

Also, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster and State of New York, BEGINNING on the northeastern corner of the plot deeded by James and Lulu Brown to Ethel Brown Pedevillano, on July 17, 1947 and running northerly for one hundred and twenty-five feet; then westerly for sixty feet; then southerly for one hundred and twenty-five feet; then easterly for sixty feet to the place of beginning. This parcel is a rectangular plot sixty feet by one hundred and twenty-five feet and lies on the northern boundary of the property acquired by Ethel Brown Pedevillano on July 17th, 1943 from James & Lulu Brown. This grant doubles the original holding to a plot of two hundred and fifty feet by sixty feet.

Being the same premises conveyed by James H. Brown and Lulu M. Brown, his wife, to Ethel Brown Pedevillano, by deed dated April 12, 1949 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber of Deeds 730, at page 390.

Also, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate near Stone Ridge, in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING in the center of the public highway leading from the Ellenville-Stone Ridge concrete road to Kripplebush at the southwest corner of the lands of Joseph Brill and runs thence along the said Brill line being a wire fence north 59 degrees 15 minutes east 476 feet to a stone monument on the line of George Weeks; thence along said Week's line north 42 degrees 30 minutes west 410 feet to an iron pipe driven in the ground at the corner of the lot heretofore conveyed by said parties of the first part to Ethel Brown Pedevillano; thence along the line of the said Pedevillano in a southwesterly course which is a right angle to said road 466 feet more or less to the center of the said road at the most southeasterly corner of said Pedevillano lot; thence along the center of the said road south 53 degrees 45 minutes east 354 feet more or less to the place of beginning. Being the same premises conveyed by Herman Clemens and Irene Clemens, his wife, to Rocco Pedevillano and Ethel Brown Pedevillano, his wife, by deed dated December 9th, 1952 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber of Deeds 846, at page 48.

Also, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster and State of New York, BEGINNING in the center of the public highway known as the Kripplebush Road, at a point 348 feet east of the point where the Davenport and Larsen boundary meets on said road, said point being the most southerly corner of premises conveyed by James H. Brown and Lulu M. Brown, his wife, to Harold N. Larsen and Mary K. Larsen, his wife, by deed bearing date October 18, 1948, recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office October 18, 1948 in Liber 716 of Deeds, at page 575, and runs thence northeasterly along the line of said Larsen lot, said line being at right angles to said road 450 feet more or less to an angle in the line of property of George Weeks; thence along said Week's line south 42 degrees 30 feet east 65 feet to an iron pipe driven in the ground at the corner of the lot about to be conveyed to Herman Clemens and wife; thence southwesterly on a line parallel to and 65 feet distant from the line of the said Larsen property 466 feet more or less to the center of said road; thence along the center of said road north 53 degrees 45 minutes west 65 feet to the place of beginning.

Being the same premises conveyed to Ethel Brown Pedevillano by James H. Brown and Lulu M. Brown, his wife, by deed dated June 21, 1949 and recorded on July 7, 1949 in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 737, page 511 of Deeds, for said County.

Said premises will be sold subject to the lein of prior mortgages upon which there remains unpaid the sum of Eight Thousand Seven Hundred Twenty-eight and 98/100 Dollars ($8,728.98) and accrued interest thereon.

Dated, Kingston, N. Y., December 22, 1955.

Briefly Told

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 27 (AP)—Robert Russell, 32, of Hudson Falls, died in the Veterans Administration Hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Sept. 3 when a truck he was driving overturned near Hudson Falls.

MORRISVILLE, N. Y., Dec. 27 (AP)—Dean Crosby, about 54, of Hamburg, died of a heart attack last night while trying to free his automobile stuck in snow on Route 20, about 40 miles east of Syracuse.

Crosby was a New York state claims adjustor. His wife and two daughters were with him.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Dec. 27 (AP)—Dause L. Bibby, a former vice president of International Business Machines Corp., has been appointed executive vice president of Daystrom, Inc.

The company announced the appointment yesterday. Daystrom is a management holding firm with six operating units, principally in the electronics field.

TROY, N. Y., Dec. 27 (AP)—William Grund, 17, of Troy, died in a hospital Saturday night of injuries suffered Dec. 18 when an automobile in which he was riding skidded and overturned on Route 2, six miles east of Troy.

Three companions were hospitalized.

PHOENIX, N. Y., Dec. 27 (AP)—A single-engine airplane nosed over when it made an emergency landing in a field near here yesterday. Two men were shaken up.

Richard C. Aggers, 23, of Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, and Stephan Carnelli, 32, of Newburgh, were the occupants. State police said the wheels struck a furrow.

Aggers, owner and pilot, told state police the engine failed while they were en route from Rochester to Newburgh. Phoenix is near Oswego.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27—Marine Pfc. Raymond Kommer, 20, of Shortsville, was killed early Christmas Day when his motorcycle left a highway in a heavy fog. He was stationed at Miami marine air station.

Marine spokesmen said he apparently failed to see a curve in the road in Broward county north of Miami. The body was found after daylight.

LACONA, Dec. 27 (AP) — A $150,000 fire Saturday night destroyed the Sandy Creek town garage and the snow-removal and miscellaneous equipment it contained.

Fire Chief Edward Killam of this Oswego county community said he believed a defective oil burner ignited the wooden structure.

AUBURN, Dec. 27 (AP)—Andrew S. Schuler, founder of the potato chip company that bears his name, died in Auburn City Hospital Sunday. He was 72.

Schuler formed the business in 1910 and worked it up to the largest in the country. It has branches throughout New York state and New England, Pennsylvania and Florida. Its headquarters are at Rochester and Cato.

Schuler was born in Williamsport, Pa., and was graduated from Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh.

Woodstock Girl, Wilson's Niece On $64,000 Quiz

Miss Nancy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson of Woodstock and a niece of Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson is scheduled to appear on the "$64,000" question program in New York city this evening, according to information available today.

Miss Wilson, a student at the University of Miami, Florida, and a former student at Syracuse University, spent the holiday season with her grandmother in Woodstock and left for New York today.

ASSEMBLYMAN Wilson said she had been interviewed by the program sponsors last fall and last Thursday she was again interviewed and requested to come to New York today to appear on the program.

Whether she will be called this evening, Assemblyman Wilson said, depended on the time element which governs the order in which contestants appear on the program.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 27 (AP)—The stock market was somewhat mixed today in early dealings.

That was the result of moderate losses among many leading issues in the motors, aircrafts, oils and chemicals.

There was ample support for the market, however, in the steels and the rails.

Draft Board Places Podres In 1-A Rating

Brooklyn, Dec. 27 (AP)—Johnny Podres, pitching star of the Brooklyn Dodgers' World Series victory, has been reclassified 1-A and is subject to military draft, the Dodgers announced today.

There was no indication when, if at all, that the young pitcher from Witherbee, N. Y., might be called into service.

The Dodgers announced that Podres notified them today from his home of the new classification.

The 23-year-old lefty was listed as unfit physically for military duty in 1952 because of a back ailment.

Podres won the third and seventh games of the World Series in which the Dodgers won their first world baseball championship at the expense of the New York Yankees.

PODRES WAS called by his draft board in Ticonderoga, N. Y., on Nov. 1 and ordered to report to Albany Nov. 14 for a physical examination.

There he went through two exhaustive examinations by an army doctor and an orthopedic specialist. The reports were forwarded to the surgeon general's office in Washington for final decision.

The pitcher said he first noticed the pain in his back in May, 1952, when he was pitching for Montreal in the International League.

He found he had a dislocated disc in his back. He started wearing a foot-wide harness around his middle and sleeping on hard boards.

"Sometimes my back feels good for a couple of days, and then it gives me trouble," Podres said. "It particularly bothers me on rainy days."

Liberal Is

party — particularly organized labor — believe that "modernation" easily could drift into stagnation of social gains, which Stevenson has said should not be allowed to occur.

TO OFFSET THIS, some of Stevenson's supporters think that if their candidate wins the top place on the ticket, it will be more important to have a vice presidential nominee who bears the label of "liberal" than it will be to satisfy geographical and other considerations.

In this connection they have been discussing such men as Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, former Gov. Chester Bowles of Connecticut and others.

Stevenson has said he will make no deal to swing support his way by promising second place to any individual in advance.

BUT THERE IS evidence that, if he wins the nomination, the selection of a running mate is not going to be the casual sort of thing it often has been in the past.

President Eisenhower's heart attack has focussed unusual attention on the vice presidency. When the time arrives, if it does, friends want to have a carefully selected list ready.

Man Is Cleared In Boys' Slaying

Chicago, Dec. 27 (AP) — A 25-year-old man, described by police as a "mentally sick individual," apparently had no connection with the brutal slaying of three Chicago schoolboys, police said yesterday.

Police said that a lie test given to Albert Pemberton proved "inconclusive" but that other circumstances led them to clear him of any implication in the triple slaying.

The three youths, John Schuessler, 13, his brother Anton, 11, and Robert Peterson, 14, were last seen alive Oct. 16. Their naked and battered bodies were found two days later in a northwest side forest preserve.

Actress to be Wed

Hollywood, Dec. 27 (AP)—Actress Marjorie Hellen and singer Ric Marlow announced yesterday they will be wed on Friday. The actress is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Raymond Fleck of Upper Black Eddy, Pa., and John Hellen Jr., of Hudson, Mass. Marlow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schafer of Hewlett, Long Island, N. Y.

Kramer Signs Italian Actress

Madrid, Dec. 27 (AP) — Producer Stanley Kramer announced today he had signed Italian actress Sophia Loren for the feminine lead of "The Pride and the Passion," to be made in Spain next year. She will play opposite Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra and a mammoth cannon.

Miss Loren, 21-year-old blonde, is to play a Spanish aristocrat turned guerrilla fighter against Napoleonic invaders. Sinatra will be her guerilla lover while Grant will play a British officer aiding them.

Actress May Recover

Paris, Dec. 27 (AP)—Friends of Mistinguett, famous for her beautiful legs, were optimistic today that she would recover from the stroke she suffered just before the Christmas holiday. Although the 82-year-old music hall actress is paralyzed and only partly conscious, they reported today that her condition was improving. Her temperature is normal and there are no complications. Mistinguett was taken suddenly ill at the home of her brother, a few miles outside Paris. Her only son, Dr. Leopold Lima Da Silva, is attending her.

STATE OF NEW YORK COUNTY COURT, COUNTY OF ULSTER.—WILLIAM ANDERSON, Plaintiff, against ROCCO PEDEVILLANO, ETHEL PEDEVILLANO, wife of Rocco Pedevillano, ISLAND DOCK LUMBER, INC., MONTGOMERY WARD & COMPANY, INC., STATE OF NEW YORK NATIONAL BANK and WILLIAM A. KELLY As Trustee, Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgement of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 7th day of December, 1955, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the County Courthouse, in the City of Kingston, New York, on the 8th day of February, 1956, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster and State of New York, BEGINNING in the center of the public highway known as the Kripplebush Road, at a point 348 feet east of the point where the Davenport and Brown boundary meets on said road; thence running easterly down said road for sixty feet; then northerly for a distance of one hundred and twenty-five feet; thence westerly sixty feet; thence southerly one hundred and twenty-five feet to the place of beginning. This parcel of ground is a rectangular plot sixty feet by one hundred and twenty-five feet.

Being the same premises conveyed by James H. Brown and wife to Ethel Brown Pedevillano, by deed dated July 17, 1947 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office in Liber of Deeds 685, at page 153.

Also, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster and State of New York, BEGINNING on the northeastern corner of the plot deeded by James and Lulu Brown to Ethel Brown Pedevillano, on July 17, 1947 and running northerly for one hundred and twenty-five feet; then westerly for sixty feet; then southerly for one hundred and twenty-five feet; then easterly for sixty feet to the place of beginning. This parcel is a rectangular plot sixty feet by one hundred and twenty-five feet and lies on the northern boundary of the property acquired by Ethel Brown Pedevillano on July 17th, 1943 from James & Lulu Brown. This grant doubles the original holding to a plot of two hundred and fifty feet by sixty feet.

Being the same premises conveyed by James H. Brown and Lulu M. Brown, his wife, to Ethel Brown Pedevillano, by deed dated April 12, 1949 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber of Deeds 730, at page 390.

Also, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate near Stone Ridge, in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING in the center of the public highway leading from the Ellenville-Stone Ridge concrete road to Kripplebush at the southwest corner of the lands of Joseph Brill and runs thence along the said Brill line being a wire fence north 59 degrees 15 minutes east 476 feet to a stone monument on the line of George Weeks; thence along said Week's line north 42 degrees 30 minutes west 410 feet to an iron pipe driven in the ground at the corner of the lot heretofore conveyed by said parties of the first part to Ethel Brown Pedevillano; thence along the line of the said Pedevillano in a southwesterly course which is a right angle to said road 466 feet more or less to the center of the said road at the most southeasterly corner of said Pedevillano lot; thence along the center of the said road south 53 degrees 45 minutes east 354 feet more or less to the place of beginning. Being the same premises conveyed by Herman Clemens and Irene Clemens, his wife, to Rocco Pedevillano and Ethel Brown Pedevillano, his wife, by deed dated December 9th, 1952 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber of Deeds 846, at page 48.

Also, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Marbletown, County of Ulster and State of New York, BEGINNING in the center of the public highway known as the Kripplebush Road, at a point 348 feet east of the point where the Davenport and Larsen boundary meets on said road, said point being the most southerly corner of premises conveyed by James H. Brown and Lulu M. Brown, his wife, to Harold N. Larsen and Mary K. Larsen, his wife, by deed bearing date October 18, 1948, recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office October 18, 1948 in Liber 716 of Deeds, at page 575, and runs thence northeasterly along the line of said Larsen lot, said line being at right angles to said road 450 feet more or less to an angle in the line of property of George Weeks; thence along said Week's line south 42 degrees 30 feet east 65 feet to an iron pipe driven in the ground at the corner of the lot about to be conveyed to Herman Clemens and wife; thence southwesterly on a line parallel to and 65 feet distant from the line of the said Larsen property 466 feet more or less to the center of said road; thence along the center of said road north 53 degrees 45 minutes west 65 feet to the place of beginning.

Being the same premises conveyed to Ethel Brown Pedevillano by James H. Brown and Lulu M. Brown, his wife, by deed dated June 21, 1949 and recorded on July 7, 1949 in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 737, page 511 of Deeds, for said County.

Said premises will be sold subject to the lein of prior mortgages upon which there remains unpaid the sum of Eight Thousand Seven Hundred Twenty-eight and 98/100 Dollars ($8,728.98) and accrued interest thereon.

Woodstock Girl, Wilson's Niece On $64,000 Quiz

Miss Nancy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson of Woodstock and a niece of Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson is scheduled to appear on the "$64,000" question program in New York city this evening, according to information available today.

Miss Wilson, a student at the University of Miami, Florida, and a former student at Syracuse University, spent the holiday season with her grandmother in Woodstock and left for New York today.

ASSEMBLYMAN Wilson said she had been interviewed by the program sponsors last fall and last Thursday she was again interviewed and requested to come to New York today to appear on the program.

Whether she will be called this evening, Assemblyman Wilson said, depended on the time element which governs the order in which contestants appear on the program.

Boy Scout News

Explorers, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts of Post 9 held a Christmas party at Redeemer Lutheran Church hall Tuesday to which parents and friends were invited.

Four short skits were presented by the boys; games were played and carols were sung.

A gift was presented to Explorer Advisor William Daum of Post 9. Christmas articles made by the post were sold and refreshments were served by the Mother's Club. The boys exchanged gifts.

Draft Board Places Podres In 1-A Rating

Brooklyn, Dec. 27 (AP)—Johnny Podres, pitching star of the Brooklyn Dodgers' World Series victory, has been reclassified 1-A and is subject to military draft, the Dodgers announced today.

There was no indication when, if at all, that the young pitcher from Witherbee, N. Y., might be called into service.

The Dodgers announced that Podres notified them today from his home of the new classification.

The 23-year-old lefty was listed as unfit physically for military duty in 1952 because of a back ailment.

Podres won the third and seventh games of the World Series in which the Dodgers won their first world baseball championship at the expense of the New York Yankees.

PODRES WAS called by his draft board in Ticonderoga, N. Y., on Nov. 1 and ordered to report to Albany Nov. 14 for a physical examination.

There he went through two exhaustive examinations by an army doctor and an orthopedic specialist. The reports were forwarded to the surgeon general's office in Washington for final decision.

The pitcher said he first noticed the pain in his back in May, 1952, when he was pitching for Montreal in the International League.

He found he had a dislocated disc in his back. He started wearing a foot-wide harness around his middle and sleeping on hard boards.

"Sometimes my back feels good for a couple of days, and then it gives me trouble," Podres said. "It particularly bothers me on rainy days."

Liberal Is

party — particularly organized labor — believe that "moderation" easily could drift into stagnation of social gains, which Stevenson has said should not be allowed to occur.

TO OFFSET THIS, some of Stevenson's supporters think that if their candidate wins the top place on the ticket, it will be more important to have a vice presidential nominee who bears the label of "liberal" than it will be to satisfy geographical and other considerations.

In this connection they have been discussing such men as Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, former Gov. Chester Bowles of Connecticut and others.

Stevenson has said he will make no deal to swing support his way by promising second place to any individual in advance.

BUT THERE IS evidence that, if he wins the nomination, the selection of a running mate is not going to be the casual sort of thing it often has been in the past.

President Eisenhower's heart attack has focussed unusual attention on the vice presidency. When the time arrives, if it does, friends want to have a carefully selected list ready.

Man Is Cleared In Boys' Slaying

Chicago, Dec. 27 (AP) — A 25-year-old man, described by police as a "mentally sick individual," apparently had no connection with the brutal slaying of three Chicago schoolboys, police said yesterday.

Police said that a lie test given to Albert Pemberton proved "inconclusive" but that other circumstances led them to clear him of any implication in the triple slaying.

The three youths, John Schuessler, 13, his brother Anton, 11, and Robert Peterson, 14, were last seen alive Oct. 16. Their naked and battered bodies were found two days later in a northwest side forest preserve.

Actress to be Wed

Hollywood, Dec. 27 (AP)—Actress Marjorie Hellen and singer Ric Marlow announced yesterday they will be wed on Friday. The actress is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Raymond Fleck of Upper Black Eddy, Pa., and John Hellen Jr., of Hudson, Mass. Marlow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schafler of Hewlett, Long Island, N. Y.

Kramer Signs Italian Actress

Madrid, Dec. 27 (AP) — Producer Stanley Kramer announced today he had signed Italian actress Sophia Loren for the feminine lead of "The Pride and the Passion," to be made in Spain next year. She will play opposite Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra and a mammoth cannon.

Miss Loren, 21-year-old blonde, is to play a Spanish aristocrat turned guerrilla fighter against Napoleonic invaders. Sinatra will be her guerilla lover while Grant will play a British officer aiding them.

YM Schedule Of Activities

Wednesday, 10 to 11 a. m., general swim for all boys; 1 to 3.30 p. m., activities in boys department, crafts and games; 3:45 to 4:45 p. m., gym for all boys; 4:45 to 5:15, swim for all boys.

Actress May Recover

Paris, Dec. 27 (AP)—Friends of Mistinguett, famous for her beautiful legs, were optimistic today that she would recover from the stroke she suffered just before the Christmas holiday. Although the 82-year-old music hall actress is paralyzed and only partly conscious, they reported today that her condition was improving. Her temperature is normal and there are no complications. Mistinguett was taken suddenly ill at the home of her brother, a few miles outside Paris. Her only son, Dr. Leopold Lima Da Silva, is attending her.

The Weather

TUESDAY, DEC. 27, 1955

Sun rises at 7:22 a. m.; sun sets at 4:29 p. m., EST.
Weather, clear.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 12 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 22 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity: Mostly fair and continued cold this afternoon and tonight, with highest this afternoon 25 to 30, and lowest tonight 15 to 20 in the city and along the coast and five to 10 degrees in normally colder interior areas. Some cloudiness Wednesday and not quite so cold, with highest 30 to 35. Fresh and somewhat gusty northwest winds this afternoon, diminishing slowly tonight. Moderate northeast winds Wednesday.

Outlooook: Thursday — Mostly cloudy, a little milder with chance of rain or snow late in the day. Friday — cloudy with some rain or snow likely. Milder followed by turning colder.

That's Hay

Des Moines (AP)—So many visitors to the Veterans Auditorium, which can seat 15,000 spectators for high school basketball championship finals, say: "I'll bet this building would sure told a lot of hay" that Manager Horace Strong decided to do something about it. He figured the hay-holding capacity two ways: The answers: Loose hay, 17,440 tons; baled hay, 58,480 tons.

Wide Awake Toes

Omaha (AP) — Mrs. A. W. Havelka says her 3½ year old niece, Nancy, was staying with her and, while dressing herself, donned a pair of old slippers. "Don't wear those. They're full of holes and your toes are sticking out," Mrs. Havelka told the child. "Oh, that's all right. This way my toes can see where they are going," said Nancy.

660 Pounds of Opium Seized in Yule Raid

Rome, Dec. 27 (AP)—Turkish police teaming with undercover American narcotics agents made a Christmas Day seizure of 660 pounds of opium destined for the illicit U. S. dope market.

The opium would have been worth half a million dollars in the United States.

The seizure was announced today by the office of Charles Siragusa, U. S. Bureau of Narcotics district supervisor for Europe and the Middle East. It said Turkish National Police Chief Kemal Aygun personally led the raid at Kirkkale, in the mountains not far from Istanbul.

This was the second major interruption within a month in the illegal pipeline of drugs from the Middle East to America's dope peddlers.

A four million dollar seizure in Turkey, described by Siragusa as "the biggest with which we ever have been connected in Europe," was announced on Nov. 26.

Keaton Improves

Hollywood, Dec. 27 (AP)—Buster Keaton, the frozen-faced comedian who had been critically ill, recovered sufficiently to spend the Christmas holidays at home. Keaton, 59, was stricken with a gastro-intestinal ailment on Dec. 6. He was in a semi-coma and near death for several days.

Unite Forces

Cairo, Egypt, Dec. 27 (AP)—The military forces of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria, all Arab opponents of the western-backed Baghdad Pact, stood united on paper today under the command of one Egyptian. He is Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, commander in chief and war minister of the Nile nation. He is generally considered the likeliest choice for supreme Arab commander should fighting break out again between Israel and the Arab states. Egypt and Saudi Arabia announced yesterday they had established a joint army command headed by Amer in accordance with the anti-Baghdad alliance they signed last October.

Meeting Canceled

"When the mercury dives I'm mighty thankful for this tankful!"

There's no "party-line" heating for you when you have your own private reserve of MOBILHEAT fuel oil!
Call us for Mobilheat. From then on we'll watch your supply, automatically keep your tank filled. And that tankful—right on the premises—gives you security you get with no other fuel. It's a supply no one can draw on but you!
Now's the time to order twin-action Mobilheat—the fuel oil that cleans as it heats!
